ABOARD USS ESSEX (AP) — Apollo 7's astronauts flew their "magnificent flying machine" home from the heavens today and gave searchers 20 anxious minutes before they were found floating upside down in the Atlantic Ocean.

Within an hour, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., Air Force Maj. Donn F. Eisele and Walter Cunningham were deposited by helicopter aboard the deck of this aircraft carrier, stationed 330 miles south southeast of Bermuda.

U.S. On Moon Doorstep

They splashed into the sea just five miles from the Essex, climaxing a sensational 11-day space adventure that put the United States firmly on the doorstep of the moon.

The bearded trio appeared shakey and tired as they stepped onto a red carpet on the deck of the carrier. But they waved happily to acknowledge the cheers of hundreds of sailors and a brisk "Anchors Aweigh" played by a ship's band.

Physicians reported after a quick examination that the three felt fine and were in good spirits.

They were all smiles later when they received a telephone call from President Johnson at the White House.

Saluted By President

"I salute the three of you as well as the thousands of men on the space team," the President said. "We here in the Capitol and all over this country and the world are very proud of you this morning."

Eisele replied: "Thank you very much, Mr. President. It was a real pleasure and an honor."

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) were elated over the flight results.

"Apollo 7 goes into my book as a perfect mission," said Air Force Lt. Gen. Samuel Phillips, Apollo program manager. "We accomplished 101 per cent of our objectives. We did everything we set out to do and added a few things as we went along."

Phillips said Apollo 7 has opened the way to a possible around the moon flight by the three-man Apollo 8 crew in December. He added that decision will not be made until mid-November after all results of this flight have been evaluated.

Wives Overjoyed

The wives of the three spacemen were overjoyed at the near-perfect flight and homecoming and all commented on the long beards as the astronauts appeared on television.

They all watched the landing on TV at their homes in Houston.

"Everything went beautifully," commented Jo Schirra. "The only disappointment was in not being able to see the parachutes open."

"Those beards don't look bad at all," said Lo Ella Cunningham.

All three wives were a bit anxious while the search for the downed spacecraft was in progress.

"It was fear," said Harriet Eisele, describing her feeling during the period.

Search Made Difficult

The search was made more difficult because of heavy clouds and a light rain and because Apollo 7 landed bottoms up, which was anticipated, temporarily submerging the radio antenna.

Several helicopters from the Essex fanned over a wide area and finally zeroed in on intermittent signals from the spacecraft beacon.

Twenty minutes after the 7:13 a.m. EDT touchdown, a helicopter, Recovery 3, spotted the upside-down craft. By the time it was overhead minutes later, the astronauts had inflated flotation bags and turned it right side up.

After talking with the astronauts, the helicopter radioed:

"Their physical status is good —all are in good shape."

Swimmers leaped into the water and secured Apollo 7. Schirra, Cunningham and Eisele opened their hatch, climbed into a liferaft and were lifted one-by-one into the helicopter.

The copter sped to the Essex, landing on the deck at 8:08 a.m., just 55 minutes after the splashdown.

All three looked tired and shaky, but otherwise in good physical condition as they stepped from the copter onto a red carpet that had been rolled over the deck.

They rubbed their heavy beards and smiled as they walked across the deck, acknowledging the cheers of hundreds of sailors who lined the deck. A band welcomed them aboard.

Reds' Shells Again Pound U.S. Station

SAIGON (AP) — Enemy gunners today shelled the third U.S. military headquarters in the past three days, indicating that a new wave of attacks against major American bases may have begun.

About 30 rounds of 102-pound Russian-made artillery shells slammed into the headquarters of the U.S. 3rd Marine Division at Dong Ha and a nearby South Vietnamese village just below the eastern flank of the demilitarized zone. Three American Marines and three South Vietnamese civilians were killed. The wounded were 15 U.S. Marine, Navy and Army personnel, two South Vietnamese soldiers and nine civilians.

The headquarters of the U.S. Army in Vietnam at Long Binh, 12 miles northeast of Saigon, was shelled Sunday. The next day enemy gunners zeroed in on the headquarters of the U.S. 9th Infantry Dvision at Dong Tam, 35 miles southwest of Saigon.

The new shelling came as a 36-hour cease-fire along the coast of North Vietnam to permit the release of 14 North Vietnamese prisoners of war held by the United States ended at noon.

One U.S military source said he assumed fighter-bombers were resuming raids on North Vietnamese supply columns and barges in the 288-square mile coastal area that was declared off limits at midnight Sunday.

The cease-fire negotiated in the Laotian capital of Vientiane, silenced enemy shore batteries and antiaircraft guns along a 25-mile strip of coastline to permit a U.S. Navy ship to land the 14 POWs south of the North Vietnamese city of Vinh.

U.S. officers said there were no reports the truce had been violated.

While North Vietnamese leaders in Hanoi were believed debating whether to accept U. S. terms for an end to the bombing of the North, U. S. jets continued their raids on the North Vietnamese panhandle outside the cease-fire area, and spokesen said more "strikes as usual" are planned for Wednesday.

The Viet Cong's Liberation Press Agency said today that the United States has no right to demand reciprocity for a bombing halt in the North, and that the Pari peace talks will progress only after an unconditional bombing halt.

The lull in ground fighting, now in its fourth week, continued. Some see it as a possible de-escalation move by Hanoi, but the U.S. Command feels differently.

The command announced today that allied troops seized more than 300 tons of enemy munitions and food during September. Most of these supplies were found in the 3rd Corps area that includes Saigon and in the five northernmost provinces below the demilitarized zone.

While no violations of the cease-fire were reported, a U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawk crashed Monday about 38 miles south of the area where the stand-down was in effect. The Navy said the Skyhawk, the 910th American warplane reported lost in combat over North Vietnam, made a strafing run on a truck, "went into a dive, and a large fireball was observed."

Lindsay Urges Teachers To End Strike

Municipal Labor Crisis Faced By New York City

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's largest city today faced the greatest municipal labor crisis in its history with its 1.1 million pupil public school system paralyzed by a teachers' strike, its police patrolmen engaged in a work slowdown and its firemen set for their own slowdown.

Besieged by the ranks of organized labor, Mayor John V. Lindsay again called Monday on the teachers' union to end its walkout "for the sake of the city," and told the uniformed services he would not bow to their wage demands.

But if the firemen go through with their slowdown, nearly 90,000 city employes will be engaged in either strikes or job action against the administration by Wednesday.

Lindsay declared he would "stand firm" on earlier agreements with the police and firemen saying that to reopen negotiations would set off a chain reaction among city employes and produce "complete anarchy in labor relations."

During the day police said 2,049 of the 23,000 members of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association called in sick while those who reported for work continued to bypass traffic offenders and perform "by the book."

The 10,500-member Uniformed Firefighters Association also voted to reject the city's contract offer and said that on Wednesday firemen would stop performing nonemergency duties.

Rejecting the mayor's plea for a school truce, Albert Shanker, president of the 55,000-member United Federation of Teachers, said the strike would continue until the local board, administrator and principals in a Brooklyn experimental school district were removed.

The walkout, which has already cost 17 of 28 school days from the fall term, stems from the ouster of 80 white teachers in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

Democratic and Republican legislative leaders called on Dr. James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, and the state Board of Regents to use their powers to open the schools.

The action came after Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said he would not call a special session of the legislature to deal with the crisis. He said Lindsay has "the power as mayor of the city to handle the situation."

In the Bronx a group of parents and striking teachers sought signatures on petitions asking Rockefeller to remove Lindsay from office. The gover-

Man Jumps Rail

Search Pressed After Span Leap

Area volunteer firemen resumed dragging operations in the Ohio River this morning, attempting to locate the body of an unidentified man who apparently leaped to his death early Monday afternoon from the Chester Bridge — vaulting over the railing in full view of horrified passersby.

Chester and Lawrenceville firemen, manning four boats, dragged the river near the span until shortly before darkness yesterday. They returned to the scene this morning.

Although the witnesses said they believed the man who leaped was young, there was growing belief late this morning the victim is a 40-year-old Newell area resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Harrell of Congo were driving toward Chester yesterday about 12:45 p.m. when they watched the man place his hand on the railing and vault into space, they told Police Chief William Cornell of Chester. Mrs. Harrell said she looked toward the river and saw the youth falling, his coat flapping in the air.

Harrell and his wife said they thought the man was 16 to 20 years old, with comparatively short black hair and wearing a black jacket. They estimated his weight at 140 to 150 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell stopped at a service station on the Chester end of the span and telephoned the Chester police department. Chester and East Liverpool authorities hurried to the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell said they believe the young man initially was walking across the span from East Liverpool toward Chester, then retraced his steps. They said he appeared to be "jogging" just before he vaulted the railing. Harrell said the youth was very close to the auto when he leaped.

"We just couldn't believe it," he said.

The leap was made at a point close to the pier nearest the West Virginia side. Firemen concentrated their search in that area yesterday.

Lee Haney of the Chester fire department said about a dozen men manned boats in the dragging operation. He said the river is 18 to 25 feet deep at the spot. The bridge is about 75 feet above the river surface at the site of the reported leap.

Gun Control Bill Is Signed By Johnson

Nation's Toughest Firearms Measure In Three Decades

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today signed into law the controversial gun control bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial gun control bill, which gained new life with the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was a penstroke away today from becoming the nation's toughest firearms law in three decades.

Even at that, the measure President Johnson signs at White House ceremonies lacks the teeth he sought after Kennedy's June assassination.

The bill bans the mail order sales of all guns and ammunition, but Congress beat back efforts to include registration of weapons and licensing of owners.

Climaxing years of controversy the legislation won final approval from the Senate and the House shortly before Congress adjourned last week.

The legislation supplants the firearms section of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act passed within days of Kennedy's assassination.

Airline Union To Seek 40% Pact Increase

Machinists And 7 Major Firms Open Talks In November

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline mechanics, whose big contract raises helped squash President Johnson's economic guidelines two years ago, are going for even bigger increases—a whopping 40 per cent—in new negotiations.

Talks between the Machinists union and seven major airlines, five of which were struck for six-weeks in 1966, start next month.

The union asked for 30 per cent raise over three years last time out and wound up with a wage and benefit package the government estimated at 15 per

County Gives $20,000

Lisbon St. Work Bids Due Nov. 26

The Ohio Highway Department has indicated it expects to open bids Nov. 26 on a $300,000 project for widening and resurfacing of Lisbon St. (State Route 267) between W. 8th St. and the north city limits, Mayor George E. Willshaw advised Council Monday night.

The mayor made the report in advising Council that county commssioners agreed Monday to provide $20,000 of the city's $45,000 share of this project, which also calls for easing of some of the sharp curves on the steep grade between West End and Pleasant Heights.

Ehe state said it expects to meet the bid deadline if final enabling legislation is received from Council by Oct. 30 and the state also has a guarantee of the matching funds, the mayor pointed out.

Council then set an adjourned meeting for net Monday night at 6:45 to put the final touches on the Lisbon St. project and act on several other matters.

WILLSHAW, recalling the long history of plans for the improvement, pointed out that Council appropriated $20,000 in 1964 as half of its share of the project. The total then was estimated at $40,000 or the municipality's participation. Later, the scope of the project was widened and the estimated overall cost was boosted by $100,000, but the city's share was hiked only by $5,000.

Willshaw also recalled that in January 1965, city officials asked the commissioners to pay half of the city's share and the commissioners agreed. Nothing further was done, however, because plans for the work did not materialize at that time.

Faced now with the necessity for raising the balance of its share of the work, the city approached the commissioners again Friday. The discussion was deferred until Monday.

The mayor and Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey returned to the Courthouse yesterday and talked with the commissioners and County Engineer John Ursu. The upshot was a resolution enacted unanimously by the commissioners to provide $20,000 to help pay the city's share of the improvement, Willshaw told Council.

Commissioner James Boyd moved to make the grant, seconded by Commissioner Charles Gause. When the motion was put to a vote, affirmative votes were cast by Boyd, Gause and Commissioner R. Max Gard, Willshaw reported.

THE MAYOR pointed out that Council now must take action to provide the remaining $5,000 for the project. The fund was ear-marked last fall, but never officially allocated, he said. In additon, it needs to give final approval to the last details of

Parents Seek Revisions In Sex Education Class

Whether the new city schools' sex education program in junior high levels should be revised to be taught in separate classes for boys and girls was discussed by parents, ministers and educators for more than 1½ hours during a meeting of the board of education Monday night.

The board finally agreed to take under study a request of a group of parents to have the courses taught in separate groups.

Some 85 attended the board's meeting which was transferred from the office of Supt. Paul Blair to the auditorium of the former high school building because of the size of the audience.

The Rev. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church was the first to speak, declaring he was "appalled" in the last few days to find that people were raising objections to the sex education program.

Toot said that the program had been very properly initiated, and he commended the board of education and Assistant Superintendent Carl Pelini on approval of the program. "The ground work was very carefully laid, the curriculum very carefully chosen, and was recommended by a faculty committee," he stated.

HE SAID," The program placed in the hands of seventh graders an extremely fine book. It handles a very delicate subject, and refers young persons to their conscience, their parents and their clergy."

Toot continued by saying that there was not one fact in this book that is not true and nothing in the book that any seventh grader should not known already. "If any 7th grader doesn't know these facts, then socety should be in defense of itself."

"There is nothing in the book I would object to my 5th grade daughter reading," Toot said.

"Also, there is nothing to be gained by separating the classes. This is one of our difficulties — by separating we have made it difficult for men and women to communicate with each other when they do marry."

Nixon Brands HHH 'Adult Delinquent'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is starting to take off the gloves in his battle with Hubert H. Humphrey, accusing his Democratic rival of "adult delinquency" and terming him "the do-nothing candidate of law and order."

The Republican presidential candidate, stopping here overnight before putting his campaign on rails with an Ohio whistlestop tour today, termed his Cincinnati stopover "the critical turning point" in his vote quest.

Nixon told a crowd of more than 15,000 in Cincinnati Gardens Monday night that "we're going to pour it on" in the final two weeks of the campaign.

Cooler Temperature Seen For Wednesday

The Ohio weatherman expects to "cool it" Wednesday.

There may be some showers this afternoon and early this morning, but they will end tonight, the forecaster said. The low tonight will be in the 40's.

Wednesday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Playful Canine

MACON, Ga. (AP) — A Macon businessman, Frank Parnell, told police Monday that someone had stolen a bank bag containing $3,500 from his home.

About four hours later, the thief was nabbed. It was Parnell's dog.

Police said the playful canine was dragging the money bag with the money around Parnell's back yard.

HE SAID," The program placed in the hands of seventh graders an extremely fine book. It handles a very delicate subject, and refers young persons to their conscience, their parents and their clergy."

Toot continued by saying that there was not one fact in this book that is not true and nothing in the book that any seventh grader should not known already. "If any 7th grader doesn't know these facts, then socety should be in defense of itself."

"There is nothing in the book I would object to my 5th grade daughter reading," Toot said.

"Also, there is nothing to be gained by separating the classes. This is one of our difficulties — by separating we have made it difficult for men and women to communicate with each other when they do marry."

Man Jumps Rail

Search Pressed After Span Leap

Area volunteer firemen resumed dragging operations in the Ohio River this morning, attempting to locate the body of an unidentified man who apparently leaped to his death early Monday afternoon from the Chester Bridge — vaulting over the railing in full view of horrified passersby.

Chester and Lawrenceville firemen, manning four boats, dragged the river near the span until shortly before darkness yesterday. They returned to the scene this morning.

Although the witnesses said they believed the man who leaped was young, there was growing belief late this morning the victim is a 40-year-old Newell area resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Harrell of Congo were driving toward Chester yesterday about 12:45 p.m. when they watched the man place his hand on the railing and vault into space, they told Police Chief William Cornell of Chester. Mrs. Harrell said she looked toward the river and saw the youth falling, his coat flapping in the air.

Harrell and his wife said they thought the man was 16 to 20 years old, with comparatively short black hair and wearing a black jacket. They estimated his weight at 140 to 150 pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell stopped at a service station on the Chester end of the span and telephoned the Chester police department. Chester and East Liverpool authorities hurried to the scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrell said they believe the young man initially was walking across the span from East Liverpool toward Chester, then retraced his steps. They said he appeared to be "jogging" just before he vaulted the railing. Harrell said the youth was very close to the auto when he leaped.

"We just couldn't believe it," he said.

The leap was made at a point close to the pier nearest the West Virginia side. Firemen concentrated their search in that area yesterday.

Lee Haney of the Chester fire department said about a dozen men manned boats in the dragging operation. He said the river is 18 to 25 feet deep at the spot. The bridge is about 75 feet above the river surface at the site of the reported leap.

Nixon Brands HHH 'Adult Delinquent'

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is starting to take off the gloves in his battle with Hubert H. Humphrey, accusing his Democratic rival of "adult delinquency" and terming him "the do-nothing candidate of law and order."

The Republican presidential candidate, stopping here overnight before putting his campaign on rails with an Ohio whistlestop tour today, termed his Cincinnati stopover "the critical turning point" in his vote quest.

Nixon told a crowd of more than 15,000 in Cincinnati Gardens Monday night that "we're going to pour it on" in the final two weeks of the campaign.

Gun Control Bill Is Signed By Johnson

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today signed into law the controversial gun control bill.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial gun control bill, which gained new life with the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was a penstroke away today from becoming the nation's toughest firearms law in three decades.

Even at that, the measure President Johnson signs at White House ceremonies lacks the teeth he sought after Kennedy's June assassination.

The bill bans the mail order sales of all guns and ammunition, but Congress beat back efforts to include registration of weapons and licensing of owners.

Climaxing years of controversy the legislation won final approval from the Senate and the House shortly before Congress adjourned last week.

The legislation supplants the firearms section of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act passed within days of Kennedy's assassination.

Cooler Temperature Seen For Wednesday

The Ohio weatherman expects to "cool it" Wednesday.

There may be some showers this afternoon and early this morning, but they will end tonight, the forecaster said. The low tonight will be in the 40's.

Wednesday will be partly cloudy and cooler.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Calcutta Firemen Get Report On Projects

Reports on projects at the fire hall were heard at a meeting of the Calcutta volunteer fire department Monday night.

Capt. Robert White reported that painting of the exterior of the hall is complete. Three new fiberglass doors have been ordered for the truck entrances of the station and are expected to be installed by the end of the week. The old doors will be for sale.

Kenneth Schneedmiller was given permission to purchase a curburetor kit to repair the portable pump motor. The firemen voted to support the St. Clair Township fire levy on the ballot at the Nov. 5 election.

Stabbing Is Ruled In Executive's Death

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—John P. Craven a 60-year-old executive for the Babcock & Wilcox Co. in nearby Barberton stabbed himself to death, Summit County Coroner Dr. A. H. Kyriakides ruled Monday.

Craven was found Sunday in the bathtub of his apartment. He was vice president of the power generation division of the firm in Barberton.

Squire In Cumberland Penalizes 9 Motorists

NEW CUMBERLAND — Nine motorists arrested over the weekend by Police Chief William Webster were fined Monday by Squire John D. Herron in city police court.

Five cited for speeding were fined $10 and costs. They included Thomas P. Milby, 17, of Chester, Roger Pryor, 19, of Chester RD 1, John R. Melott, 32, of Chester, James W. Lyle, 17, of Follansbee and George Sertick, 58, of Weirton.

Fined $10 and costs for improper passing were Walter W. Pasco, 17, of New Cumberland and Thomas N. Shives, 22, of Youngstown. David Shane, 19, of New Cumberland was fined $20 and costs for no operator's license and $10 and costs for improper license plates. Thomas L. Beaver, 16, of New Cumberland RD 1, cited for expired license plates, drew a $10 fine.

The PBA has rejected a contract offer that would have raised a patrolman's annual base wage of $9,383 to $10,729 over a two-year period.

PBA officials say they will not slow down on crime fighting but have largely suspended writing traffic tickets—a $100,000 a day source of city income—and cut back the midtown Manhattan auto towaway program by 80 per cent.

As to the planned firemen's slowdown, UFA President Michael J. Maye said: "No one is going to get a penny more than the firemen get."

The two sides are starting out with what the union calls "separate but coordinated bargaining" in hopes of avoiding government pressures stirred up during the 1966 negotiations.

gram, he can withdraw the child.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church said he endorsed everything Rev. Toot had said. He said was deeply concerned about sex education, "about misinformation the young people being married today have." He said they are ignorant about the whole subject of sex, and some of them do not know how a child is conceived.

"Before I left the house tonight," he said, "my 15-year old- son asked me where I was going; Rev. Salisbury said. When I told him to the board of education meeting to talk about sex education, my son said "Tell them to start earlier."

"Parents do not do a very good job," Rev. Salisbury said. "The truth never hurt anyone. It is better students learn about sex this fine way rather than on street corners or in the back seat of a car. Young people do know about it. The program has my whole - hearted approval. If it may be improved, God bless you, if you can do this. If it is an improvement, I am for it."

THE REV. PAUL George of the Boyce Methodist Church then spoke against the program. Rev. George asked the board members if they had read the book.

He said he did not know about sex when he was growing up, nor did he get a girl pregnant. He questioned whether the book should be placed in the hands of seventh graders — both boys and girls together. He said the book was embarassing, and that the attitude would not be right just because the right thing was being taught. "I am afraid it will lead to experimenting," he said.

"I am not against sex — not against education — but I believe it was poor judgement to teach this in junior high, and outrageous to keep them together."

Robert Bartram of Olnhausen St. then spoke. He said he had a daughter in the seventh grade at Westgate. "I'm not asking that you take sex out of the schools — it is the biggest word in the vocabulary, and to some people an institutoin, but it can be embarassing to our children. A boy should not be reading from a book about menstruation."

Bartram said he had spoken to civic leaders today and all week, "but they won't speak out," he said. "We're here to tell you — not threaten. We don't want this. We want sex education, but in separate classes."

"I WORK AT Crucible Steel," Bartram added, "and I have never seen anything in engineering that couldn't be altered. Don't take it out, but you must alter it. Get a man to teach this class to the boys. This isn't a woman's job to tell boys how to express themselves and what to expect."

The Rev. Gale Goode, pastor of the LaCroft Nazarene Church, said, "I am not here to fight sex education, but I do not think it should be taught together." He questioned whether the teacher was trained in this subject, and said he did not understand why it is necessary to explain to a seventh grader marital joys. "This can come later on," he concluded.

The Rev. Clair Tucker said he does not have children in school, but some of his church people do and he is against the course being taught all in one class.

Another man commented he did not think the group was a "bunch of prudes" but felt the program should be altered and changed.

Norman Chiry, a newcomer to the district, said he felt it was the responsbiility of the board of education or someone in the administration to read every book that was adopted to be used in the system.

He agreed sex education was definitely needed, but said, "each of us needs education. Although the book in question was approved by the National Education Association and the American Medical Association, it says that the focus of responsibility must be honored by the local administration and the community," and he added. "The community has not had the opportunity to approve the book."

THE REV. GAYLORD Cox also spoke, indicating he believed reading the material would be a motivation of sex, and thereby the readers would be committing adultery.

Mrs. Helen Morrison said, "I have heard that the book the second semester students will be getting is worse, tells about contraceptives. If one of my daughters brings one home, I will tear it to pieces."

The Rev. William Tempel of St. Stephens said the interest shown by the parents and the responsibility shown by the board of education was commendable.

He said, "I did not come to tell anyone what manual should be used, whether the classes should be co - educational or otherwise. I came to say the children need this education. Just because I know about alcohol, I do not over-indulge; just because you drive, you do not drive into a tree to see what would happen."

"It is too late after a girl is bringing a fatherless child into the world to tell her about sex. I hope this interest by parents and the board of education will result is a good program."

Although the majority of parents present favored divided classes, one parent said he believed the group present worked to get those with this opinion to the meeting while few in favor of the program as it now stands were attending the meeting.

Pelini described the manner in which the program came into being. "In answer to the question about instructor training," he said, my answer is I know of no training institute that offers a major in sex education."

"THERE IS no foundation for the statement that the next semester, the book would be 'worse' than this one."

"As to the need," he stated, "We have had many, many junior high and high school girls that had to leave school because they were pregnant. In 1966, there were 3,100 reported cases of venereal disease in Ohio in 10 to 14-year-olds. If this many were reported, how many went unreported? It is because of the problems we are facing today that we decided the program was needed."

"How do you talk about venereal disease and pregnancy, if you do not explain how they happen? You have to give a certain amount of information."

"Your sons and daughters are talking about this, some to more of a degree than others. In mixed classes, there is not a discussion after class in the halls, a discussion on the bus, or in neighborhood as to what is done in separate classes."

Pelini reported a movie had been shown that was recommended at a third grade level. Another movie that is to be screened has been shown on Channel 13. Discussions are being held on heredity and environment, discussions on what attracts boys to girls and vice versa."

"Plans are to have the city nurse in for discussions, and also doctors."

"YOU ARE concerned about these classes, but are you concerned about what is being sold on news stands or seen on TV—some information that is cerainly misguiding?", Pelini concluded.

Supt. Paul Blair then said that the program was instituted at the request of parents, young people and the junior women's club. "We did not rush into this program — it was studied very carefully. I am not married, but I could tell you many things your boys and girls tell us that they won't tell their parents.

"We are concerned about your boys and girls education. They were not getting it in the church and in the home, so it was thrust upon us. We are trying to protect the boys and girls in East Liverpool and to help them grow up to be wholesome young men and women of this community."

"The program is recommended to start in the first grade and eventually, if this is done, the whole program will fit in place. We are concerned about the health, education and welfare of your children. We hope that when 10 or 11 o'clock rolls around, you know where your children are."

Chiry then asked if what was said tonight would be acted upon of if the parents had "just wasted their time by coming."

Samuel Brown, board president, assured the group the board would take into consideration all that was said. "It will not be treated lightly, he said.

Pelini then said that of comments officially brought to the attention of the administration, 13 were opposed and 20 were for the program as it now is handled.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

British playwright Thomas Morton was prolific and popular in his day, but he is now all but forgotten except for one character, Mrs. Grundy, who is never even seen on stage in "Speed the Plough" (1798), but who is always present. Dame Ashfield, The World Almanac notes, continually worries whether her neighbor, Mrs. Grundy, will think her proper and respectable. Mrs. Grundy is now a symbol of slavish conformity to conventions.

the project and then forward them to the Highway Department, he pointed out.

In the discussion yesterday at the Courthouse, Ursu said he could recall no promise to give the city funds for the improvement. He cited increased costs in his department for material, labor, retirement payments and insurance previously paid by the commissioners, and said expenses will be $50,000 more on the road and bridge fund next year.

He noted that the fund is committed for approximately $300,000 each for the St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Depot Rd. improvements "and we also have before us the proposed improvement of Shadyside Ave. in East Liverpool."

"I believe we should direct our efforts toward the Shadyside improvement since it is the extension of a county road into the city and let the state deal with the city on Route 267," Ursu said. "The county cannot afford both projects," he declared.

He told the men the state now wants Pidgeon Rd. (a county road) for the Route 45 bypass of Salem. "I think the commissioners should apply to the State Highway Department for a credit of $250,000—the amount the county put into improving Pidgeon Rd. — and this credit could be used by East Liverpool and other communities for their share in state highway boundaries," he proposed.

Gause and the mayor pointed out that time is important and East Liverpool needs the money immediately. Gause told Ursu he would go along with his suggestion to apply for credit on Pidgeon Rd.

In other business next Monday night, Council will meet with spokesmen for the police and fire departments to discuss wage increases.

The fire department's request for the conference was made several weeks ago. Council received a similar request last night from Fraternal Order of Police Lodge 29. Councilman James Lowe, chairman of the labor relations committee, said both departments will be asked to send their spokesmen to the meeting next Monday night.

At the same time, Council agreed to confer with an East End committee seeking rezoning of Pennsylvania Ave., East End, from a "residential" to a "business" classification.

BERT WILLISON of Harvey Ave., a spokesman for the citizens' group, told Council last night it has retained Barry Dickson of East Palestine as counsel to assist in plans for "spot zoning" along the long stretch. He said if Council wishes the committee will undertake to explain the proposal to citizens of the area in a door-to-door campaign.

Willison said the same East End committee would like to know if Council "will grant a franchise for buses to haul pupils from East End to East Junior High and elementary school" — youngsters not entitled to transportation under Board of Education policies.

He said a number of parents have approached him with the idea of such an arrangement that would permit the parents to pay the transportaton costs so that their youngsters would not be required to walk long distances to classes. Willison was advised by Presdent Norman Bucher the bus question also can be dscussed at the meeting next Monday night.

Bomb Hoax Suspends Classes For Westgate

Classes were suspended at Westgate School for about an hour early Monday afternoon after a telephoned threat that a bomb had been hidden in the building and would "explode sometime in the afternoon."

Principal Thomas Dixon ordered all students transferred to the auditorium and gymnasium for safety and then notified the fire and police departments. The entire building was searched, but nothing was found.

Moore Cites Need To Sift Tax Structure

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Arch Moore Jr. has cited the need for a review of the state's tax structure and promises that if elected governor he will promote such a study by a task force formed to look into the problems of state revenue.

The Republican candidate for governor, speaking at the annual convention of the West Virginia Association of Retail Grocers, said "we can no longer suffer the politics of the past."

He charged that lack of leadership in past administrations has hurt educatoin in West Virginia. He prescribed the installation of new leaders to correct this situation.

Drivers Cited In 2 Mishaps

LISBON — Police charged two drivers with failure to yield the right-of-way after separate accdents Monday.

John A. Huston, 18, Lisbon, forfeited a $15 bond after a mishap at 5:35 p. m. in the 500 block on E. Washington St.

Police said Huston drove from an alley and struck an eastbound 1968 sedan driven by Theda Thornton of Beloit RD 2. There was moderate damage to both vehicles.

Damage was severe to both cars in the second crash at 8:10 p.m. at the intersection of Lincoln Way (Route 30) and Market St. (Route 45) on the Square. Both vehicles were on Lincoln Way.

A westbound 1968 sedan driven by Milobad Popovic, 57, of Ocola, Fla., turned left in front of an eastbodnd 1967 sedan driven by John Ramsey, 18, Lisbon RD 1, police said. Propvic posted a $15 bond for an appearance in mayor's court tonight.

Also scheduled to appear before the mayor are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Laten Jr. of the Wick Hotel, arrested on charges of malicous destruction of property on the complaint of Clyde Wilson, hotel owner. Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said he found the Laten's third floor room "literally torn to pieces" and the furniture demolished. The Latens are in jail in lieu of bonds of $100 each.

Sutherland To Speak

LISBON — Dr. James Sutherland, a Martins Ferry physician, will speak at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday noon in the VFW McKinley Room. John Ebert, program chairman, said Dr. Sutherland will make a non-political talk. The doctor is a candidate for congress from the 18th District.

New Way Found To Stop Hair Loss, Grow More Hair

HOUSTON, Texas — If you don't suffer from male pattern baldness, you can now stop your hair loss . . . and grow more hair.

For years "they said it couldn't be done." But now a firm of laboratory consultants has developed a treatment for both men and women, that is not only stopping hair loss . . . but is really growing hair!

They don't even ask you to take their word for it. If they believe that the treatment will help you, they invite you to try it for 32 days, at their risk, and see for yourself!

Naturally, they would not offer this no-risk trial unless the treatment worked. However, it is impossible to help everyone.

The great majority of cases of excessive hair fall and baldness are the beginning and more fully developed stages of male pattern baldness and cannot be helped.

But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is actually causing your hair loss? Even if baldness may seem to "run in your family," this is certainly no proof of the cause of YOUR hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead, you are beyond help. So, if you still have any hair on top of your head, and would like to stop your hair loss and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Loesch Laboratory Consultants, Inc., will supply you with treatment for 32 days, at their risk, if they believe the treatment will help you. Just send them the information listed below. All inquiries are answered confidentially, by mail and without obligation. Adv.

Parents Seek Revisions In Sex Education Class

gram, he can withdraw the child.

The Rev. D. R. Salisbury of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church said he endorsed everything Rev. Toot had said. He said was deeply concerned about sex education, "about misinformation the young people being married today have." He said they are ignorant about the whole subject of sex, and some of them do not know how a child is conceived.

"Before I left the house tonight," he said, "my 15-year old- son asked me where I was going; Rev. Salisbury said. When I told him to the board of education meeting to talk about sex education, my son said "Tell them to start earlier."

"Parents do not do a very good job," Rev. Salisbury said. "The truth never hurt anyone. It is better students learn about sex this fine way rather than on street corners or in the back seat of a car. Young people do know about it. The program has my whole - hearted approval. If it may be improved, God bless you, if you can do this. If it is an improvement, I am for it."

THE REV. PAUL George of the Boyce Methodist Church then spoke against the program. Rev. George asked the board members if they had read the book.

He said he did not know about sex when he was growing up, nor did he get a girl pregnant. He questioned whether the book should be placed in the hands of seventh graders — both boys and girls together. He said the book was embarassing, and that the attitude would not be right just because the right thing was being taught. "I am afraid it will lead to experimenting," he said.

"I am not against sex — not against education — but I believe it was poor judgement to teach this in junior high, and outrageous to keep them together."

Robert Bartram of Olnhausen St. then spoke. He said he had a daughter in the seventh grade at Westgate. "I'm not asking that you take sex out of the schools — it is the biggest word in the vocabulary, and to some people an institutoin, but it can be embarassing to our children. A boy should not be reading from a book about menstruation."

Bartram said he had spoken to civic leaders today and all week, "but they won't speak out," he said. "We're here to tell you — not threaten. We don't want this. We want sex education, but in separate classes."

"I WORK AT Crucible Steel," Bartram added, "and I have never seen anything in engineering that couldn't be altered. Don't take it out, but you must alter it. Get a man to teach this class to the boys. This isn't a woman's job to tell boys how to express themselves and what to expect."

The Rev. Gale Goode, pastor of the LaCroft Nazarene Church, said, "I am not here to fight sex education, but I do not think it should be taught together." He questioned whether the teacher was trained in this subject, and said he did not understand why it is necessary to explain to a seventh grader marital joys. "This can come later on," he concluded.

The Rev. Clair Tucker said he does not have children in school, but some of his church people do and he is against the course being taught all in one class.

Another man commented he did not think the group was a "bunch of prudes" but felt the program should be altered and changed.

Norman Chiry, a newcomer to the district, said he felt it was the responsbiility of the board of education or someone in the administration to read every book that was adopted to be used in the system.

He agreed sex education was definitely needed, but said, "each of us needs education. Although the book in question was approved by the National Education Association and the American Medical Association, it says that the focus of responsibility must be honored by the local administration and the community," and he added. "The community has not had the opportunity to approve the book."

THE REV. GAYLORD Cox also spoke, indicating he believed reading the material would be a motivation of sex, and thereby the readers would be committing adultery.

Mrs. Helen Morrison said, "I have heard that the book the second semester students will be getting is worse, tells about contraceptives. If one of my daughters brings one home, I will tear it to pieces."

The Rev. William Tempel of St. Stephens said the interest shown by the parents and the responsibility shown by the board of education was commendable.

He said, "I did not come to tell anyone what manual should be used, whether the classes should be co - educational or otherwise. I came to say the children need this education. Just because I know about alcohol, I do not over-indulge; just because you drive, you do not drive into a tree to see what would happen."

"It is too late after a girl is bringing a fatherless child into the world to tell her about sex. I hope this interest by parents and the board of education will result is a good program."

Although the majority of parents present favored divided classes, one parent said he believed the group present worked to get those with this opinion to the meeting while few in favor of the program as it now stands were attending the meeting.

Pelini described the manner in which the program came into being. "In answer to the question about instructor training," he said, my answer is I know of no training institute that offers a major in sex education."

"THERE IS no foundation for the statement that the next semester, the book would be 'worse' than this one."

"As to the need," he stated, "We have had many, many junior high and high school girls that had to leave school because they were pregnant. In 1966, there were 3,100 reported cases of venereal disease in Ohio in 10 to 14-year-olds. If this many were reported, how many went unreported? It is because of the problems we are facing today that we decided the program was needed."

"How do you talk about venereal disease and pregnancy, if you do not explain how they happen? You have to give a certain amount of information."

"Your sons and daughters are talking about this, some to more of a degree than others. In mixed classes, there is not a discussion after class in the halls, a discussion on the bus, or in neighborhood as to what is done in separate classes."

Pelini reported a movie had been shown that was recommended at a third grade level. Another movie that is to be screened has been shown on Channel 13. Discussions are being held on heredity and environment, discussions on what attracts boys to girls and vice versa."

"Plans are to have the city nurse in for discussions, and also doctors."

"YOU ARE concerned about these classes, but are you concerned about what is being sold on news stands or seen on TV—some information that is certainly misguiding?", Pelini concluded.

Supt. Paul Blair then said that the program was instituted at the request of parents, young people and the junior women's club. "We did not rush into this program — it was studied very carefully. I am not married, but I could tell you many things your boys and girls tell us that they won't tell their parents.

"We are concerned about your boys and girls education. They were not getting it in the church and in the home, so it was thrust upon us. We are trying to protect the boys and girls in East Liverpool and to help them grow up to be wholesome young men and women of this community."

"The program is recommended to start in the first grade and eventually, if this is done, the whole program will fit in place. We are concerned about the health, education and welfare of your children. We hope that when 10 or 11 o'clock rolls around, you know where your children are."

Chiry then asked if what was said tonight would be acted upon of if the parents had "just wasted their time by coming."

Samuel Brown, board president, assured the group the board would take into consideration all that was said. "It will not be treated lightly, he said.

Pelini then said that of comments officially brought to the attention of the administration, 13 were opposed and 20 were for the program as it now is handled.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

British playwright Thomas Morton was prolific and popular in his day, but he is now all but forgotten except for one character, Mrs. Grundy, who is never even seen on stage in "Speed the Plough" (1798), but who is always present. Dame Ashfield, The World Almanac notes, continually worries whether her neighbor, Mrs. Grundy, will think her proper and respectable. Mrs. Grundy is now a symbol of slavish conformity to conventions.

They apparently suffered no ill effects from the rising atmospheric pressures they encountered during re-entry. Because all three had head cold congestion, there was some concern they might have ear or sinus trouble. But they held their noses and blew hard as the pressures rose to prevent this.

the project and then forward them to the Highway Department, he pointed out.

In the discussion yesterday at the Courthouse, Ursu said he could recall no promise to give the city funds for the improvement. He cited increased costs in his department for material, labor, retirement payments and insurance previously paid by the commissioners, and said expenses will be $50,000 more on the road and bridge fund next year.

He noted that the fund is committed for approximately $300,000 each for the St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Depot Rd. improvements "and we also have before us the proposed improvement of Shadyside Ave. in East Liverpool."

"I believe we should direct our efforts toward the Shadyside improvement since it is the extension of a county road into the city and let the state deal with the city on Route 267," Ursu said. "The county cannot afford both projects," he declared.

He told the men the state now wants Pidgeon Rd. (a county road) for the Route 45 bypass of Salem. "I think the commissioners should apply to the State Highway Department for a credit of $250,000—the amount the county put into improving Pidgeon Rd. — and this credit could be used by East Liverpool and other communities for their share in state highway boundaries," he proposed.

Factor For Peace In Vietnam?

One of the factors which may be instrumental to some degree in bringing about peace in Vietnam is the reported discontent of the North Vietnamese people with the prolonged war.

Although Communist governments are notorious for their iron-fisted control of their people, still they cannot completely disregard lack of support from those they rule.

TRAVELERS COMING OUT of Hanoi report grumbling among the populace at the continued restrictions on road movement other than of troops and supplies needed for the war. They say that the North Vietnamese government is finding it difficult to maintain wartime unity since the bombing around Hanoi and Haiphong was halted six months ago.

One British citizen, just returned from Hanoi, observed that the average person in Hanoi is convinced that victory is at hand and is puzzled about the lack of progress in the peace talks.

"The desire to end the war is just as strong with them as it seems to be with people everywhere outside the war zone," he said.

The Hanoi government must find some way to make the North Vietnamese people think they have won a victory while, at the same time, allowing the South Vietnamese and their allies to appear not to have been defeated.

FOR IT IS THE PEOPLE who support the war effort, literally keep it alive, and if they lose their willingess to serve the cause and make the heavy sacrifices required, the Hanoi government is in trouble.

The reports that this is happening may be a major reason for the reported movement in peace negotiations.

Keeping Par With Progress

Columbiana County is expected to show a 4 per cent population increase in the 1960-70 decade, according to projections from the Ohio Department of Development.

Compared to the state's expected 11 per cent boost, the whole eastern section of Ohio counties — except those adjacent to Lake Erie— are well below average. The anticipated population increase for Mahoning County is seen at 3.8 per cent, Jefferson 2 per cent, Stark 10.2 per cent, Carroll 4 per cent, Harrison 1.7 per cent, Tuscarawas 6.9 per cent and Belmont minus 2.2 per cent.

Columbiana County planners have made numerous studies which have pinpointed lack of industrial and commercial development as a prime problem in achieving growth, plus secondary problems factors such as highways, natural resources, housing and education.

In the past five years, various programs have been started with an eye to spurring the county's progress and improvement of its facilities, and some have already begun to prove successful.

But there remains a real need for more and more people at every level to recognize the importance of an energetic, cooperative effort to implement programs which can create more jobs, attract new industry and new residents and place Columbiana County on a par with progress elsewhere in the state and nation.

A Critic Of The Press

Newspaper editors, not generally a humorless nor intolerant lot, are often amused at criticism tossed at the press by politicians, pseudo-intellectuals and assorted propagandists who have their own interpretations of what is and what is not the truth.

Newspapers are not without faults, and the sincere opinions of readers and the leadership of capable journalists have led to changes and improvements over the years.

And so it is that when a responsible labor leader such as Miles Stanley, president of the West Virginia AFL, charges newspapers with "using propaganda, suppression, fact slanting and scare headlines" to control readers' minds, we wonder about the type of newspapers he has been reading.

Publications such as the Republican and Democrat news letters, magazines and weeklies of manufacturers associations and labor unions, or those of any special interest group lack a certain objectivity. But the community newspapers of this nation generally seek to print the news with honesty and directness and with balance.

Mr. Stanley may have found prejudice and distortion in some newspapers, but this does not give him license to give a bad name to the press in general, any more than a wildcat strike or picket line violence justifies a general press attack on the whole labor movement.

We are perfectly willing to let the readers be the judge of distortion and prejudice in news, for it is they who determine whether a newspaper is a success or not. Meanwhile, we also will continue to publish the criticism of the press — without fact-slanting, but with a bit of a smile.

Now It's Giant Mushrooms

Still the reports of Unidentified Flying Objects keep coming. Recently, most of the "sightings" seem to be in South America.

Argentina, in particular, has been "invaded" numerous times in the last few months according to a series of reports to authorities.

The most recent "sighting" is attributed to peasants in the village of Correa who claim a fleet of flying saucers landed in an open field and then took off again.

To substantiate their story, they showed authorities seven large circles of scorched earth where giant mushrooms were growing.

Although none of the reports have been substantiated to date, it is interesting to note the wide variety of unusual and fantastic occurrences associated with them. The giant mushrooms is the latest of these teasers.

It would be nice to know what made the mushrooms grow so well. If some astute botanist could analyze them and determine what it was, he might grow wealthy by applying his "UFO-provided" information to the commercial production of new giant mushrooms for the tables of the world.

Jackie-Watchers Fail

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The announcement of Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's marriage to Greek ship owner Aristotle Onassis caught most people by surprise. The Jackie-watchers had been so intent on keeping tabs on Lord Harlech that only a skeleton force had been watching the Greek coast. And apparently these watchers had gotten fat and lazy after listening to Maria Callas sing for the past 10 years.

Art Buchwald

There is going to be a definite shakeup in the Jackie Kennedy Intelligence Agency and the head of the JKIA is expected to hand in his resignation within the next 30 days.

At an emergency meeting last week of the Jackie Kennedy Security Council, attended by the directors of the major wire services, TV networks, gossip columns and movie magazines, the head of the JKIA was asked to explain why his agency had so utterly failed in having any intelligence available on the Jackie-Onassis romance.

HE TRIED TO DEFEND himself. "We knew Jackie was seeing Onassis, but there was no indication that he was anything more than just a good friend. Besides, we had been so badly misled on the Lord Harlech thing that I guess we were overcautious in our assessment of the Onassis friendship."

"That's not good enough," a wire service head muttered. "Your intelligence network was responsible for keeping tabs on Jackie Kennedy at all times. We had your assurance she would not get married this year."

The JKIA director said nervously, "I know, and I'm sorry, but there was a breakdown between ourselves and the Greek intelligence sources. They reported that there was absolutely no action on the Island of Scorpios, which Onassis owns. The Christina, Onassis' yacht, has been on a good-will mission to Venice, and Maria Callas was in Paris. We just assumed that under these conditions there wasn't any chance of Onassis getting married at this time. How did we know he'd pull a Pearl Harbor on us?"

"YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO KNOW," shouted a movie magazine publisher. "Do you realize we've got millions and millions of magazine covers with photographs of Jackie and Lord Harlech, Jackie and Mike Nichols and Jackie and the Spanish ambassador to the Vatican? What are we supposed to do with them?"

"Couldn't you print a streamer on them saying 'Why Jackie Didn't Marry Lord Harlech'?" the JKIA director said.

"No, we can't. Our readers would never forgive us if we tricked them."

"Gentlemen," said the president of the Gossip Columnists Union, "There is no sense crying over spilled milk. The question is, what do we do now?"

"I say invade the Island of Scorpios," said a TV executive who was a retired general. "We can't let the honeymoon take place without us being there."

The JKIA director cleared his throat. "The island is impregnable. We would suffer very heavy casualties."

"Damn the casualties," a magazine editor said. "We've got to have pictures."

"WE COULD GET aerial shots with a chartered U-2," the JKIA director said.

"Aerial shots of Onassis?"

"Well, I know we won't get all the details, but we'll have the big picture."

"I say we blockade the Christina," a wire service man said. "If they won't let us on the island, we don't let them off."

"You forgot. Onassis also owns Olympic Airways."

"Then we'll have to bomb the airfield. Get Gen. LeMay on the hot line."

VICTOR RIESEL

Crippling The Government

NEW YORK — This is the city of fashions—in strikes as well as garments. So, cops as well as couturiers, fire departments as well as designers, garbage collectors as well as customers' men are watching the rapid-fire crises here.

Victor Riesel

So are millions of federal employes. They're restless. They're pressuring their leaders to cut no-strike clauses from their constitutions. At least four such unions have surrendered to the rank and file of the U.S. Civil Service.

Richard Nixon has sensed this uneasiness in federal rank. He's promised to ease their malaise. Whoever is president may not find this any easier than Mayor John Lindsay has in each confrontation with his own firefighters, his own forces of law and order, his own sanitation people, his own powerful municipal employes' unions.

So mark well the teachers' turbulence and civil service upheaval here. As New York goes, so goes the nation. Transit strikes have been followed by transit stoppages everywhere; sanitation men's walkouts by wave after wave of garbage strikes in many states; threats of firefighters' stoppages by actual firehouse strikes. And right now, the police in a dozen cities warn their mayors and managers they'll go stick with the blue flu.

THERE'S NO DOUBT that federal employes are seeking stratagems to hit the bricks—and will, in some fashion, during the next administration.

If they do, the next president will have to decide whether he wants to be as tough as the federal government has been—so tough is the policy that there have been just three job actions in recent decades.

Not only are strikes prohibited—so is union picketing of federal property.

The crackdown comes swiftly. Back in 1962, for example, 81 sheet metal workers wildcatted on a Tennessee Valley operation. The government called in the union, explained the law and fired the men right off. The union could not, and did not, protest or retaliate.

Each federal employe signs a no-strike affidavit. If he violates this agreement, he can be imprisoned for a year and a day—a felony. That's it.

Until recently, all union constitutions had clauses pledging their federally employed members would not strike. Three postal unions and the firefighters scalpeled these clauses from their own laws in the past 10 months.

There may be a showdown. One union which beat off rank-and-file pressure to drop the no-strike clause is the American Federation of Government Employes (AFL-CIO), led by a John Griner, whom some in the labor movement don't consider strong enough to withstand the internal opposition.

SO WE MAY SEE federal strikes on military bases, deposts and perhaps West Point, Annapolis and other training installations.

If the federal authorities are not handcuffed by the White House, they'll move hard, fast and tough.

Newark, N.J., discovered this when they "struck" during last year's Christmas pile-up season. The Post Office Department suspended the action leader.

And last March, when members of the independent National Association of Government Employes picketed the Weather Bureau office in Rockefeller Center, the Commerce Dept. zeroed in.

Two investigators were dispatched. Decisions were made. The union lost its exclusive collective bargaining agreement with the bureau and the government refused to check off dues.

These three job actions—TVA, the Post Office and the meteorological employes—are the only ones of 15 threats which actually hit the streets.

BUT THE RESTLESSNESS is there. So are next year's potential big black headlines. And the government is taking no chances. It is willing to bargain, to diologue, to make reasonable concessions.

So the government has rigged up an early warning system. It is ready for swift communication of prestrike intelligence to department heads and regional headquarters across the land.

There are contingency blueprints for action if any federal service is hit by militant unionists.

Civil Service Commission spokesmen are optimistic. They don't believe the federals will blow. But who would have thought that police or firefighters would—or garbage collectors?

But all this is far more than a strike report. There's a powerful political force in the "raceless" civil service. In the Washington, D.C., area alone, there are some 850,000—and millions elsewhere. They're unhappy. And they vote for president, too.

The War's End

Although very little is being said as yet as to what is going on behind the scenes between the representatives in Paris of North Vietnam and the United States, there is a general feeling in Washington that a "compromise" of some kind is in the making.

The real difficulty is that each side wishes either to gain at least the appearance of a "victory" or to avoid the opposite — the charge that there has been a "surrender." This means that "face-saving" becomes the underlying motive in a difficult negotiation in which sometimes neither sides comes out on top.

THE RISKS ARE considerable, as a clumsy handling of the problem could have far-reaching effects not only among the allies of America but among neutral nations which are watching closely to see whether the power and prestige of the United States will, in any sense, have been sacrificed for the sake of political expediency at home.

So far as the South Vietnam government is concerned, it is worried about only one question: will it be in command of its own territory or will a "coalition" government be imposed such as that to which the United States agreed before the Communists took over the mainland of China in 1949?

If it is to retain the friendship of South Vietnam, the United States cannot agree to any kind of "coalition" government which threatens the independence of the Saigon regime. But promises of some kind on the political questions involved in a settlement will doubtless have been made by both sides if a bombing halt occurs.

It doesn't seem possible that the United States will be content wth a mere halt in the fighting when there is no assurance that this will be maintained for more than a few weeks or months.

The Hanoi government is probably well aware that the Johnson administration is anxious to bring about a stoppage of the fighting within the next three weeks before the election. So the trump cards of the North Vietnamese will be played with a supposition that the Washington government needs to get a cessation of the fighting as quickly as possible and may be willing to pay a heavy price for it.

Already there is speculation as to what the impact will be on the voters of America. Many of them will be relieved to learn that their sons probably will not be drafted to go to Vietnam. Many will, on the other hand, be embittered if it turns out that the troops which have fought the war will have done so in vain.

The situation could still remain unsettled by election day. The Democrats will naturally expect to gain support because they have initiated some kind of negotiation that looks like it may result in an ending of the war.

Nixon, of course, is avoiding any debate on the subject of Vietnam because he is supporting the administration viewpoint and will wait to see whether an honorable settlement is reached. The chances are that some information as to what actually has been promised or conceded will become available before election.

Some Republicans are saying that any announcement of the cessation of hostilities will only start a debate as to whether the United States — if it makes concessions for expediency's sake—will be contributing toward an uneasiness in the whole Asian situation, especially among those allies which have sent troops to join American forces in Vietnam.

HISTORY SHOWS THAT, immediately after a war, the party in power usually suffers. This is due primarily to economic factors, particularly unemployment. In 1946, shortly after World War II was concluded and a Democratic administration was in office, the Republicans won Congress.

Going back to World War I, the Democrats lost control of both houses of Congress to the Republicans just before the armistice was declared Nov. 11, 1918. Then in the presidential election of 1920, the ill effects of the inflation after the war gave the Republicans one of their biggest landslides in history.

So a war's ending doesn't always mean that the incumbent party necessarily reaps a political benefit.

Factor For Peace In Vietnam?

One of the factors which may be instrumental to some degree in bringing about peace in Vietnam is the reported discontent of the North Vietnamese people with the prolonged war.

Although Communist governments are notorious for their iron-fisted control of their people, still they cannot completely disregard lack of support from those they rule.

TRAVELERS COMING OUT of Hanoi report grumbling among the populace at the continued restrictions on road movement other than of troops and supplies needed for the war. They say that the North Vietnamese government is finding it difficult to maintain wartime unity since the bombing around Hanoi and Haiphong was halted six months ago.

One British citizen, just returned from Hanoi, observed that the average person in Hanoi is convinced that victory is at hand and is puzzled about the lack of progress in the peace talks.

"The desire to end the war is just as strong with them as it seems to be with people everywhere outside the war zone," he said.

The Hanoi government must find some way to make the North Vietnamese people think they have won a victory while, at the same time, allowing the South Vietnamese and their allies to appear not to have been defeated.

FOR IT IS THE PEOPLE who support the war effort, literally keep it alive, and if they lose their willingess to serve the cause and make the heavy sacrifices required, the Hanoi government is in trouble.

The reports that this is happening may be a major reason for the reported movement in peace negotiations.

Keeping Par With Progress

Columbiana County is expected to show a 4 per cent population increase in the 1960-70 decade, according to projections from the Ohio Department of Development.

Compared to the state's expected 11 per cent boost, the whole eastern section of Ohio counties — except those adjacent to Lake Erie— are well below average. The anticipated population increase for Mahoning County is seen at 3.8 per cent, Jefferson 2 per cent, Stark 10.2 per cent, Carroll 4 per cent, Harrison 1.7 per cent, Tuscarawas 6.9 per cent and Belmont minus 2.2 per cent.

Columbiana County planners have made numerous studies which have pinpointed lack of industrial and commercial development as a prime problem in achieving growth, plus secondary problems factors such as highways, natural resources, housing and education.

In the past five years, various programs have been started with an eye to spurring the county's progress and improvement of its facilities, and some have already begun to prove successful.

But there remains a real need for more and more people at every level to recognize the importance of an energetic, cooperative effort to implement programs which can create more jobs, attract new industry and new residents and place Columbiana County on a par with progress elsewhere in the state and nation.

A Critic Of The Press

Newspaper editors, not generally a humorless nor intolerant lot, are often amused at criticism tossed at the press by politicians, pseudo-intellectuals and assorted propagandists who have their own interpretations of what is and what is not the truth.

Newspapers are not without faults, and the sincere opinions of readers and the leadership of capable journalists have led to changes and improvements over the years.

And so it is that when a responsible labor leader such as Miles Stanley, president of the West Virginia AFL, charges newspapers with "using propaganda, suppression, fact slanting and scare headlines" to control readers' minds, we wonder about the type of newspapers he has been reading.

Publications such as the Republican and Democrat news letters, magazines and weeklies of manufacturers associations and labor unions, or those of any special interest group lack a certain objectivity. But the community newspapers of this nation generally seek to print the news with honesty and directness and with balance.

Mr. Stanley may have found prejudice and distortion in some newspapers, but this does not give him license to give a bad name to the press in general, any more than a wildcat strike or picket line violence justifies a general press attack on the whole labor movement.

We are perfectly willing to let the readers be the judge of distortion and prejudice in news, for it is they who determine whether a newspaper is a success or not. Meanwhile, we also will continue to publish the criticism of the press — without fact-slanting, but with a bit of a smile.

Total Put At $1,028,704,000

W. Va. Utility Valuations Seen Up By $17.5 Million

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Tentative public utility property valuations for 1969 indicate an increase of more than $17.5 million over 1968 final valuations.

The total public utilities valuations tentatively set by the State Tax Department come to $1,028,704,000. Each $1 million in assessed valuation yields about $30,000 in local tax revenue. So the additional tax yield under the tentative valuations would come to just over $.5 million.

The valuations were announced at Monday's opening session of three days of public hearings by the State Board of Public hearings by the State Board of Public Works. After the hearings during which utility representatives may protest valuations, the board will set the final assessed valuations.

At Monday's hearing Hugh A. Latimer, vice president and general manager of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co. protested that a proposed $13.6 - milllion hike in the CP valuation "is greater than the per cent increase in our net earnings projected for 1968."

Among other things, Latimer objected to inclusion of revenue from telephone directory advertising as part of the base for calculating the CP valuation.

Secretary of State Robert D. Bailey said drops in some valuations reflect "a more complete formula" for equalizing tax loads and do not necessarily indicate declines in actual property value.

Following are the seven largest individual tentative valuations of Class III and IV properties for 1969 and the increases or decreases from 1968 final figures:

Appalachian Power Co., $127,116,139 up $554,450; Norfolk Western Railway, $113,000,000, down $4,500,000; Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. $100,-023,010, up $13,639,700; Monongahela Power Co., $91,266,191, up $1,110,129; Consolidated Gas Supply Corp., $84,077,743, up $3,698,357; Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, $82,955,300, down $344,-700, and United Fuel Gas Co., $73,205,572, down $3,228,452.

The 1969 tentative valuations are the first to be computerized. They were calculated by a computer programmed with the assessment formula.

Police Hunt 2 In Slaying Of Teenagers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus homicide detectives said Monday night they are seeking two men for questioning in the brutal slaying Sunday night of two teen-agers in a dairy store here.

They refused further comment on the slayer who, apparently working alone, during a holdup killed the teen-agers and left the night manager for dead.

Police said Susan Pack, 18, a clerk at the Lawson's Dairy Store, and James Stevens, 14, were shot in the head at close range at least once each. Stevens was at first thought to have been a Lawson employe but a company spokesman said Monday the youth was not on the payroll.

The night manager, Phyllis Crow, 34, was choked with a coat hanger but escaped with bruises. All three were bound, gagged and beaten. A detective said the beatings administered to the teen-agers were the most brutal he had seen.

Police said the man escaped with about $800 in cash and checks from a cash register. Mrs. Crow gave police a description of the man and a police sketch has been circulated throughout the state.

Mrs. Crow told police she had seen the man in the store before. She said he entered the store shortly before closing time Sunday, forced her to help him rifle the cash register then ordered all three to lie on the floor behind a counter.

Then, she said, he began cursing and shouting. He screamed, "I've got nothing to lose . . . I'll kill you all."

Mrs. Crow said he bound and gagged them, then she heard shots. She was not shot because the man's gun apparently jammed, but he attempted to strangle her.

Dazed and delirious, Mrs. Crow struggled for about 35 minutes before she was able to free herself and call police.

Trustees Cancel Study Of Arrest In Madison Twp.

A Madison Township trustees review of a complaint concerning an alleged gunpoint traffic apprehension was not held Saturday as scheduled because the complainant did not attend.

A Glenmoor driver had reported to the trustees Oct. 5 an employe of a private police agency had halted him at gunpoint near West Point Sept. 28 and taken him into custody.

George Dunn, trustee, said a letter concerning the case had not been delivered to Ron Wathey, operator of the agency and a constable, until Oct. 17. Wathey and the employe were present Saturday.

The trustees agreed patching for Roller Coaster Rd. and Elkton Rd. will be done next year, and ordered filling and slagging of a hole reported on White Rd. by Donald Smith.

Tom Croft of Cream Ridge Rd. was granted permission to install a water line across the roadway. A complaint was received from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Skelton of the Y. & O. Rd. concerning brush and weeds on some property and refuse falling from passing trucks.

Ralph Cusick presided. A special meeting will be held Saturday to determine the budget for next year. The next meeting will be Nov. 2.

Capt. James Jack is called the "Paul Revere of the South." He rode horseback to Philadelphia to carry the Mecklenburg Declaration to the Continental Congress.

Moore Files Counter-Suit Of $1,010,000

MOUNDSVILLE, W.Va. (AP) —Attorneys for Arch Moore Jr. have filed a million-dollar counterclaim against two attorneys and their clients who have a damage suit against Moore pending in Marshall County Circuit Court.

Moore's suit — which totals $1,010,000 — is against Mrs. Edna Mae Anderson of Marshall County and her attorneys, John J. McOwen of Huntington and Jolyn W. McCamic of Wheeling. The Moore petition accuses the three of "causing to be published in Marshall County false and defamatory statements" about him.

Mrs. Anderson's proceedings against the 1st District Congressman and Republican candidate for governor accuses him of false testimony in denying that an attorney who once represented her was associated with Moore's law firm.

Mrs. Anderson had sought $20,000 from the law firm of Moore and Moore as damages she claimed she lost through mishandling of an automobile accident claim by an attorney allegedly associated with the firm. This suit was dismissed.

Subsequently, Mrs. Anderson and the two attorneys filed a $100,000 damage suit accusing Moore of perjury in the earlier trial.

Moore's counter suit includes three charges, one for $500,000 in general damages and punitive damages, another for the same amount for the alleged insults in the published statements about him and a third charge for $10,000 to recover money Moore says he spent in litigation.

Motorist, 25, Injured When Auto Overturns

A 25-year-old Youngstown man was injured when his car struck a culvert and rolled over on its top along Route 164 north of Lisbon Monday afternoon.

The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon said Frederick Tays was headed north in a 1967 coach which went off the east side of the road about 4½ miles north of Lisbon at 4:20 p.m.

The car returned to the highway, then went off the west side, hit the culvert and overturned. He received minor injuries, but did not require treatment, officers said.

ANN LANDERS

Child Molester Revealed

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: We've just learned that a member of our family has molested every little girl he could get his hands on. All of us have been blind to his hideous ways and nobody suspected a thing. Parents warn their children about strangers, but who'd think to warn children against a close relative?

I became suspicious yesterday when my 8-year-old niece came running into the kitchen — a look of terror in her eyes. I asked what was wrong. She said, "I can't tell you. I promised," and began to cry. I finally dragged it out of her.

I immediately called her mother and she was shocked. This relative always insisted on taking the little girls to movies or for a ride, one at a time — "to make them feel important." Each of us recalled a few incidents which at the time had no meaning. Suddenly the pieces fell together.

Our husbands are incensed and plan to see a lawyer about the best course of action. Please print my letter and alert the mothers in your reading audience to this danger. Also, any advice to prevent this sort of thing from happening would be very much appreciated. — NO NAME.

Dear No Name: "This sort of thing" is more common than you think. The best safeguards are as follows: Keep the arteries of comunication open. Children who are comfortable with their parents will not withhold "secrets."

Be alert for undue attention to both little boys and girls. Always ask for a report on any and all outings. Be alert to signs of excess attention paid to a child by an older member of the family. If you have any suspicions, do not allow the child to be alone with the relative — EVER.

Job Seeker

Dear Ann: Six weeks ago my husband asked me if I'd go to work for him. He owns a small machine shop and I'm a bookkeeper and telephone girl. I turned him down.

We have four small children and good household help is hard to get. Also, I should be honest and tell you I don't particularly enjoy office work.

Today I learned his ex-wife took the job. I'm sure nothing out-of-the-way is going on. We're very much in love and I know too much about their past to think they are coying it up. Furthermore, she has a boy friend.

Still, I don't like the idea of my husband and his ex-wife being together all day.

That job is beginning to look awfully good to me. How do I get it without looking like a jealous woman — which I am? — GREEN EYES.

-:-

Dear Eyes: Tell your husband you trust him implicitly but you'd feel better if he hired someone else...

Offer to do the books at home and come in part time to handle the phone. And start scouting around immediately for a replacement.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Onassis Yacht Outfitted With Art Work, Airplane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Christina, Aristotle Onassis' yacht on which he and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis are honeymooning, is outfitted with lavish appointments and priceless art.

A twin-engine amphibious airplane and a speedy launch are kept on the deck of the ship which is 110 yards long. The one-time floating playground of the international jet set is boarded at the second level with its main salon, 22-seat dining area and kitchen.

In recent years, Onassis has pulled the Christina into Florida ports several times. During his last trip, Charles Bosco, a butler, was permitted to give reporters of the Miami Herald and Miami News a tour of the ship.

In the main salon sits a jade Buddha, one of three that exist. Queen Elizabeth and the Aga Khan own the other two.

The Onassis stateroom is dominated by a low-slung king-sized bed with Greek icons on each side and a gilt-framed mirror on the wall above. The bathroom is all marble with gold faucets in His and Hers sinks.

The tub is also marble with bright blue, fish-patterned mosaic interior.

The study has a high beamed ceiling and a wood burning fireplace. In that room are an El Greco and a solid gold sextant, a gift from Arabia's King Saud.

Leather and wood straps keep books firmly on the shelves lining three walls in the library.

In the bar, guests can sit on whale skin bar stools and watch a parade of magnetic miniature ships, from Phoenecian to Mississippi steamboats, glide around the circular bar under glass.

There are whale-teeth handles for tipplers to grip during rough weather.

Next door, in the rumpus room, there is a piano, another fireplace, another El Greco, more books, opera scores and a portrait of Onassis' mother who died when he was a child.

As in the main salon, the playroom decor blends European and Oriental antiques. In both areas, the furniture is arranged for easy conversation. Marble coffee tables, inlaid in Florentine tradition, map out various parts of the globe.

The playroom opens onto the fantail where there is a swimming pool the bottom of which can be raised to make a dance floor.

The yacht, named after Onassis' daughter Christina, is already equipped for the Kennedy children, Caroline and John. Between guest staterooms and the bar is a children's playroom with half-size tables and chairs, original storybook murals and a separate dining area.

There are a dozen guest rooms.

Teak, wicker and deep cushions are the decor on deck.

One stateroom is converted to a hospital complete with an operating table equipped for major surgery.

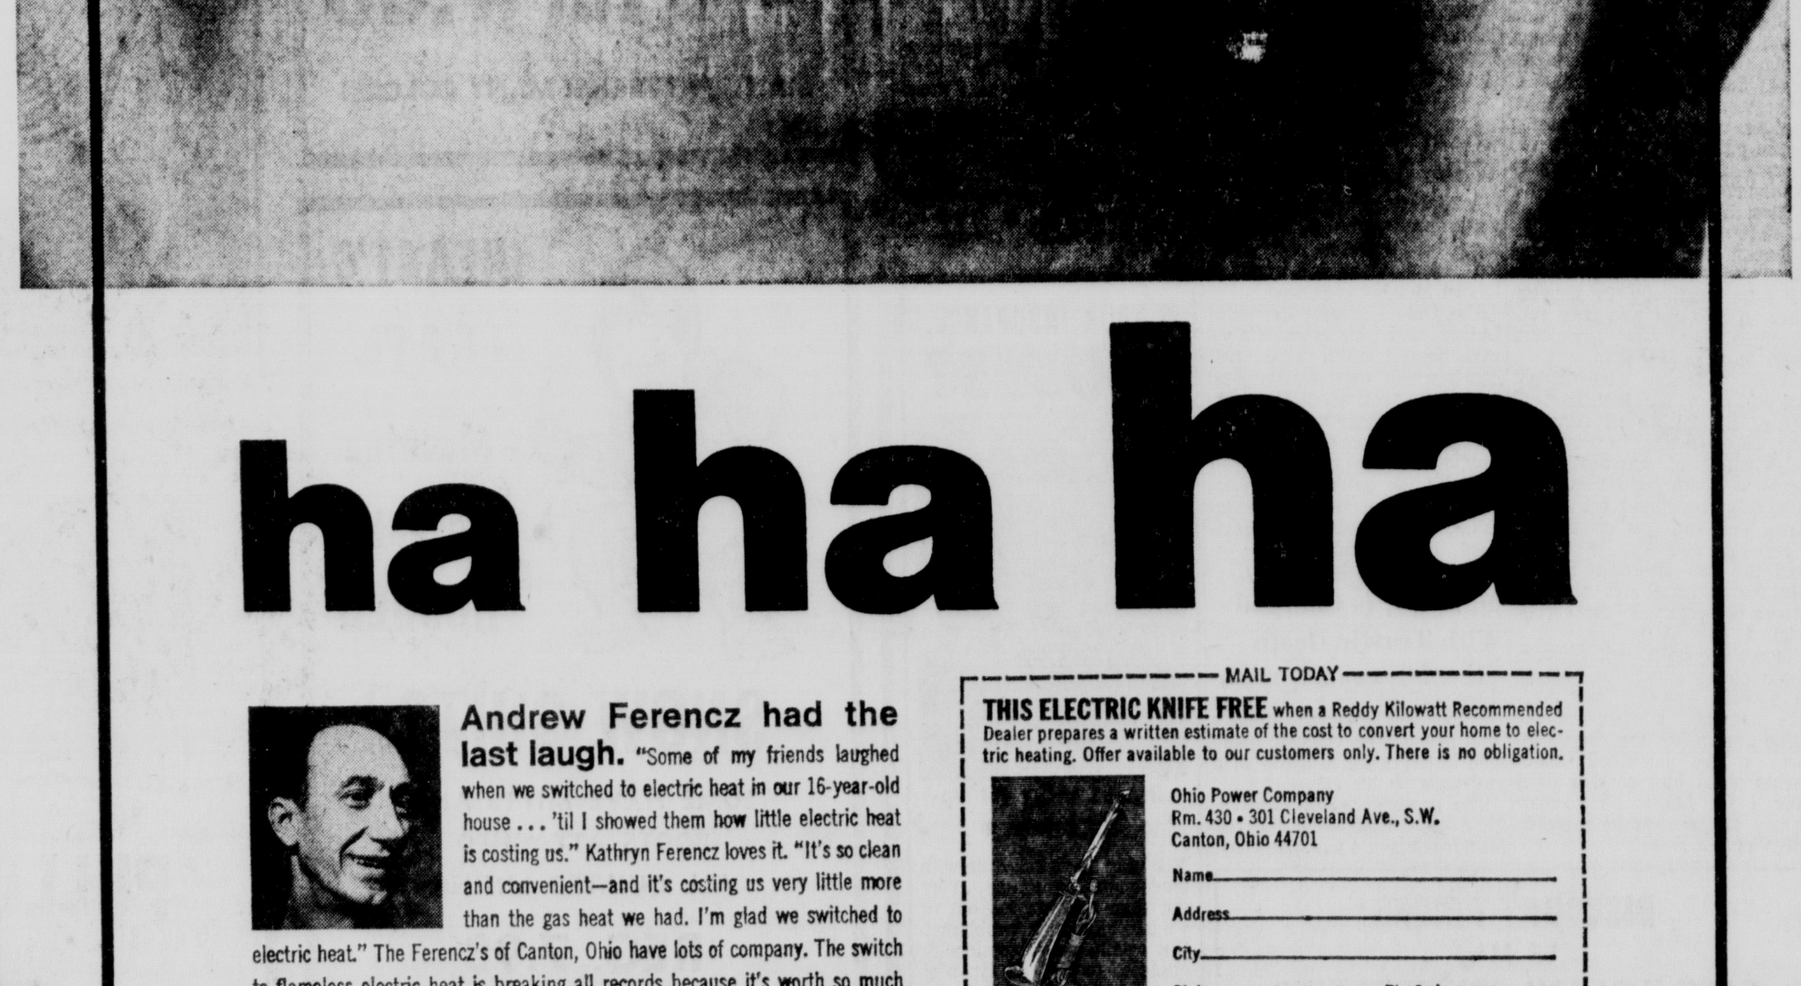

The ship takes a crew of 45 and a budget of about $5 million a year to operate.

LaCroft Group Sets Attendance Contest

Members of the Junior High School Department of the LaCroft Church of the Nazarene are planning an attendance contest for November.

The group held a wiener roast Thursday night at the church, with 20 attending. Devotions were led by Mrs. Gale L. Goode, wife of the minister, who is departmental supervisor. Prayers were offered by Mrs. Helen Ward and Rev. Goode.

Special guests were Milton Kountz, seventh grade teacher; Mrs. Helen Ward, eighth, and Mrs. Lillian Allison, ninth.

Andrew Ferencz had the last laugh. "Some of my friends laughed when we switched to electric heat in our 16-year-old house . . . 'til I showed them how little electric heat is costing us." Kathryn Ferencz loves it. "It's so clean and convenient—and it's costing us very little more than the gas heat we had. I'm glad we switched to electric heat." The Ferencz's of Canton, Ohio have lots of company. The switch to flameless electric heat is breaking all records because it's worth so much more in comfort, yet costs about the same as other fuels. Let us show you how little it can cost. Get a free estimate—from us or your Reddy Kilowatt Recommended Dealer.

ANN LANDERS

Child Molester Revealed

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: We've just learned that a member of our family has molested every little girl he could get his hands on. All of us have been blind to his hideous ways and nobody suspected a thing. Parents warn their children about strangers, but who'd think to warn children against a close relative?

I became suspicious yesterday when my 8-year-old niece came running into the kitchen — a look of terror in her eyes. I asked what was wrong. She said, "I can't tell you. I promised," and began to cry. I finally dragged it out of her.

I immediately called her mother and she was shocked. This relative always insisted on taking the little girls to movies or for a ride, one at a time — "to make them feel important." Each of us recalled a few incidents which at the time had no meaning. Suddenly the pieces fell together.

Our husbands are incensed and plan to see a lawyer about the best course of action. Please print my letter and alert the mothers in your reading audience to this danger. Also, any advice to prevent this sort of thing from happening would be very much appreciated. — NO NAME.

Dear No Name: "This sort of thing" is more common than you think. The best safeguards are as follows: Keep the arteries of comunication open. Children who are comfortable with their parents will not withhold "secrets."

Be alert for undue attention to both little boys and girls. Always ask for a report on any and all outings. Be alert to signs of excess attention paid to a child by an older member of the family. If you have any suspicions, do not allow the child to be alone with the relative — EVER.

Job Seeker

Dear Ann: Six weeks ago my husband asked me if I'd go to work for him. He owns a small machine shop and I'm a bookkeeper and telephone girl. I turned him down.

We have four small children and good household help is hard to get. Also, I should be honest and tell you I don't particularly enjoy office work.

Today I learned his ex-wife took the job. I'm sure nothing out-of-the-way is going on. We're very much in love and I know too much about their past to think they are coying it up. Furthermore, she has a boy friend.

Still, I don't like the idea of my husband and his ex-wife being together all day.

That job is beginning to look awfully good to me. How do I get it without looking like a jealous woman — which I am? — GREEN EYES.

-:-

Dear Eyes: Tell your husband you trust him implicitly but you'd feel better if he hired someone else...

Offer to do the books at home and come in part time to handle the phone. And start scouting around immediately for a replacement.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Onassis Yacht Outfitted With Art Work, Airplane

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Christina, Aristotle Onassis' yacht on which he and Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis are honeymooning, is outfitted with lavish appointments and priceless art.

A twin-engine amphibious airplane and a speedy launch are kept on the deck of the ship which is 110 yards long. The one-time floating playground of the international jet set is boarded at the second level with its main salon, 22-seat dining area and kitchen.

In recent years, Onassis has pulled the Christina into Florida ports several times. During his last trip, Charles Bosco, a butler, was permitted to give reporters of the Miami Herald and Miami News a tour of the ship.

Water Program Plans Discussed

LISBON — County commissioners met Monday with Bloomgren and Nardei Contracting Co., Inc., of Bridgeville, Pa., on the proposed $621,000 St. Clair water system which has been tied up in litigation since July 1967.

Nardei said the firm will honor its bid of $507,031 made last April. The federal government will not release a $240,000 grant for the work until the court case is settled to its satisfaction.

St. Clair residents opposing the system lost an injunction action against the commissioners Oct. 4 when Judge Raymond Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sustained the commissioners' motion to dismiss the petition. The decision was entered Oct. 18. Opponents have 20 days in which to appeal.

The commissioners also decided to give the city of East Liverpool a quit-claim for an easement the county has on land along Armstrong Lane. Arrangements will be worked out with the tax map department of the county auditor's office.

Guests and visitors included Mrs. Estelle Cronin, past state regent and national director; Miss Madeline Courtright, Junior Catholic Daughters; Miss Sue Knight, state veterans chairman; the Rev. Stephen Burdis, pastor of Presentation Catholic Church, Miss Theresa Dillon, Mrs. Angeline Pullion, Mrs. Roberta Strub and Miss Bertha Koscuiszka.

Candles and flowers were used in the decorations. More than 200 attended the buffet dinner in the lyceum. Miss Andrea Torres was in charge of table decorations. Candy favors were used.

The 25 - member Quigley High School Choir sang. Mrs. Anthony Lozzi was pianist.

The CDA will meet Nov. 6 at the lyceum.

Grand Jury Holds Girl In Traffic Death

The Beaver County Grand Jury Monday approved one charge of involuntary manslaughter while dismissing another. The jurors will hear a total of 150 cases.

Miss Nancy K. Stewart of Coraopolis was ordered held for trial on a charge of involuntary manslaughter involving the death of Daniel Mihalic of Baden June 16.

The victim reportedly was hanging onto the outside of a car driven by Miss Stewart when he was brushed against a steel pole. The incident occurred following a motorcycle gang party, according to authorities, who also contend Miss Stewart did not stop following the mishap.

The jury dismissed the involuntary manslaughter charge against Robert Dunham of New Brighton, who was accused in the death of Norma R. Moffett of Harmony RD 1. She was a passenger in his car which was involved in an accident April 17 in New Brighton.

School Board Fills Vacancy For Hancock

NEW CUMBERLAND — The Hancock County Board of Education Monday night approved the appointment of a principal at Weir Junior High, two intern principals at both the Weirton Senior and Junior Highs, two guidance counselors and a primary grade teacher.

Named principal at the Weir Junior High School was John Evancho. Evancho had been serving as acting principal at the Junior High since the beginning of the present term.

Evancho formerly was assistant principal at the Senior High School.

Appointed as intern principals were George Tokash at Weir Senior High School and Carl Fodor at Weir Junior High. Both men will receive a $500 increase for the school year as a result of the advancements.

In asking for approval of the intern principalships, Dr. Vernon Wyland, superintendent, noted the Battelle report suggested that such programs be instituted.

John Grossi was named guidance counselor at Wier Senior High School to replace Tokash, who previously held the post.

Emilio Piccirillo was named guidance counselor for Weir Junior High.

Water Program Plans Discussed

LISBON — County commissioners met Monday with Bloomgren and Nardei Contracting Co., Inc., of Bridgeville, Pa., on the proposed $621,000 St. Clair water system which has been tied up in litigation since July 1967.

Nardei said the firm will honor its bid of $507,031 made last April. The federal government will not release a $240,000 grant for the work until the court case is settled to its satisfaction.

St. Clair residents opposing the system lost an injunction action against the commissioners Oct. 4 when Judge Raymond Buzzard of Common Pleas Court sustained the commissioners' motion to dismiss the petition. The decision was entered Oct. 18. Opponents have 20 days in which to appeal.

The commissioners also decided to give the city of East Liverpool a quit-claim for an easement the county has on land along Armstrong Lane. Arrangements will be worked out with the tax map department of the county auditor's office.

Stephen Burdis, pastor of Presentation Catholic Church, Miss Theresa Dillon, Mrs. Angeline Pullion, Mrs. Roberta Strub and Miss Bertha Koscuiszka.

Candles and flowers were used in the decorations. More than 200 attended the buffet dinner in the lyceum. Miss Andrea Torres was in charge of table decorations. Candy favors were used.

The 25 - member Quigley High School Choir sang. Mrs. Anthony Lozzi was pianist.

The CDA will meet Nov. 6 at the lyceum.

Grand Jury Holds Girl In Traffic Death

The Beaver County Grand Jury Monday approved one charge of involuntary manslaughter while dismissing another. The jurors will hear a total of 150 cases.

Miss Nancy K. Stewart of Coraopolis was ordered held for trial on a charge of involuntary manslaughter involving the death of Daniel Mihalic of Baden June 16.

The victim reportedly was hanging onto the outside of a car driven by Miss Stewart when he was brushed against a steel pole. The incident occurred following a motorcycle gang party, according to authorities, who also contend Miss Stewart did not stop following the mishap.

The jury dismissed the involuntary manslaughter charge against Robert Dunham of New Brighton, who was accused in the death of Norma R. Moffett of Harmony RD 1. She was a passenger in his car which was involved in an accident April 17 in New Brighton.

Long Way Around

DENVER (AP) — A police detective went to the County Jail to get an insurance card used for identification by a prisoner held on a burglary charge. But a sheriff's sergeant at the jail said he couldn't have the card, even as evidence, without a court order. So the detective went to County Judge William Burnett for a search warrant.

Children Head Back To New York

Honeymoon Yacht Kept Tied Up By Bad Weather

ATHENS (AP) — Caroline and John Kennedy headed back to New York and school today, but bad weather still kept their mother's honeymoon yacht tied alongside their new Greek stepfather's island.

The children were expected to leave Athens today for London and possibly spend a day or two there with their mother's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

Where the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis were headed was their secret.

The storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Scorpio Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens Monday. In addition to 10-year-old Caroline and 7-year-old John, the Radziwills also were accompanied by their young son and daughter.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Also among those departing was the U.S. Secret Service man who had accompanied Mrs. Kennedy to Greece but to whose protection she is no longer entitled since her second marriage.

At the Vatican, an official comment was made on the wedding of the Roman Catholic Mrs. Onassis to a divorced member of the Greek Orthodox Church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fausto Vallainc, the Vatican's press spokesman, declared:

"Jacqueline Kennedy has reached the age of reason—that is, to be able to know what she wants. She knew at the moment of her marriage with Onassis what the Catholic Church's law was on marriage with a divorced man."

The church's canon law forbids such marriages for Roman Catholics under penalty of excommunication from the church.

Miss Lydia Harrison Sets Nuptial Saturday

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Lydia (Polly) Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison of Leetonia, and Robert D. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Smith of Guy Rd., Rogers RD 1.

The wedding will take place Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the home of the prospective bridegroom's parents. The Rev. Robert Dyke of East Palestine will officiate in the presence of the immediate families. Open house will follow at 7:30.

The newlyweds will reside at 205 E. Martin St., East Palestine. The bridegroom is employed at the Rogers Feed Mill.

Meyerbeer's opera, "The Huguenots," is rarely performed because it requires such a large cast.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I prevent cream from curdling in coffee?

A.—When the sweetness of cream seems doubtful, stir in a pinch of baking soda, and this will prevent its curdling in your hot coffee.

Q.—How can I clean ebony wood?

A.—Rub with a soft cloth and white petroleum jelly, rubbing until the wood absorbs all the grease and acquires the gloss you're seeking.

Q.—Please suggest a good and easy repair for small holes in linoleum.

A.—A mixture of finely chopped cork and liquid glue usually makes a good filler for these holes.

The DOCTOR Says

There's No Definite Scleroderma Cure

Q—What is the cause, prognosis and treatment of scleroderma morphea?

A—Scleroderma is a chronic disease that may involve any part of the body. When it is limited to the skin, it is sometimes called morphea. The cause is unknown. Although the disease is progressive, there are usually periods of spontaneous remission. Scleroderma is characterized by hardening of the connective tissue in the involved areas and the outlook depends on what organs are affected. If the disease involves the heart, kidneys or other vital organs, the complications are serious.

Dr. Brandstadt

ALTHOUGH THERE is no cure, the use of salicylates for joint pains, skin lubricants for tight skin, diuretics for water-logging and prednisone to reduce inflammation is helpful. Penacillamine has been tried to prevent the progress of the disease but the dosage must be carefully controlled to avoid harmful side effects.

Q—If scleroderma is localized, should tests be made to see whether it is spreading to other parts of the body? Is scleroderma a form of cancer?

A—Anyone who has scleroderma of the skin should have a checkup once or twice a year. Scleroderma is not a form of cancer.

Q—What do doctors mean by tired blood?

A—I doubt that doctors use this expression. You've been listening to too many television commercials.

Q—What are the ingredients of Postum? Does it have any harmful effects?

A—This is a cereal beverage that is recommended for persons who want a hot drink that does not contain caffeine. It would have no harmful effect unless you are allergic to wheat.

Q—I am taking Rautrax for high blood pressure and Zyloprim and Indocin for gout. What side effects do they cause?

A—Rautrax is a combination of reserpine (a transquilizer and blood pressure reducer) with flumethadide (a diuretic). It may cause nausea, abdominal distress, diarrhea or constipation, headache, weakness and dizziness. Zyloprim, a brand of allopurinol, may cause the symptoms mentioned, plus a skin rash. The side effects of indomethacin (Indocin) are similar to those of the other two drugs. All of these powerful drugs should be taken only under close medical supervision.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of The Review. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Ashland County Has First Polio Case In 8 Years

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — The 3-year-old son of an Amish farmer is in the hospital with polio, the first such case in Ashland County in eight years.

Paul Troyer is hospitalized at Akron Childrens Hospital.

Dr. Hiram P. Petty, Ashland city and county health commissioner, said the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Menno J. Troyer, took him to a doctor because both legs became paralyzed during an illness.

The parents, who own a farm west of Ashland, said the youngster had not been innoculated for polio, but they since have consented to have their seven other children innoculated.

Dr. Petty said tests at Samaritan Hospital in Ashland indicated the boy had polio but the State Health Department has not officially diagnosed the disease.

A nurse at Childrens Hospital said the youngster is recovering and in good spirits. She said his legs are no longer paralyzed.

Long Way Around

DENVER (AP) — A police detective went to the County Jail to get an insurance card used for identification by a prisoner held on a burglary charge. But a sheriff's sergeant at the jail said he couldn't have the card, even as evidence, without a court order. So the detective went to County Judge William Burnett for a search warrant.

Children Head Back To New York

Honeymoon Yacht Kept Tied Up By Bad Weather

ATHENS (AP) — Caroline and John Kennedy headed back to New York and school today, but bad weather still kept their mother's honeymoon yacht tied alongside their new Greek stepfather's island.

The children were expected to leave Athens today for London and possibly spend a day or two there with their mother's sister, Princess Lee Radziwill.

Where the newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Aristotle Socrates Onassis were headed was their secret.

The storm that raged through their wedding Sunday on Scorpio Island kept up through Monday and into Tuesday.

The wedding guests flew to Athens Monday. In addition to 10-year-old Caroline and 7-year-old John, the Radziwills also were accompanied by their young son and daughter.

The homeward-bound group also included the only adult members of the Kennedy family who attended the wedding, two of the late President's sisters, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford.

Also among those departing was the U.S. Secret Service man who had accompanied Mrs. Kennedy to Greece but to whose protection she is no longer entitled since her second marriage.

At the Vatican, an official comment was made on the wedding of the Roman Catholic Mrs. Onassis to a divorced member of the Greek Orthodox Church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fausto Vallainc, the Vatican's press spokesman, declared:

"Jacqueline Kennedy has reached the age of reason—that is, to be able to know what she wants. She knew at the moment of her marriage with Onassis what the Catholic Church's law was on marriage with a divorced man."

The church's canon law forbids such marriages for Roman Catholics under penalty of excommunication from the church.

Miss Lydia Harrison Sets Nuptial Saturday

Announcement has been made of the approaching marriage of Miss Lydia (Polly) Harrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Harrison of Leetonia, and Robert D. Smith Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Smith of Guy Rd., Rogers RD 1.

The wedding will take place Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at the home of the prospective bridegroom's parents. The Rev. Robert Dyke of East Palestine will officiate in the presence of the immediate families. Open house will follow at 7:30.

The newlyweds will reside at 205 E. Martin St., East Palestine. The bridegroom is employed at the Rogers Feed Mill.

Meyerbeer's opera, "The Huguenots," is rarely performed because it requires such a large cast.

Board OK's Bond Sale At Beaver Local

The sale of $485,000 in bonds for new construction in Beaver Local School Dstrict was awarded to the Hayden, Miller Co. of Cleveland by the board of education Monday night.

The Cleveland firm's offer was 5.125 per cent interest cost with a premium of $4,559.

Other bidders were The Ohio Co. of Columbus, 5.25 per cent and a premium of $8,100, and Conners & Co. of Cincinnati, 5.375 per cent and a premium of $3,249.50.

Plans for the new classrooms and facilities at the high school, Public School, Calcutta and West Point buildings are being prepared by Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect. It is hoped to have the new additions ready for next fall.

Voters approved the bond issue in a special election in September.

District Group Holds Year's Last Camp-Out

The last 1968 camp-out of the Rainbows End Chapter of the National Campers and Hikers Association was held over the weekend with 26 members comprising seven trailer loads attending the outing at Emmett Ketchum's Lake, Salineville.

A wiener roast and homemade ice cream were features Saturday night. A coverdish dinner was held Sunday. Roy Grimes of Kittering was a guest. Jarts, games and fishing were pastimes.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4 at the Wellsville Boat Club.

The marriage of President John Tyler and Julia Gardiner drew national interest because it was the first time a president had married while in office.

FOUR SUPREME COURT APPOINTMENTS could fall the way of the next president. Chief Justice Earl Warren, 77, has said he was eager to return to private life after a half-century of public service, and although none has indicated publicly any retirement plans, three other justices, because of age or physical impairment, may leave the court during the next administration. Outlined, from the left, are Justices John M. Harlan, 69; Hugo L. Black, 82; Warren and William O. Douglas, 69. Harlan, appointed to the high court in 1955, has bad vision; he needs three law clerks to read to him. Black, appointed in 1937, is the dean of sitting justices. Douglas, on the Court since 1939, has suffered serious heart trouble and now uses an electrical "Pacemaker" device to keep his heartbeat regular. Other members of the Court are William J. Brennan, seated right, and standing from the left, Justices Abe Fortas, Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall.

Board Okays Water Study For Midland

Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., Rochester engineering firm, was authorized to proceed with a study for increased water needs in Midland by the Municipal Authority Monday night.

Enlargement of the Midland filtration plant is necessary to supply additional water to the Midland Division of Crucible Steel Co. and the borough. Crucible notified the authority a month ago that it would require additional water in future years.

At the September meeting, Crucible said it will need 4,200,000 gallons of water a day by 1970. The water plant now produces 4,000,000 gallons a day at full capacity.

The study, to be completed within six months will cost $10,000. It will be broken down into six parts. It will include a review of the basic design, population and growth trends and probable needs of Crucible Steel.

The engineers also will study a required treatment plant addition. The feasibility of the water plant's own raw water intake also will be checked.

The required land needed will be investigated along with the estimated additional cost of financing additonal raw water and the raw water transfer main. Finally, the rate schedule and structure for additional revenue will be investigated.

Methods of financing expanded treatment facilities and expenses of operation also will be included.

The authority authorized engineers to seek bids for chemicals for the coming year. A one-ton 1959 model truck will be advertised for sale.

Bids will be opened in November. Don Craik, manager, said fire hydrants in Midland were flushed and checked last week.

Bills paid included $32,926, water, including $22,000 for raw water received from Crucible; $431, parking, and $1,952, sewage.

Rudy Prsuetti, chairman, presided. The next meeting will be Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Household Scripture

SHAUGH PRIOR, England (AP) —Helping his wife wash the dishes, the Rev. John Byrnell protested, "This isn't a man's job." "Oh, yes it is," his wife retorted, quoting II Kings 21:13, ". . .And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." Describing the incident in his parish magazine, the minister said he was so surprised he dropped the plate.

Sprouse Reiterates Support Of $350 Million Road Issue

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)—Democratic candidate for governor James M. Sprouse has reiterated his support of the proposed $350-million road bond issue to be decided in the general election, terming passage of the bond issue "the state's greatest need."

Sprouse said approval of the issue is critical to the industrial growth of West Virginia.

"The great industrial Northeast is bursting at the seams, looking for some place to go. Give us good roads, good schools — show others that we want to help ourselves — and we can't help becoming the greatest growth area in the country," Sprouse told a Huntington civic group.

Without mentioning his Republican opponent Arch Moore Jr. or Moore's pledge to raise teachers' salaries $1,000 the first year after he's elected without a tax hike, Sprouse said such a proposal is ridiculous.

"I'm not running on a program of increasing taxes but I am saying that if we want improved services, we'll have to pay for them," Sprouse said.

Speaking on the values of political campaigns, Sprouse said they give candidates the opportunity to discuss problems with the people.

But, he said, "I don't believe in a leadership of consensus. The role of leadership is to explain what has to be done, not to serve as a playback of what people want to hear.

"In West Virginia it's very easy to say what is wrong. You could do it four years ago, eight years ago or twenty years ago. I suspect you could do it about as readily in California or New York.

"It's something else again to analyze what should be done. It's something else again to give priorities to needs and to tell people that if they want them they will have to sacrifice for them.

"If the last analysis, it's up to leadership to define the needs and it's up to the people to do something about them," Sprouse said.

Personalities In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Loretta Young and her estranged husband, producer Thomas H.A. Lewis, will divide more than $1 million in assets.

They agreed to the compromise settlement Monday, apparently ending a 10-year court fight involving the J.C.P. Corp., which produced 103 films for "The Loretta Young Show" on television.

Lewis and Miss Young, married in 1940, have lived apart approximately 12 years.

Under terms of the court-approved agreement, each will take title to one of two apartment houses jointly held and each will contribute equally toward payment of $125,000 in corporate taxes owed by J.C.P.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Barry Goldwater replied Monday to she said. "I will not allow him to be in jeopardy."

Mrs. Whitehorn was accompanied by Erik, Robert, 21, and a fourth son, Kalan, 14.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Evelyn Whitehorn has told a draft board that her son Erik, just turned 18 will not register. One son, John, served three years in the Navy and another, Robert, turned in his draft card.

Mrs. Whitehorn, a divorcee of Palo Alto, said Monday that since Erik can neither marry nor own property without her consent, then he cannot be drafted without it.

"As he is still under legal age, I continue to be responsible,"

—:—

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the California Assembly and long a power in Democratic politics, says he is seriously considering running for governor in 1970, when Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is up for re-election.

Unruh, speaking at Fresno State College, said Monday he would resign from the speakership he has held since 1961 "before embarking on such a campaign."

Authorities Set For Any Election Day Disturbance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State authorities say they are prepared for election day disturbances if any occur.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Adj. S. T. Del Corso both said Monday they have heard rumors of possible disturbances by a college campus-oriented group often associated with militancy and demonstrations.

Del Corso said his office will be alerted to the situation but he has no plans to call up National Guardsmen Nov. 5.

A spokesman in Brown's office said one possible demonstrator tactic would be a sit-down in the polls. He said Ohio law permits only five minutes in the booths and a deliberate stall will not be tolerated.

Akron Man Drowns, Body Is Recovered

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—William P. Clement, 49, of Akron drowned early today in Sandusky Bay near here. Firemen recovered the body.

Police said Clement first identified as Robert Clement, lived at 369 White Pond Drive in Akron.

Police said Clement and some friends had been attending a party at the Sandusky Yacht Club and went for a ride in his boat. They were returning to the boat house when Clement fell into the bay, police said.

Nixon's First Leg Of Ohio Blitz

Ohio Political Activity Spotlighted In Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

Political activity in Ohio centered on Cincinnati Monday with appearances by Richard M. Nixon, John J. Gilligan, William B. Saxbe and former president aide Theodore C. Sorenson.

Nixon, on the first leg of a final pre-election blitz of Ohio, said "a vote for Hubert Humphrey is a vote to continue a do-nothing attitude toward the crime crisis in America."

Before some 15,000 persons in Cincinnati Gardens, Nixon called the vice president a man who "refuses to discuss the great issues, turns his back on the present and looks to the past." He also said the new Gallup Poll shows Republicans substantially ahead in the race to the White House.

Nixon was to travel by train to Toledo today, making stops in Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, London, Marion, Deshler and Columbus, where he makes a noon speech at the Statehouse.

Traveling with Nixon is Saxbe, the Republican candidate for U.S. senator.

At the Monday night rally in Cincinnati, Saxbe received praise from Nixon as did Gov. James A. Rhodes and U.S. Reps. Robbert Taft Jr., Donald Clancy and Donald E. Lukens.

On the Democratic side, Sorenson told a Cincinnati news conference that Gilligan should be elected to the Senate as "an extension of the Kennedy legacy."

"In what I think is one of the most important senatorial elections in the country we need unusual talent," Sorenson said, adding, "John Gilligan has it."

Gilligan told a rally at Xavier University today, "money did not build America—the people did. Only the people can destroy her or save her."

He continued, "you and I are the ones whose health is impaired by the filth corrupting our air. You and I are the ones who are concerned with the lack of genuine representation at all levels of government. We can change these things we don't like if we work together."

At Ohio University, former U.S. ambassador to the United Nations George Ball is to speak tonight on U.S. foreign policy. Ball resigned his ambassadorship to campaign for Humphrey.

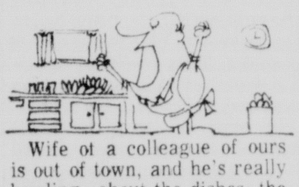

American Independent Party presidential candidate George Wallace is scheduled to speak in Youngstown Wednesday and in Cincinnati Saturday. His running mate, retired Air Force Gen. Curtis LeMay will be in Columbus Friday.

Hancock Schools Set Experiment With TV Viewing

The first in what may eventually become a series of television programs for students in Hancock County schools will be viewed Wednesday morning by children in two buildings at Chester and one in Newell.

A video tape of a gymnastics class in the Dunbar School, Weirton, will be aired at 10:30 on Channel 5 through the C.&S. Cable Television Co. in Chester. John Kraft, director of education television and audio-visual services for county schools, said. It will be shown to grades 1-4 in the Chester Primary and Intermediate Schools and the Jefferson School in Newell.

The half - hour show, which is similar to ones shown during an eight-hour day at the Weirton studio in the high school, may mark the beginning of a local setup to assist the children and teachers of the Northern Panhandle, Kraft said.

"If the show proves very successful, eventually we hope to interconnect (Weirton and this area) to provide daily programs," he said. The Chester cable company is located at 444 Carolina Ave.

Board OK's Bond Sale At Beaver Local

The sale of $485,000 in bonds for new construction in Beaver Local School Dstrict was awarded to the Hayden, Miller Co. of Cleveland by the board of education Monday night.

The Cleveland firm's offer was 5.125 per cent interest cost with a premium of $4,559.

Other bidders were The Ohio Co. of Columbus, 5.25 per cent and a premium of $8,100, and Conners & Co. of Cincinnati, 5.375 per cent and a premium of $3,249.50.

Plans for the new classrooms and facilities at the high school, Public School, Calcutta and West Point buildings are being prepared by Robert Beatty, East Liverpool architect. It is hoped to have the new additions ready for next fall.

Voters approved the bond issue in a special election in September.

District Group Holds Year's Last Camp-Out

The last 1968 camp-out of the Rainbows End Chapter of the National Campers and Hikers Association was held over the weekend with 26 members comprising seven trailer loads attending the outing at Emmett Ketchum's Lake, Salineville.

A wiener roast and homemade ice cream were features Saturday night. A coverdish dinner was held Sunday. Roy Grimes of Kittering was a guest. Jarts, games and fishing were pastimes.

The next meeting will be Nov. 4 at the Wellsville Boat Club.

The marriage of President John Tyler and Julia Gardiner drew national interest because it was the first time a president had married while in office.

FOUR SUPREME COURT APPOINTMENTS could fall the way of the next president. Chief Justice Earl Warren, 77, has said he was eager to return to private life after a half-century of public service, and although none has indicated publicly any retirement plans, three other justices, because of age or physical impairment, may leave the court during the next administration. Outlined, from the left, are Justices John M. Harlan, 69; Hugo L. Black, 82; Warren and William O. Douglas, 69. Harlan, appointed to the high court in 1955, has bad vision; he needs three law clerks to read to him. Black, appointed in 1937, is the dean of sitting justices. Douglas, on the Court since 1939, has suffered serious heart trouble and now uses an electrical "Pacemaker" device to keep his heartbeat regular. Other members of the Court are William J. Brennan, seated right, and standing from the left, Justices Abe Fortas, Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall.

Authorities Set For Any Election Day Disturbance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State authorities say they are prepared for election day disturbances if any occur.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown and Adj. S. T. Del Corso both said Monday they have heard rumors of possible disturbances by a college campus-oriented group often associated with militancy and demonstrations.

Del Corso said his office will be alerted to the situation but he has no plans to call up National Guardsmen Nov. 5.

A spokesman in Brown's office said one possible demonstrator tactic would be a sit-down in the polls. He said Ohio law permits only five minutes in the booths and a deliberate stall will not be tolerated.

Akron Man Drowns, Body Is Recovered

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—William P. Clement, 49, of Akron drowned early today in Sandusky Bay near here. Firemen recovered the body.

Police said Clement, first identified as Robert Clement, lived at 369 White Pond Drive in Akron.

Police said Clement and some friends had been attending a party at the Sandusky Yacht Club and went for a ride in his boat. They were returning to the boat house when Clement fell into the bay, police said.

Nixon's First Leg Of Ohio Blitz

Ohio Political Activity Spotlighted In Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

Political activity in Ohio centered on Cincinnati Monday with appearances by Richard M. Nixon, John J. Gilligan, William B. Saxbe and former president aide Theodore C. Sorenson.

Nixon, on the first leg of a final pre-election blitz of Ohio, said "a vote for Hubert Humphrey is a vote to continue a do-nothing attitude toward the crime crisis in America."

Before some 15,000 persons in Cincinnati Gardens, Nixon called the vice president a man who "refuses to discuss the great issues, turns his back on the present and looks to the past." He also said the new Gallup Poll shows Republicans substantially ahead in the race to the White House.

Nixon was to travel by train to Toledo today, making stops in Middletown, Dayton, Springfield, London, Marion, Deshler and Columbus, where he makes a noon speech at the Statehouse.

Traveling with Nixon is Saxbe, the Republican candidate for U.S. senator.

At the Monday night rally in Cincinnati, Saxbe received praise from Nixon as did Gov. James A. Rhodes and U.S. Reps. Robbert Taft Jr., Donald Clancy and Donald E. Lukens.

On the Democratic side, Sorenson told a Cincinnati news conference that Gilligan should be elected to the Senate as "an extension of the Kennedy legacy."

"In what I think is one of the most important senatorial elections in the country we need unusual talent," Sorenson said, adding, "John Gilligan has it."

Gilligan told a rally at Xavier University today, "money did not build America—the people did. Only the people can destroy her or save her."

He continued, "you and I are the ones whose health is impaired by the filth corrupting our air. You and I are the ones who are concerned with the lack of genuine representation at all levels of government. We can change these things we don't like if we work together."

Board Okays Water Study For Midland

Michael Baker, Jr., Inc., Rochester engineering firm, was authorized to proceed with a study for increased water needs in Midland by the Municipal Authority Monday night.

Enlargement of the Midland filtration plant is necessary to supply additional water to the Midland Division of Crucible Steel Co. and the borough. Crucible notified the authority a month ago that it would require additional water in future years.

At the September meeting, Crucible said it will need 4,200,000 gallons of water a day by 1970. The water plant now produces 4,000,000 gallons a day at full capacity.

The study, to be completed within six months will cost $10,000. It will be broken down into six parts. It will include a review of the basic design, population and growth trends and probable needs of Crucible Steel.

The engineers also will study a required treatment plant addition. The feasibility of the water plant's own raw water intake also will be checked.

The required land needed will be investigated along with the estimated additional cost of financing additonal raw water and the raw water transfer main. Finally, the rate schedule and structure for additional revenue will be investigated.

Methods of financing expanded treatment facilities and expenses of operation also will be included.

The authority authorized engineers to seek bids for chemicals for the coming year. A one-ton 1959 model truck will be advertised for sale.

Bids will be opened in November. Don Craik, manager, said fire hydrants in Midland were flushed and checked last week.

Bills paid included $32,926, water, including $22,000 for raw water received from Crucible; $431, parking, and $1,952, sewage.

Rudy Prsuetti, chairman, presided. The next meeting will be Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Household Scripture

SHAUGH PRIOR, England (AP) —Helping his wife wash the dishes, the Rev. John Byrnell protested, "This isn't a man's job." "Oh, yes it is," his wife retorted, quoting II Kings 21:13, ". . .And I will wipe Jerusalem as a man wipeth a dish, wiping it and turning it upside down." Describing the incident in his parish magazine, the minister said he was so surprised he dropped the plate.

Sprouse Reiterates Support Of $350 Million Road Issue

HUNTINGTON, W.Va. (AP)— Democratic candidate for governor James M. Sprouse has reiterated his support of the proposed $350-million road bond issue to be decided in the general election, terming passage of the bond issue "the state's greatest need."

Sprouse said approval of the issue is critical to the industrial growth of West Virginia.

"The great industrial Northeast is bursting at the seams, looking for some place to go. Give us good roads, good schools — show others that we want to help ourselves — and we can't help becoming the greatest growth area in the country," Sprouse told a Huntington civic group.

Without mentioning his Republican opponent Arch Moore Jr. or Moore's pledge to raise teachers' salaries $1,000 the first year after he's elected without a tax hike, Sprouse said such a proposal is ridiculous.

"I'm not running on a program of increasing taxes but I am saying that if we want improved services, we'll have to pay for them," Sprouse said.

Speaking on the values of political campaigns, Sprouse said they give candidates the opportunity to discuss problems with the people.

But, he said, "I don't believe in a leadership of consensus. The role of leadership is to explain what has to be done, not to serve as a playback of what people want to hear.

"In West Virginia it's very easy to say what is wrong. You could do it four years ago, eight years ago or twenty years ago. I suspect you could do it about as readily in California or New York.

"It's something else again to analyze what should be done. It's something else again to give priorities to needs and to tell people that if they want them they will have to sacrifice for them.

"If the last analysis, it's up to leadership to define the needs and it's up to the people to do something about them," Sprouse said.

Personalities In The News

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Loretta Young and her estranged husband, producer Thomas H.A. Lewis, will divide more than $1 million in assets.

They agreed to the compromise settlement Monday, apparently ending a 10-year court fight involving the J.C.P. Corp., which produced 103 films for "The Loretta Young Show" on television.

Lewis and Miss Young, married in 1940, have lived apart approximately 12 years.

Under terms of the court-approved agreement, each will take title to one of two apartment houses jointly held and each will contribute equally toward payment of $125,000 in corporate taxes owed by J.C.P.

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Jesse M. Unruh, speaker of the California Assembly and long a power in Democratic politics, says he is seriously considering running for governor in 1970, when Republican Gov. Ronald Reagan is up for re-election.

Unruh, speaking at Fresno State College, said Monday he would resign from the speakership he has held since 1961 "before embarking on such a campaign."

Board OK's Offers

IBOP Purchases Former Schools

Purchase of the former Horace Mann and McKinley school buildings by the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters for a total of $3,000 was approved by the board of education Monday night.

The board also discussed planned renovation of the former Taft school building for administrative offices.

The board accepted a $2,000 bid from E. L. Wheatley, president of the IBOP, for the Horace Mann building and a $1,000 offer for the McKinley building.

The board has previously turned over to the city three other former schools for use as neighborhood recreation centers. They included Garfield, Lincoln and Pleasant Heights buildings.

The IBOP purchased the former Central School as a site for a new apartment building for retired persons.

George Ward, board member, asked the other board members if there would be any objection if the city and the BIOP were to exchange the buildings in the East End. He said he believed the city would be better off to have the Horace Mann building for recreation and meeting programs, while Garfield was the building the IBOP wanted in the first place.

The board members indicated they would not object as long as the stipulation as to the use of the buildings be included.

Board president Samuel Brown said he would disqualify himself from voting, because an employee of his represented one of the groups trying to obtain one of the buildings.

The IBOP is considering plans to erect an apartment house on the Horace Mann site, but no definite steps have been taken, George Barbaree, secretary-treasurer, said today in response to a query.

Barbaree said the union is so busy with a proposal for an apartment house on the Central School cite that it has not had time to work on other plans. The union still does not have a clear deed to the Central site, he said.

WILLIAM BLAIR, chairman of the board's building committee, displayed plans for the renovation of the Taft School. Blair said Robert Beatty, architect, may have the cost figures completed on Friday. If the board approves, the work could start the first of next week, he added.

It was explained that the funds for this remodeling are interest money received when the board money for the building program was invested. This money, Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk of the board, explained, had to be used for capital improvements.

The plans approved by the board were the fourth set drawn up by Beatty. Not enough money was available for the first three, it was explained.

She said the interest had amounted to $332,000, invested in savings certificates, but a large amount of the money has been allocated for other uses.

The original administration building project had been estimated at $150,000, but this had been turned down because not enough funds would be available. A cost estimate is expected William Miller, clerk of the Beaver Local School Board, stating the Beaver Local board did not approve a reciprocal trade agreement concerning tuition students and sports.

William Blair, expressed disappointment, and said he does not understand this attitude. No further action was taken.

Approval was granted to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coleman of Stagecoach Rd. for their two children to attend Beaver Local Schools with tuition to be paid for the East Liverpool board of education. School bused at the end of the week.

Supt. Paul Blair told the board that the need for substitute teachers for high school and junior high school is acute. "There are none available," he said adding that, "absences have been high, due to flu and other causes." Anyone living in or near the city who would be interested in teaching may notify Blair or Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini.

IN OTHER business, the board approved rental of Patterson Field on Nov. 2 from 6 to 10 p.m. for a Little League championship game and rental of Westgate Auditorium to the Sweet Adelines, Inc., for a commercial event on Nov. 9 with a dress rehearsal on Nov. 7.

Miss Leibschner announced that a $12,075 reimbursement had been received from the state toward the purchase of school buses, and the board approved the money be put in the bus purchase fund.

A letter was received from transportation is not provided in this area.

THE BOARD granted the approval of a high school diploma for William H. Johnson of P. O. Box 519.

Staff appointments approved were Mrs. Pauline Warrick of 1753 Wooster Ave., cashier for North Elementary cafeteria; David Huffman of 1023 Edgewood Ave., school bus driver; Randall Stover of Dixon Blvd., a high school teacher and basketball coach for East Junior High School, and Mike DiPasquale of Bradshaw Ave., ROTC assistant.

Supt. Paul Blair explained DiPasquale will be entering the service in January, but an enlisted man had not been found and DiPasquale would work until one could be found or until he had to leave.

A leave of absence effective Oct. 28 until the end of the first semester for health reasons was granted to Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett of 516½ Jackson St.

Supt. Blair announced that the Heaf TB testing had been given to 1,147 at the high school and North Elementary, and to 1,151 at East Junior High School, East Elementary, St. Aloysius and LaCroft. The tests are to be given at Westgate Tuesday.

QUEEN CROWNED. Wini Cloran, right, was crowned Beaver Local High School homecoming queen Saturday night by Carol Weber, 1967 queen. The full crown, a gift of the junior class, will be presented annually, with a tiara memento to be kept by each queen.

150 Injured Across Nation

Jap Students Arrested In Wild Anti-War Riots

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 1,000 students were arrested and at least 150 injured in a wild nationwide series of antiwar riots and demonstrations Monday.

A four-hour rampage at Tokyo's Shinjuku railway station was one of the city's worst riots in years and authorities invoked an antiriot law for the first time is 16 years. The law provides for imprisonment from six months to 10 years.

The major labor unions claimed 800,000 persons took part in some 669 demonstrations across Javan. It was the unions' third Antiwar Day observance.

Police said at least 757 students had been arrested in Tokyo, while lesser disturbances resulted in the arrest of 93 in Osaka, 31 in Fukuoka, 18 in Aichi and 12 in Hokkaido.

Much of Tokyo's Shinuku station was a shambles after 6,000 students attacked it. The station is a key link between suburban and central lines, and thousands of commuters were delayed as workers tried to clear away debris and get trains moving again. The first morning train was delaved four hours.

The students used heavy logs to batter down 10-foot-high steel walls that police had put up around the station Sunday to protect it.

A bus was burned in front of the station, and the huge plaza was filled with helmeted students carrying red, yellow and purple flags and by spectators booing or encouraging the students.

An American Buddhist priest, Brian Victoria, 28, of Omaha, Neb., said he burned his U.S. Air Force discharge papers in front of the station as a protest against "U.S. support of reactionary goversments."

Some 3,000 riot police fired tear gas at the rock-throwing.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato issued a statement backing the police and promising that the government would deal harshly with such riots in the future.

The students said they attacked the station to obstruct the shipment of aviation fuel and other supplies for the U.S. Air Force bases at Yokota and Tachikawa.

Some 1,200 students also attacked the headquarters of the Japanese Defense Agency but were repelled by riot police using tear gas and high pressure water hoses.

Another 100 students briefly broke into the parliament grounds, and several bystanders were bursed by sulfuric acid thrown by a student.

About 500 students were beaten back by police as they tried to invade the U.S. Embassy.

Fund Projects Aired By Community Group

Tentative plans for fund-raising projects were discussed during a meeting of the Community Civic Group of Hookstown and Greene Township Monday night.

Mrs. Howard Narry, Mrs. Mildred Wright and Dick Chambers, president, will obtain information on promoton of a wrestling match, a variety show and a home products sale.

The group will complete a house - to - house membership campaign launched in the spring. Bills totaling $70 were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hookstown borough building.

Not all pirates were men. The widow of a Chinese pirate named Ching took over her husband's fleet and harassed the China coasts in the 1800s. At the height of her power, Madame Ching commanded 500 junks. She eventually obtained a government pardon and settled down to smuggling.

Council Gets Report

More Study Due In Repair Of Jail

Council agreed Monday night to continue its study of the need of repairs at the city jail as a result of criticism leveled by the Health Board in mid-September and renewed last week.

The action was taken after Council received a written report which declared, in effect, that conditions at the jail are not as bad as they have been pictured. The report was written by Councilman Robert W. Sample, based on an inspection of the jail made by councilmen on Oct. 12.

Council decided it will continue to work with Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to decide what repairs are possible, based on available funds, with particular emphasis on providing a shower for prisoners and replacing some broken windows.

Sample's report said that at the time of Council's inspection "the toilets all flushed and the washbowls were in use. . ." It said that broken windows had been replaced in the past, but then broken again "by outside vandalism."

—:—

"REGARDLESS of certain statements, the jail has been painted several times in the past and the walls have been scrubbed also," the report said. "The jail is swept and mopped every day and disinfected every other day."

"The jail is not a hotel or a motel," the report continued. "Some of the locks are not perfect, but this is not a health hazard. The meals are a lot better than the publicity would indicate."

"Why the worry about city jail?" the report concluded. "Ninety-five per cent of the people who get in there are only there for three or four days. If you behave OK, you have no need to worry."

Commenting on the lack of shower facilities, as a result of vandalism by unruly prisoners, Sample said: "I took a bath out of a GI helmet many times during World War II. Anybody who really wants to take a bath with limited facilities can certainly do so."

"We are going to try to do what we can with what little money is available," Sample commented. "We hope to put in a shower at least. The other sanitary facilities seem all right." He also indicated Council will seek to have broken windows replaced before the advent of cold weather.

THE HEALTH BOARD mentioned a long series of alleged defects in its criticism of the jail, including the lack of shower facilities, a need for cleaning and painting and the need to replace broken windows.

Paul Zehnder, a member of the Health Board, was questioned last night about the bathing facilities at present. He said the prisoners use a "small plastic bucket" to catch water from a spigot. Then one man dumps the water on another for an improvised "shower," he said.

In other business, two bills against the city were referred to the claims committee.

Andrew J. Moon of 238 W. 5th St. asked for $129 for injuries he allegedly received Sept. 16 when he fell on a broken storm sewer near Florence St. Donald Charlton of 439 Morton St. filed a claim for $54.55 for damage to his auto Sept. 21 when it scraped a low spot in pavement on St. Clair Ave. at Ogden St.

THE STREET committee was given a letter from Mrs. Daniel Barton of Holliday St., on behalf of the Oakland Free Methodist Church, asking installation of a street light at Wedgewood and Etruria Sts. The planning committee was given a letter from Mrs. Florence Davis of Fairview St. suggesting that the city require licenses for cats, as the county does for dogs, and that owners be required to keep felines confined.

The street committee was given a letter from County Engineer John Ursu explaining that a preliminary engineering study for improvements on Shadyside Ave. would cost an estimated $1,800. The county has agreed to pay $900 of the cost. Ursu said the preliminary field work will proceed as soon as the city indicates it is ready to pay its half of the cost.

Council received a letter from the Ohio Health Department reminding that household downspouts and cellar drains should not be permitted to flow into sanitary sewer lines, as the sewage treatment plant is "overloaded" as a result during heavy rains. The city already has legislation which forbids connecting surface water drains to storm sewers. The letter was referred to Planning Coordinator Don Eckert to check with Engineer George Bloomgren.

COUNCILMAN Donal I. Burcham thanked the street department for "a wonderful job" in installing concrete pavement beneath the Ralston's Crossing underpass, which connects State St. and the River Rd. He also asked that a letter be sent to the Chamber of Commerce requesting that two refuse cans be placed on Mulberry St.

Sample reported the planning committee met with various department heads about job appointments and "all agreed that every applicant will be given equal consideration for any appointment."

"But there are no jobs open and no one can be appointed unless legislation is set up by Council," Sample reported. "And there is a shortage of funds, even if jobs were set up," he added.

His report evidently was in reply to a request made two weeks ago by Citizens for Total Action asking that Negroes be appointed to City Hall jobs.

Councilman Frank Duffy reported a complaint that heavy trucks of the S. H. Bell Co. of Klondyke have broken brick gutters on Walters St. and Holliday St. The trucks also have damaged pavement in spots, he added.

"When the trucks cause damage, the owner should be required to pay for it," Duffy said. "The streets should be maintained properly."

The meeting opened with invocation by Burcham, Councilman Floyd Murray and Ed Massey were excused.

A new circle is being organized for girls out of high school and young mothers and the first meeting is set Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. at the East Fairfield Methodist Church.

The session will get underway with a luncheon. Adele Zeitler will present the program. Baby-sitters will be provided.

The MYF of the Methodist Church held a bowling party recently at Arrowhead Lake, near Columbiana. Councilors who accompanied the group were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dillon of East Fairfield.

Mrs. Bertha Esenwein and Cecil A. Crothers, both of East Fairfield, were married Oct. 19 at the United Methodist Church parsonage in Clyde, Ohio.

The Rev. Mark George officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Crook of East Fairfield were the attendants. The couple will be home after Nov. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herdner returned recently from a trip to Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Cope and family spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alva Cope of Findlay.

Among guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Schmidt on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hiltabidble of Amherst and Mrs. Ophelia Conrad of Uniontown.

Andrea Del Sarto's famous painting, "Madonna of the Harpies," takes its name from the six figures, called harpies, which adorn the corners of the pedestal.

Board OK's Offers

IBOP Purchases Former Schools

Purchase of the former Horace Mann and McKinley school buildings by the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters for a total of $3,000 was approved by the board of education Monday night.

The board also discussed planned renovation of the former Taft school building for administrative offices.

The board accepted a $2,000 bid from E. L. Wheatley, president of the IBOP, for the Horace Mann building and a $1,000 offer for the McKinley building.

The board has previously turned over to the city three other former schools for use as neighborhood recreation centers. They included Garfield, Lincoln and Pleasant Heights buildings.

The IBOP purchased the former Central School as a site for a new apartment building for retired persons.

George Ward, board member, asked the other board members if there would be any objection if the city and the BIOP were to exchange the buildings in the East End. He said he believed the city would be better off to have the Horace Mann building for recreation and meeting programs, while Garfield was the building the IBOP wanted in the first place.

The board members indicated they would not object as long as the stipulation as to the use of the buildings be included.

Board president Samuel Brown said he would disqualify himself from voting, because an employee of his represented one of the groups trying to obtain one of the buildings.

The IBOP is considering plans to erect an apartment house on the Horace Mann site, but no definite steps have been taken, George Barbaree, secretary-treasurer, said today in response to a query.

Barbaree said the union is so busy with a proposal for an apartment house on the Central School cite that it has not had time to work on other plans. The union still does not have a clear deed to the Central site, he said.

WILLIAM BLAIR, chairman of the board's building committee, displayed plans for the renovation of the Taft School. Blair said Robert Beatty, architect, may have the cost figures completed on Friday. If the board approves, the work could start the first of next week, he added.

It was explained that the funds for this remodeling are interest money received when the board money for the building program was invested. This money, Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk of the board, explained, had to be used for capital improvements.

The plans approved by the board were the fourth set drawn up by Beatty. Not enough money was available for the first three, it was explained.

She said the interest had amounted to $332,000, invested in savings certificates, but a large amount of the money has been allocated for other uses.

The original administration building project had been estimated at $150,000, but this had been turned down because not enough funds would be available. A cost estimate is expect-William Miller, clerk of the Beaver Local School Board, stating the Beaver Local board did not approve a reciprocal trade agreement concerning tuition students and sports.

William Blair, expressed disappointment, and said he does not understand this attitude. No further action was taken.

Approval was granted to Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Coleman of Stagecoach Rd. for their two children to attend Beaver Local Schools with tuition to be paid for the East Liverpool board of education. School bus ed at the end of the week.

Supt. Paul Blair told the board that the need for substitute teachers for high school and junior high school is acute. "There are none available," he said adding that, "absences have been high, due to flu and other causes." Anyone living in or near the city who would be interested in teaching may notify Blair or Assistant Supt. Carl Pelini.

IN OTHER business, the board approved rental of Patterson Field on Nov. 2 from 6 to 10 p.m. for a Little League championship game and rental of Westgate Auditorium to the Sweet Adelines, Inc., for a commercial event on Nov. 9 with a dress rehearsal on Nov. 7.

Miss Leibschner announced that a $12,075 reimbursement had been received from the state toward the purchase of school buses, and the board approved the money be put in the bus purchase fund.

A letter was received from transportation is not provided in this area.

THE BOARD granted the approval of a high school diploma for William H. Johnson of P. O. Box 519.

Staff appointments approved were Mrs. Pauline Warrick of 1753 Wooster Ave., cashier for North Elementary cafeteria; David Huffman of 1023 Edgewood Ave., school bus driver; Randall Stover of Dixon Blvd., a high school teacher and basketball coach for East Junior High School, and Mike DiPasquale of Bradshaw Ave., ROTC assistant.

Supt. Paul Blair explained DiPasquale will be entering the service in January, but an enlisted man had not been found and DiPasquale would work until one could be found or until he had to leave.

A leave of absence effective Oct. 28 until the end of the first semester for health reasons was granted to Miss Eleanor Jane Bennett of 516½ Jackson St.

Supt. Blair announced that the Heaf TB testing had been given to 1,147 at the high school and North Elementary, and to 1,151 at East Junior High School, East Elementary, St. Aloysius and LaCroft. The tests are to be given at Westgate Tuesday.

QUEEN CROWNED. Wini Cloran, right, was crowned Beaver Local High School homecoming queen Saturday night by Carol Weber, 1967 queen. The full crown, a gift of the junior class, will be presented annually, with a tiara memento to be kept by each queen.

150 Injured Across Nation

Jap Students Arrested In Wild Anti-War Riots

TOKYO (AP) — Nearly 1,000 students were arrested and at least 150 injured in a wild nationwide series of antiwar riots and demonstrations Monday.

A four-hour rampage at Tokyo's Shinjuku railway station was one of the city's worst riots in years and authorities invoked an antiriot law for the first time is 16 years. The law provides for imprisonment from six months to 10 years.

The major labor unions claimed 800,000 persons took part in some 600 demonstrations across Javan. It was the unions' third Antiwar Day observance.

Police said at least 757 students had been arrested in Tokyo, while lesser disturbances resulted in the arrest of 93 in Osaka, 31 in Fukuoka, 18 in Aichi and 12 in Hokkaido.

Much of Tokyo's Shinuku station was a shambles after 6,000 students attacked it. The station is a key link between suburban and central lines, and thousands of commuters were delayed as workers tried to clear away debris and get trains moving again. The first morning train was delayed four hours.

The students used heavy logs to batter down 10-foot-high steel walls that police had put up around the station Sunday to protect it.

A bus was burned in front of the station, and the huge plaza was filled with helmeted students carrying red, yellow and purple flags and by spectators booing or encouraging the students.

An American Buddhist priest, Brian Victoria, 28, of Omaha, Neb., said he burned his U.S. Air Force discharge papers in front of the station as a protest against "U.S. support of reactionary goversments."

Some 3,000 riot police fired tear gas at the rock-throwing.

Prime Minister Eisaku Sato issued a statement backing the police and promising that the government would deal harshly with such riots in the future.

The students said they attacked the station to obstruct the shipment of aviation fuel and other supplies for the U.S. Air Force bases at Yokota and Tachikawa.

Some 1,200 students also attacked the headquarters of the Japanese Defense Agency but were repelled by riot police using tear gas and high pressure water hoses.

Another 100 students briefly broke into the parliament grounds, and several bystanders were bursed by sulfuric acid thrown by a student.

About 500 students were beaten back by police as they tried to invade the U.S. Embassy.

Fund Projects Aired By Community Group

Tentative plans for fund-raising projects were discussed during a meeting of the Community Civic Group of Hookstown and Greene Township Monday night.

Mrs. Howard Narry, Mrs. Mildred Wright and Dick Chambers, president, will obtain information on promoton of a wrestling match, a variety show and a home products sale.

The group will complete a house - to - house membership campaign launched in the spring. Bills totaling $70 were ordered paid.

The next meeting will be Nov. 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Hookstown borough building.

Not all pirates were men. The widow of a Chinese pirate named Ching took over her husband's fleet and harassed the China coasts in the 1800s. At the height of her power, Madame Ching commanded 500 junks. She eventually obtained a government pardon and settled down to smuggling.

Council Gets Report

More Study Due In Repair Of Jail

Council agreed Monday night to continue its study of the need of repairs at the city jail as a result of criticism leveled by the Health Board in mid-September and renewed last week.

The action was taken after Council received a written report which declared, in effect, that conditions at the jail are not as bad as they have been pictured. The report was written by Councilman Robert W. Sample, based on an inspection of the jail made by councilmen on Oct. 12.

Council decided it will continue to work with Safety - Service Director Robert E. Vodrey to decide what repairs are possible, based on available funds, with particular emphasis on providing a shower for prisoners and replacing some broken windows.

Sample's report said that at the time of Council's inspection "the toilets all flushed and the washbowls were in use. . ." It said that broken windows had been replaced in the past, but then broken again "by outside vandalism."

—:—

"REGARDLESS of certain statements, the jail has been painted several times in the past and the walls have been scrubbed also," the report said. "The jail is swept and mopped every day and disinfected every other day."

"The jail is not a hotel or a motel," the report continued. "Some of the locks are not perfect, but this is not a health hazard. The meals are a lot better than the publicity would indicate."

"Why the worry about city jail?" the report concluded. "Ninety-five per cent of the people who get in there are only there for three or four days. If you behave OK, you have no need to worry."

Commenting on the lack of shower facilities, as a result of vandalism by unruly prisoners, Sample said: "I took a bath out of a GI helmet many times during World War II. Anybody who really wants to take a bath with limited facilities can certainly do so."

"We are going to try to do what we can with what little money is available," Sample commented. "We hope to put in a shower at least. The other sanitary facilities seem all right." He also indicated Council will seek to have broken windows replaced before the advent of cold weather.

Stokes-Lucas Battle Flares For Congress

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Louis Stokes and Charles P. Lucas fought together all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court to open the way for election of Ohio's first Negro congressman.

They fought separately through the May primary elections and now, short of money and working door - to - door, they're battling each other to represent the 21st Congressional District.

Stokes, 43, a Democrat, is the brother of Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes. Lucas, a 56-year-old Republican, is a former Cleveland Transit Board member.

Close friends and active civil rights workers, their battlefield lies on Cleveland's largely Negro East Side. Both say a desperate shortage of funds has confined them to door-to-door canvassing.

"I guess by the time this is all over we'll have walked miles," Lucas said. "I seem to be pounding the streets every night. It is the only way to try to get the message across."

Stokes, who leaned heavily on his brother's name and popularity in the May primary when he used the slogan: "A different Stokes for the same folks," is trying to establish himself as his own man.

"I'm not my brother's keeper," he said. "I think people are finally realizing I'm a person in my own right. I am not stressing the Stokes name. We are fighting this campaign on the issues not personalities."

However, Lucas who has a long record of public service, says campaigning against a Stokes in the predominantly Negro district is "tough, real tough."

It was Lucas who was the plaintiff in a U.S. Supreme Court case which evenutally led to the Ohio Legislature realigning the state's congressional districts last Jasuary. Stokes was his lawyer.

"We based our case on the fact that the district was so arranged it was impossible for a Negro to be elected to congress," Lucas explained.

Lucas who holds an M.A. degree from the University of Kansas, was a school principal in Cadiz before becoming executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Cleveland in 1945. He held that post ustil 1954 when he was chosen to represent the 21st district on the Ohio State Board of Education.

His campaign is carefully detailed. A 10-point program gives his views on the major issues and he stresses the need for a bombing halt as a start to ending the Vietnam war.

"I think Vietnam is the main issue in this campaign," he said. "Whatever people say about law and order when you really get down to it most voters are more concerned about Vietnam and when it will end."

Stokes, however, stresses the law and order issue, saying that it is not a new issue, just an old one garbed in a different name.

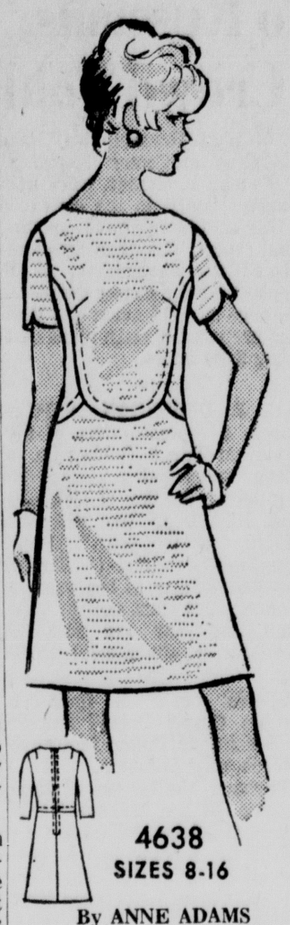

"It wasn't called law and order when Gov. George Wallace stood in a school door to keep little black children from going inside," Stokes says. "Nor was it called law and order when Medgar Evans was murdered and little black children were killed when a church was bombed. Now suddenly it is called law and order."

Both campaign in white areas of the district and say they are well received.

Stokes, an attorney, handled part of his brother's 1967 campaign.

One of the many workers for Carl Stokes' campaign was Lucas.

Midland Housing Survey Launched By State Group

Representatives of the Pennsylvania Health Department Monday started a housing survey in Midland. It will continue through Friday.

The survey will be conducted in an area between Virginia Ave. and Midland Ave., extending from 5th St. to the western borough line.

The results will be compared with recognized standards to determine the borough's needs. The survey must be completed before a community an apply for state or federal aid for housing for low income families.

Midland Council had asked the state agency to make the check. Representatives will have a letter of identification and will inspect each home for room size, wiring, plumbing, general condition and other features.

Members of the Midland Branch of the NAACP had asked Council to apply for federal aid for housing. This is one of the first steps that must be taken.

Meat Cutters Plan Vote On New Pact

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Meat cutters in Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Lake and Lorain counties were to vote today on a new contract proposal covering 3,200 supermarket employes.

Members of Meat Cutters Union Local 427 had threatened to strike today but were ordered to report for work pending the contract vote.

The proposed agreement was worked out in an all-day session Sunday with the Cleveland Food Industry Committee.

Terms were not disclosed.

Clark Claims Agency Marks New Criminal Justice Era

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, charged by Republicans with being lax on law and order, says the beginning operation of a federal agency marks a "new era in criminal justice."

Clark, commenting Monday at the swearing in of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration's top three officials, predicted swift growth for the agency from a $63-million start to a billion-dollar operation.

"This ceremony marks the beginning of a new era in criminal justice," Clark said. "It is the major opportunity of this century to fully professionalize law enforcement, modernize the judiciary and provide improvements in the corrections field."

The agency, set up under the omnibus crime control bill passed by Congress in June, also will channel funds to local and state law enforcers to train and equip personnel and upgrade salaries.

Chief Justice Earl Warren of the Supreme Court officiated at the ceremony outside Clark's office at which agency's administrator Patrick V. Murphy and associate administrators Wesley A. Pomeroy and Dr. Ralph G. H. Siu, took the oaths of office.

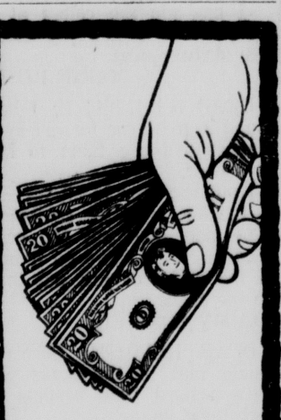

The three men were given interim appointments by President Johnson after the Senate Judiciary Committee failed to act on their nominations.

Introducing the three new agency officials, the attorney general said their appointment "brings proven ability, immense knowledge ... and progressive leadership to bear on the challenge of crime in America."

Murphy is former director of public safety in the District of Columbia. Pomeroy was a special assistant to Clark while Siu, a Hawaii scientist, is a former official in the U.S. Army Materiel Command.

Church Of Idaho Pressed In New U.S. Senate Bid

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — An Idaho Democrat generally classified among the doves on Vietnam is in a tight fight to retain his seat in the U.S. Senate.

But Sen. Frank Church, at age 44 seeking his third six-year term, is seen as the likely winner over his Republican challenger, Rep. George V. Hansen.

Hansen, 38, gave up what most political observers regarded as certain re-election to Congress to challenge Church.

In contrast to Church's dovish label, Hansen generally is rated a hawk on Vietnam.

However, both Church and Hansen say it was a mistake to send American troops to Vietnam in the first place.

Hansen criticizes conduct of the war now, asserting that this nation has set up sanctuaries which threaten the security of American troops in Vietnam. He says military commanders should be free to use all the facilities they have against whatever targets they wish.

Church says he favors gradual withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam, with the task of fighting North Vietnam

Church says his concern over foreign policy goes beyond Vietnam.

"I do not propose swinging the pendulum back to ostrich-like isolationism," he says.

"Rather, we should seek out the rational middle ground, where the limits of our intervention abroad correspond more closely with the limits of our resources, and where we reserve direct military measures for those occasions that clearly pose an actual threat to the security of the American people."

Church was elected to the Senate at age 32. He was the first Democratic senator in Idaho's history to win re-election to a second term.

He is an attorney and practiced law in Boise prior to his election to the Senate.

Hansen has served two terms in the House. He was in the insurance business in Pocatello prior to his election.

Church was the object of a short-lived recall movement in 1967. There has been no mention of it in the election campaign.

One of those active in that effort was Joseph Stumph Jr. of Twin Falls, now the Idaho state chairman of George Wallace's American Independent Party.

At its organizing convention, the AIP did not nominate a candidate for senator, but endorsed Hansen. Hansen says he welcomes the AIP support as long as there are no strings attached. He says there are none.

A poll of political writers of seven Idaho daily newspapers a month before the election showed all but one think Church will win. That one gave Hansen 52 per cent of the vote to 48 per cent for Church.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Something New In Salad

DEAR FOLKS: Here's something different for your salads.

Sometime when you cook spaghetti, save a little bit. Drain it well, put it in a fruit jar and set aside.

Heloise

Then just squeeze the juice of two lemons into a small bowl. (To get the most juice out of a lemon, remember to roll it with your hands on the edge of your drainboard, and then cut it. This will break up the little piths and you'll get nearly twice as much juice.)

Now don't throw the rinds away yet. We are going to use them to make something you may never have heard of before.

Cut them in slivers and twist the peel and put into the juice. You can actually smell the aroma from the oil in the peel when you twist it. Stir well and strain through tea strainer to remove the seeds, pulp and rind. Add six drops of yellow food coloring and one tablespoon of salad oil.

Now back to the spaghetti.

All you have to do is pour that gorgeous lemon juice over the spaghetti in the fruit jar and put in your refrigerator to marinate. Shake from time to time and before using.

You have no idea how this tangy spaghetti livens up a salad! It may be either cut up or left lon, then tossed in or draped over your lettuce and tomato salads.

Gee, it sure makes it different.

HELOISE.

'Don't Talk To Russians,' Farm Dinner Crowd Told

HANOVERTON — The United States should not negotiate with Russia at this time, Kenneth Chamberlain of Standard Bonded Coatings, Inc., Leetonia, told a group of Columbiana County farm people Saturday night at United school.

Approximately 150 landowners attended the annual dinner meeting of the Columbiana Soil and Water Conservation District. United Band Boosters served the meal.

"Negotiation would weaken our position," declared the industrialist who has traveled around the world several times setting up synthetic rubber plants.

HE SPOKE admiringly of Finland, where he set up a plant in 1948. "The spirit of the Finns was most remarkable after 10 years of war with Russia," he said.

Finland has paid all her debts to the United States — the only country to do so — "not only in full but with interest," Chamberlain said.

In addition, he said, the little nation of 4,000,000 people paid Russian - ordered war reparations of $355,000,000 two years ahead of schedule.

Paul Zehentbauer of Hanoverton RD 1 and Dawson Irey of Lisbon RD 4 were reelected to the SWCD board of supervisors. Zehentbauer, chairman of the board, was master of ceremonies. Other candidates for the two seats were Robert Herold of Knox Township, Leo Davis of West Township and Harold Gray of Center Township.

Herman L. Reuter, work unit conservationist in the district's office at Lisbon, gave the annual report. The supervisors accepted the applications of 67 landowners for conservation assistance on 6,405 acres this year and prepared 40 farm plans covering 3,644 acres.

—:—

E. J. DEENIHAN of Pittsburgh, a representative of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. of Akron, presented a plaque citing Albert Hartley of Columbiana RD 2 as the district's "farmer of the year." Deenihan then presented to Herold, the 1967 farmer of the year, a plaque which went astray in the mail last year and was not available at the annual meeting.

Special music was furnished by the Gospel Herald Singers of Beechwood United Methodist Church near Alliance.

Barbara McPherson of Hanoverton RD 1, a junior at Southern High School, thanked the SWCD for sending her to conservation camp last summer. The district also sponsored Mike Bardo of Salem RD, a senior at West Branch high school, at the camp.

Student Enters Innocent Plea In Narcotics Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Albert L. Lederer, 22, pleaded innocent before Hamilton County Municipal Court Judge Bernard Gilday Jr. Monday of two charges arising from one of the largest narcotics hauls in the city's history.

Bond on the psychology student at the University of Cincinnati was reduced from $25,000 to $5,000—largely because an investigation showed no previous arrest record.

Charges of narcotics possession and possession for sale were lodged against Lederer shortly after he was found removing 62 two-pound packets of marijuana—valued at more than $250,000—from a large statue of an animal inside a closed van truck, officers said.

Patrolmen said they made the discovery Sept. 26 when they investigated noises coming from the rear of the truck parked in Mount Storm Park.

Firm Will Finance Single Family Homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dollar Federal Savings and Loan Association here said Monday it has earmarked $5 million to finance single family homes for low income persons.

The firm will receive federal backing on loans which normally would be turned down because they were too risky. Loans will be available for up to $13,000 at 6¾ per cent interest over 30 years.

Indians Order White Hunters Off Reservation In Nevada

WINNEMUCCA, Nev. (AP) — Shoshone Indians, in full war paint and carrying rifles, are creeping up on white hunters and ordering them off the reservation.

"They looked up and saw us, and that was enough," said John Pope, an Indian also known as "Rolling Thunder," as he described one "raid" Monday. "One man's mouth was moving but nothing came out. I gave them 11 minutes to get off the reservation. They made it."

Pope, a spokesman for the Shoshones, claimed the white hunters "are wasting deer while our people go hungry."

The Shoshones, led by Chief Frank Temoke, began the scare technique last week. Pope said five groups of white hunters have been run off the reservation—in the Ruby Valley near Elko.

Pope was here with Stanley Smart, an Indian convicted Oct. 11 and fined $100 for hunting and possession of deer out of season.

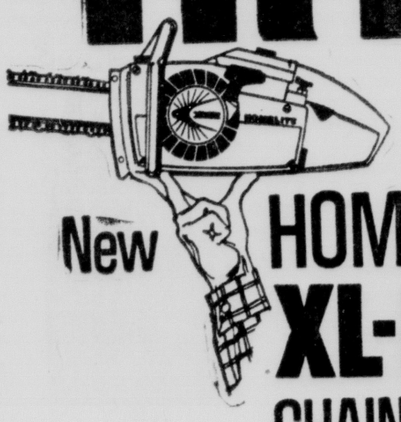

Smart filed an appeal Monday, contending that as an Indian he has the right to hunt regardless of seasons set by the white man, on or off the reservation. State game protectors said Smart was not on the reservation when arrested.

Pope said the Indians intend to keep white hunters off the reservation. He declined to say how many Indians were in the "scare party," but said their rifles were unloaded.

"We intend to close all of the eastern Nevada reservation land to white hunters and fishermen," said Pope. "We're not making threats to anyone. We believe in law and we believe in justice. We only want to gather food for our people."

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Something New In Salad

DEAR FOLKS: Here's something different for your salads.

Sometime when you cook spaghetti, save a little bit. Drain it well, put it in a fruit jar and set aside.

Heloise

Then just squeeze the juice of two lemons into a small bowl. (To get the most juice out of a lemon, remember to roll it with your hands on the edge of your drainboard, and then cut it. This will break up the little piths and you'll get nearly twice as much juice.)

Now don't throw the rinds away yet. We are going to use them to make something you may never have heard of before.

Cut them in slivers and twist the peel and put into the juice. You can actually smell the aroma from the oil in the peel when you twist it. Stir well and strain through tea strainer to remove the seeds, pulp and rind. Add six drops of yellow food coloring and one tablespoon of salad oil.

Now back to the spaghetti.

All you have to do is pour that gorgeous lemon juice over the spaghetti in the fruit jar and put in your refrigerator to marinate. Shake from time to time and before using.

You have no idea how this tangy spaghetti livens up a salad! It may be either cut up or left lon, then tossed in or draped over your lettuce and tomato salads.

Gee, it sure makes it different.

HELOISE.

Brown Breaks Tie

Policies Adopted To Guide PTA's

Policies and guiding principles for Parent - Teacher Associations in the East Liverpool School District were accepted by the board of education by a 3-2 vote at the meeting Monday night.

These policies were presented at the Oct. 7 meeting and then tabled until a meeting could be held with the principals to review them. At that time, Thomas Rodfong, vice president of the board, said he was not satisfied with some of the rulings and wanted to discuss them further.

At Monday's meeting, a discussion was held again on two items: 1. Elimination of carnivals and bazaars, and 2. all matters pertaining to parties, treats, and trips will be left to the discretion of the principal and the staff.

—:—

RODFONG said in the discussion with the principals he found they were not against carnivals and bazaars as such, but believed they should be held in the multi-purpose rooms only. Rodfong questioned whether or not this would be enough room, and suggested some classrooms in addition.

As to the parties and treats, Rodfong said he felt this policy should be decided by the board so that all rooms either would have parties or none have them.

However after much discussion George Wade made a motion to accept the policy as written. The motion was seconded by Harry McConville. Rodfong and William Blair voted "no." Samuel Brown, board president, broke the tie by voting "yes" and the policy was adopted.

The policy reads: "One. The principles of conduct that parent-teacher groups must follow if the organization is to survive and prosper are: (A) The basic policies shall be educational. (B) The basic policies shall be noncommercial, nonsectarian, and nonpartisan. (C) The basic policies shall not seek to direct the administrative activities of the schools or to control their policites.

"Two: The program committee should make an effort to see that all members have an opportunity to take part in the program of the association. A participating membership is an interested membership, and interest promotes the action that is necessary for carrying out the total parent-teacher program.

"THE TEACHER and parents share an interest in the welfare of the child and in all endeavors to promote that welfare. The teacher may be expected to participate in the work of the association in the following capacities: (A) as a partner in shaping and planning the work of the association, (B) as an advisor in the educational aspects of the work, (C) as a source of reliable information about the needs of students, (D) as a resource person or consultant in the field of child guidance and development, assisting parents to understand children and their needs, and (E) as a confidant, no parent-teacher conferences about children should be scheduled for regular parent-teacher meetings.

"The teacher should not be expected to: (A) Spend actual classroom time in the preparation of the parent - teacher program, train and rehearse children to take part in parent - teacher programs. Children participating before an audience can be handled in a variety of ways without appearing on PTA programs.

"Three: Associations should recognize the authority of the principal to make decisions in the school involving teachers and children. All references should go to the principal first pertaining to matters in which the principal would normally be involved.

"Parent - Teacher association groups should adhere to the following: (A) No PTA attendance awards or treats, (B) Social functions to raise money, such as dinners, bake sales and candy sales at PTA meetings should be confined to the cafeteria and or general purpose room. (C) Elimination of carnivals and bazaars, (D) All matters pertaining to parties, treats and trips will be left to the discretion of the principal and the staff. Such affairs will be a matter of consultaion beween the principal and the staff. "Expenses pertaining to these affairs will not be a part of the PTA's budget, and (E) Homeroom mothers should be a committee functioning as a part of the total PTA program.

Tumbles Hurt Man, Woman

A Chester woman and a city man injured in separate falls and an East End youth hurt in a reserve football game at Warren Monday were admitted to City Hospital, where six others were treated.

Ilene Reed of 335 Louisiana Ave. was in "fair" condition with a fractured right ankle suffered in a fall on a sidewalk.

Norman Edgell of 1240 Erie St. was in "fairly good" condition with a fractured left ankle suffered in a fall down steps.

James (El) Parson, son of John Parson of 471 Mulberry St., was in "good" condition today with contusions of the shoulders and possible neck and head injuries suffered during a reserve game in Warren. Parson was treated at St. Joseph's Riverside Hospital, Warren, before being sent to the local hospital.

Senior Citizens Plan Thanksgiving Dinner

Wellsville Senior Citizens have launched plans for a Thanksgiving dinner.

The event was discussed as the group met at the First United Methodist Church Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Ida O'Hara and Brady Martin were named "queen" and "king." The session opened with prayer, the pledge of allegiance and group singing.

Mrs. Bertha Reed, president, presided. Mrs. Helen Geer acted as treasurer in place of Mrs. Rebecca Kinzel. Readings were given by Mrs. Anna Mursch and Mrs. Geer. A solo was sung by Mrs. Wanda Dickey and a duet by Louis Provost and Garnet Byers. Mrs. Jeannette Newbold was accompanist.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Jennie Calhoun and Mrs. Geer. Further plans for a Halloween dance at the Community Hall will be made at the weekly meeting Friday afternoon at 1:30 in the church.

Rejection Aired Again

Board Plans To Resubmit School Levies Next Year

Three operating levies totaling 19 mills which were turned down by East Liverpool School District voters in a special election Sept. 17 will be resubmitted sometime in 1969, the Board of Education decided Monday night after reviewing the rejection again.

The issues, which were presented on two ballots, provided a renewal of 11 mills and a new 7-mill levy, both for operating funds, and a 1-mill proposition for repair and maintenance expenses.

The board discussed again the apparent reasons for rejection of the levies last month and talked over proposals to help acquaint the public with the need for the funds before the issues are voted upon again.

William Blair, board member, declared that the people expressed themselves at the polls in September, adding that he believes that until the public is "satisfactorily informed" the reaction to the issues will not change.

—:—

"WE WILL have to try to answer questions — take the need to the public," he said.

"You don't get anything without working for it," Board Member Harry McConville said. "We won't win by sitting down and hoping."

Asst. Supt. Carl Pelini suggested that information should be given to the public in a series of discussion type panels to explain "where the money goes and why we need additional funds."

He said the sessions could be held weekly, possibly limited to 90 minutes, and allowing members of the audience to pose questions. Similar information could be sent to various organizations, he said.

"It will be a long - range project to inform the public," Pelini said. "We should start now."

Supt. Paul Blair said plans are being made to hold evening open house events at schools during National Education Week, which opens Nov. 11. He said he hopes the events will "help to get the people to the schools and get them involved."

—:—

SAMUEL BROWN, board president, said he has been thinking about the way in which the levies should be resubmitted. He said there is a question whether the levies should be presented separately, on several ballots or as one proposition.

"If we don't get the renewals we are whipped," Brown said. "If we don't get the new levy we are right back where we were a few years ago. We can't offer an improved program with out funds."

The board emphasized that each member will be available to meet with any groups wishing information on the levies.

In other business, McConville discussed parking at the high school complex. He said, "the situation is a mess, students are parking all over."

Supt. Blair said the auto stickers will be passed out soon and perhaps then the area can be policed and this problem eliminated.

William Blair showed a plan for marking parking places to be used in the daytime and asked Supt. Blair to contact Robert Beatty, architect, to see if this can be done soon. Parking places will be marked off for 97 cars for "everyday" use. With the aid of people parking cars, it is believed double this amount can be parked for activities.

Supt. Blair announced that the cafeteria tables for the high school arrived Friday.

William Blair announced that J. E. Schaefer, retired superintendent of production and storage of the East Ohio Gas Co. and vice president of the Lake-Shore Pipe Line, will donate a copying machine to the school district. The board instructed a written thank-you be sent Mr. Schaefer.

Officers Asked To Search For 2

Police received two missing persons reports Monday, one on an 18-year-old girl and the other on a 30-year-old man.

Bonnie West of 420 Gardendale Ave. was reported missing by her mother, Dollie Eastham. Mrs. Eastham said Bonnie had not returned home since 10 p.m. Saturday. She is 18, 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 118 and has auburn hair and brown eyes.

She was wearing a maroon sweater, red shorts and red shoes.

Ken McCarty of MC 21, Gaddis St. left home sometime Saturday evening, his wife, Judy McCarty, of McKee St., told police.

McCarty is 30, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 195, has dark blond hair and blue eyes.

Mrs. McCarty said she did not know how he was dressed. He is believed to be driving a 1967 two-tone blue Plymouth.

At Manslaughter Trial

Witness Cites High Speed Of Auto In Fatal Collision

LISBON — A state's witness testified Monday in the traffic manslaughter trial of Robert Means, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd. that Means was driving "80 to 85 miles per hour" seconds before his car ran off the Freeway June 21 and crashed into a hillside.

Means went on trial yesterday before a Common Pleas Court jury in connection with the death of Ricky Jolly, 16, of East Liverpool RD 1. The indictment alleges that Means "unlawfully and unintenionally" caused the death of his passenger by speeding and reckless operation.

Mike McKenzie, 19, of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly of East Liverpool RD, testified he was driving south toward East Liverpool at about 70 miles per hour shortly after 8 a.m. June 21 when Means passed him on the right.

MCKENZIE SAID there were two cars ahead of Means — a white Valiant in the right lane and a red Mercury passing it in the left lane.

"I saw Means pull into the left lane real quickly behind the Mercury, than straight back into the right lane after passing the Valiant," McKenzie testified. "The Valiant applied his brakes and Means' car went off the road and over against the hill."

McKenzie said he saw the car fly through the air over a culvert, hit the opposite side of the culvert and flip over. He said the Mercury and the Valiant did not stop.

The witness said one passenger whom he later learned was Jerry Lyle, 16, of 728 Oak St., was lying on the west berm of the highway south of the overturned and crushed car. Means was on the seat beneath the steering wheel, McKenzie said, and Jolly, whom McKenzie did not know, was partly in and partly out of the car on the passenger's side of the front seat.

Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice of the East Liverpool police department testified the car —a 1966 Belair sports coupe—traveled 175 feet from the point where it left the berm until it came to a stop with its wheels in the air. He said the culvert measured 51 feet across.

PAPERS FOUND by the car showed Means had purchased the coupe the day before. Capt. Tice testified the accident occurred two-tenths of a mile inside the city limits in a 50-mile-per-hour zone.

Joseph W. C. Cooper of East Liverpool, counsel for the defendant, in his opening statement, told the jury the defendant expects to show by his own testimony and by circumstantial evidence that he was not operating the car at the time of the accident — that he was sitting in the middle of the car and that Jolly was on the passenger's side.

John B. McDonald of East Liverpool, assistant prosecuting attorney, called more witnesses for the state this morning. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding.

The selection of a jury took all morning yesterday and the jurors viewed the location of the accident after lunch.

The jurors are Nevada Laitsch, Doris E. Roslund and Ruth C. Hogue, East Liverpool; Violet Whittaker and Dorman Householder, Wellsville; James DeJane, Leetonia; Marie Lipp, Rogers; Bertha Groubert, New Waterford; Ethel Meek and Mildred K. Bush, East Palestine; Daisy Meek, Negley, and James E. Williamson, Alliance RD 5. Elaine Greenamyer, Salem, is the alternate.

Beaver's Legion Votes To Oppose State Truck Bill

The Beaver County American Legion Council has gone on record opposing proposed legislation which would permit larger tractor - trailer trucks to operate on Pennsylvania highways.

Members have been asked to write state reppresentatives in an effort to have the bill defeated.

At a meeting in Rochester, George Huha Jr., Boy Scout chairman, reported on the Fall Camporee at Bradys Run State Park. He also reported on fishing stream conservation projects in September.

William Leaf, past county commander, said cars have been arranged for Gold Star mothers for the Veterans Day parade Nov. 11. All 50-year members will served as honorary marshals.

The past commanders banquet will be Nov. 6 at 6:30 p.m. at the Dougherty fire hall at Marion Hill.

The council urged veterans to vote for the Vietnam veterans bonus which will appear on the Nov. 5 ballot.

The county banquet will be held Saturday at New Brighton. Tickets may be purchased from Steve Crano, commander.

Woodrow Pflugh, county commander, said the next meeting will be Nov. 15 at Aliquippa Post 225.

Not As Planned

ST. JOHANN, Austria (AP) — Two teen - age girls each received three - month prison terms for setting up a barricade on the country road intended to prevent their boy friend from visiting a girl in a neighboring village. Besides bringing the jail term the girls' scheme backfired in other respects too: The barricade caused another motorcyclist to have an accident while the boy visited the girl via another road.

Cleveland Arts Unit Takes Land Case To Court

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Musical Arts Association of Cleveland has gone to court against a Cuyahoga Falls developer who allegedly reneged on a promise to sell several hundred acres of land bordering the Blossom Music Center in Summit County.

A hearing is set for Nov. 1 in Common Pleas Court here on the association's request for an injunction to force Daniel L. Seibert, president of Seibert Development Enterprises, Inc., to sell the land to the association.

The association, which manages the Cleveland Orchestra, contends that Seibert agreed in 1966 to sell the land if he failed to secure financial commitments by the end of last year for a housing and shopping center development.

Blossom Center, located between Cleveland and Akron, was opened this year as the summer home of the Cleveland Orchestra.

Responsive Audience

DENVER (AP) — The Rev. Charles E. Blair, Denver minister, in a series of television sermons appealed to his listeners to mail him some suggestions on what they thought a preacher should be talking about. He said he received more than 5,000 letters with material enough for 11 sermons and a book.

Authorities Identify Jefferson Skeleton

STEUBENVILLE — The skeleton of an elderly man found in a farm area north of Wintersville Airport was identified Monday as that of a 76-year-old man missing since June 4.

Jefferson County Sheriff Richard Wells said the skeleton was that of Ada Shanklin of Wintersville. Coroner John Smarrella ruled death was due to natural causes.

The skeleton was found not far from the spot where the remains of the farm owner, Peter Delich, were found about a year ago. The coroner ruled that Delich died of exposure on the hilly and wooded terrain.

LOSING HAIR?

If Your Hair Is Unhealthy, Lifeless, And Beginning To Thin, The Following Facts Will Be Of Interest And Help To You.

Today it is possible to have hair — hair that you actually comb again. No longer is it necessary to be ashamed and embarrassed about the condition of your hair and scalp.

A new self administered home scalp treatment is now available to men and women worried about their hair problems.

The Lesley Consultants want to make it clear this new treatment will not grow hair on a bald head. This new treatment is set up to condition hair, prolong its life, help rid the scalp of dandruff, stop scalp itch, reduce hairfall, restore body and life to hair. Post-treatment programs are set up to help insure lasting results.

Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss, for which neither the Lesley treatment nor any other treatment is effective. Lesley Consultants cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss. But, if you are not already slick bald, how can you be sure what is causing your hair loss? Even if baldness seems to "run in the family" this is certainly no proof of the cause of your hair loss.

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until the roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair los and grow more hair . . . now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

Guaranteed Satisfaction

If within 30 days you cannot notice improvement in your hair and scalp, return the unused portion for a refund on a prorated basis.

Brown Breaks Tie

Policies Adopted To Guide PTA's

Policies and guiding principles for Parent - Teacher Associations in the East Liverpool School District were accepted by the board of education by a 3-2 vote at the meeting Monday night.

These policies were presented at the Oct. 7 meeting and then tabled until a meeting could be held with the principals to review them. At that time, Thomas Rodfong, vice president of the board, said he was not satisfied with some of the rulings and wanted to discuss them further.

At Monday's meeting, a discussion was held again on two items: 1. Elimination of carnivals and bazaars, and 2. all matters pertaining to parties, treats, and trips will be left to the discretion of the principal and the staff.

—:—

RODFONG said in the discussion with the principals he found they were not against carnivals and bazaars as such, but believed they should be held in the multi-purpose rooms only. Rodfong questioned whether or not this would be enough room, and suggested some classrooms in addition.

As to the parties and treats, Rodfong said he felt this policy should be decided by the board so that all rooms either would have parties or none have them.

However after much discussion George Wade made a motion to accept the policy as written. The motion was seconded by Harry McConville. Rodfong and William Blair voted "no." Samuel Brown, board president, broke the tie by voting "yes" and the policy was adopted.

The policy reads: "One. The principles of conduct that parent-teacher groups must follow if the organization is to survive and prosper are: (A) The basic policies shall be educational. (B) The basic policies shall be noncommercial, nonsectarian, and nonpartisan. (C) The basic policies shall not seek to direct the administrative activities of the schools or to control their policites.

"Two: The program committee should make an effort to see that all members have an opportunity to take part in the program of the association. A participating membership is an interested membership, and interest promotes the action that is necessary for carrying out the total parent-teacher program.

"THE TEACHER and parents share an interest in the welfare of the child and in all endeavors to promote that welfare. The teacher may be expected to participate in the work of the association in the following capacities: (A) as a partner in shaping and planning the work of the association, (B) as an advisor in the educational aspects of the work, (C) as a source of reliable information about the needs of students, (D) as a resource person or consultant in the field of child guidance and development, assisting parents to understand children and their needs, and (E) as a confidant, no parent-teacher conferences about children should be scheduled for regular parent-teacher meetings.

"The teacher should not be expected to: (A) Spend actual classroom time in the preparation of the parent - teacher program, train and rehearse children to take part in parent - teacher programs. Children participating before an audience can be handled in a variety of ways without appearing on PTA programs.

"Three: Associations should recognize the authority of the principal to make decisions in the school involving teachers and children. All references should go to the principal first pertaining to matters in which the principal would normally be involved.

"Parent - Teacher association groups should adhere to the following: (A) No PTA attendance awards or treats, (B) Social functions to raise money, such as dinners, bake sales and candy sales at PTA meetings should be confined to the cafeteria and or general purpose room. (C) Elimination of carnivals and bazaars, (D) All matters pertaining to parties, treats and trips will be left to the discretion of the principal and the staff. Such affairs will be a matter of consultaion beween the principal and the staff. "Expenses pertaining to these affairs will not be a part of the PTA's budget, and (E) Homeroom mothers should be a committee functioning as a part of the total PTA program.

Tumbles Hurt Man, Woman

A Chester woman and a city man injured in separate falls and an East End youth hurt in a reserve football game at Warren Monday were admitted to City Hospital, where six others were treated.

Ilene Reed of 335 Louisiana Ave. was in "fair" condition with a fractured right ankle suffered in a fall on a sidewalk.

Norman Edgell of 1240 Erie St. was in "fairly good" condition with a fractured left ankle suffered in a fall down steps.

James (El) Parson, son of John Parson of 471 Mulberry St., was in "good" condition today with contusions of the shoulders and possible neck and head injuries suffered during a reserve game in Warren. Parson was treated at St. Joseph's Riverside Hospital, Warren, before being sent to the local hospital.

Treated were Richard Straight of Newell, an employe of the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co., a right foot injury on a conveyor belt at work; Clair Cunningham Jr., son of Clair Cunningham of 114 E. 2nd St., abrasions of the left knee while playing at home.

Senior Citizens Plan Thanksgiving Dinner

Wellsville Senior Citizens have launched plans for a Thanksgiving dinner.

The event was discussed as the group met at the First United Methodist Church Friday afternoon, when Mrs. Ida O'Hara and Brady Martin were named "queen" and "king." The session opened with prayer, the pledge of allegiance and group singing.

Mrs. Bertha Reed, president, presided. Mrs. Helen Geer acted as treasurer in place of Mrs. Rebecca Kinzel. Readings were given by Mrs. Anna Mursch and Mrs. Geer. A solo was sung by Mrs. Wanda Dickey and a duet by Louis Provost and Garnet Byers. Mrs. Jeannette Newbold was accompanist.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Jennie Calhoun and Mrs. Geer. Further plans for a Halloween dance at the Community Hall will be made at the weekly meeting Friday afternoon at 1:30 in the church.

Rejection Aired Again

Board Plans To Resubmit School Levies Next Year

Three operating levies totaling 19 mills which were turned down by East Liverpool School District voters in a special election Sept. 17 will be resubmitted sometime in 1969, the Board of Education decided Monday night after reviewing the rejection again.

The issues, which were presented on two ballots, provided a renewal of 11 mills and a new 7-mill levy, both for operating funds, and a 1-mill proposition for repair and maintenance expenses.

The board discussed again the apparent reasons for rejection of the levies last month and talked over proposals to help acquaint the public with the need for the funds before the issues are voted upon again.

William Blair, board member, declared that the people expressed themselves at the polls in September, adding that he believes that until the public is "satisfactorily informed" the reaction to the issues will not change.

—:—

"WE WILL have to try to answer questions — take the need to the public," he said.

"You don't get anything without working for it," Board Member Harry McConville said. "We won't win by sitting down and hoping."

Asst. Supt. Carl Pelini suggested that information should be given to the public in a series of discussion type panels to explain "where the money goes and why we need additional funds."

He said the sessions could be held weekly, possibly limited to 90 minutes, and allowing members of the audience to pose questions. Similar information could be sent to various organizations, he said.

"It will be a long - range project to inform the public," Pelini said. "We should start now."

Supt. Paul Blair said plans are being made to hold evening open house events at schools during National Education Week, which opens Nov. 11. He said he hopes the events will "help to get the people to the schools and get them involved."

—:—

SAMUEL BROWN, board president, said he has been thinking about the way in which the levies should be resubmitted. He said there is a question whether the levies should be presented separately, on several ballots or as one proposition.

"If we don't get the renewals we are whipped," Brown said. "If we don't get the new levy we are right back where we were a few years ago. We can't offer an improved program with out funds."

The board emphasized that each member will be available to meet with any groups wishing information on the levies.

In other business, McConville discussed parking at the high school complex. He said, "the situation is a mess, students are parking all over."

Supt. Blair said the auto stickers will be passed out soon and perhaps then the area can be policed and this problem eliminated.

William Blair showed a plan for marking parking places to be used in the daytime and asked Supt. Blair to contact Robert Beatty, architect, to see if this can be done soon. Parking places will be marked off for 97 cars for "everyday" use. With the aid of people parking cars, it is believed double this amount can be parked for activities.

Supt. Blair announced that the cafeteria tables for the high school arrived Friday.

William Blair announced that J. E. Schaefer, retired superintendent of production and storage of the East Ohio Gas Co. and vice president of the Lake-Shore Pipe Line, will donate a copying machine to the school district. The board instructed a written thank-you be sent Mr. Schaefer.

Officers Asked To Search For 2

Police received two missing persons reports Monday, one on an 18-year-old girl and the other on a 30-year-old man.

Bonnie West of 420 Gardendale Ave. was reported missing by her mother, Dollie Eastham. Mrs. Eastham said Bonnie had not returned home since 10 p.m. Saturday. She is 18, 5 feet, 4 inches tall, weighs 118 and has auburn hair and brown eyes.

She was wearing a maroon sweater, red shorts and red shoes.

Ken McCarty of MC 21, Gaddis St. left home sometime Saturday evening, his wife, Judy McCarty, of McKee St., told police.

McCarty is 30, 5 feet, 7 inches tall, weighs 195, has dark blond hair and blue eyes.

Mrs. McCarty said she did not know how he was dressed. He is believed to be driving a 1967 two-tone blue Plymouth.

At Manslaughter Trial

Witness Cites High Speed Of Auto In Fatal Collision

LISBON — A state's witness testified Monday in the traffic manslaughter trial of Robert Means, 18, of the Y. & O. Rd. that Means was driving "80 to 85 miles per hour" seconds before his car ran off the Freeway June 21 and crashed into a hillside.

Means went on trial yesterday before a Common Pleas Court jury in connection with the death of Ricky Jolly, 16, of East Liverpool RD 1. The indictment alleges that Means "unlawfully and unintenionally" caused the death of his passenger by speeding and reckless operation.

Mike McKenzie, 19, of Syracuse, N. Y., formerly of East Liverpool RD, testified he was driving south toward East Liverpool at about 70 miles per hour shortly after 8 a.m. June 21 when Means passed him on the right.

MCKENZIE SAID there were two cars ahead of Means — a white Valiant in the right lane and a red Mercury passing it in the left lane.

"I saw Means pull into the left lane real quickly behind the Mercury, than straight back into the right lane after passing the Valiant," McKenzie testified. "The Valiant applied his brakes and Means' car went off the road and over against the hill."

McKenzie said he saw the car fly through the air over a culvert, hit the opposite side of the culvert and flip over. He said the Mercury and the Valiant did not stop.

The witness said one passenger whom he later learned was Jerry Lyle, 16, of 728 Oak St., was lying on the west berm of the highway south of the overturned and crushed car. Means was on the seat beneath the steering wheel, McKenzie said, and Jolly, whom McKenzie did not know, was partly in and partly out of the car on the passenger's side of the front seat.

Capt. Charles E. (Bill) Tice of the East Liverpool police department testified the car —a 1966 Belair sports coupe—traveled 175 feet from the point where it left the berm until it came to a stop with its wheels in the air. He said the culvert measured 51 feet across.

PAPERS FOUND by the car showed Means had purchased the coupe the day before. Capt. Tice testified the accident occurred two-tenths of a mile inside the city limits in a 50-mile-per-hour zone.

Joseph W. C. Cooper of East Liverpool, counsel for the defendant, in his opening statement, told the jury the defendant expects to show by his own testimony and by circumstantial evidence that he was not operating the car at the time of the accident — that he was sitting in the middle of the car and that Jolly was on the passenger's side.

John B. McDonald of East Liverpool, assistant prosecuting attorney, called more witnesses for the state this morning. Judge Raymond S. Buzzard is presiding.

The selection of a jury took all morning yesterday and the jurors viewed the location of the accident after lunch.

The jurors are Nevada Laitsch, Doris E. Roslund and Ruth C. Hogue, East Liverpool; Violet Whittaker and Dorman Householder, Wellsville; James DeJane, Leetonia; Marie Lipp, Rogers; Bertha Groubert, New Waterford; Ethel Meek and Mildred K. Bush, East Palestine; Daisy Meek, Negley, and James E. Williamson, Alliance RD 5. Elaine Greenamyer, Salem, is the alternate.

Cleveland Arts Unit Takes Land Case To Court

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Musical Arts Association of Cleveland has gone to court against a Cuyahoga Falls developer who allegedly reneged on a promise to sell several hundred acres of land bordering the Blossom Music Center in Summit County.

A hearing is set for Nov. 1 in Common Pleas Court here on the association's request for an injunction to force Daniel L. Seibert, president of Seibert Development Enterprises, Inc., to sell the land to the association.

The association, which manages the Cleveland Orchestra, contends that Seibert agreed in 1966 to sell the land if he failed to secure financial commitments by the end of last year for a housing and shopping center development.

Blossom Center, located between Cleveland and Akron, was opened this year as the summer home of the Cleveland Orchestra.

Authorities Identify Jefferson Skeleton

STEUBENVILLE — The skeleton of an elderly man found in a farm area north of Wintersville Airport was identified Monday as that of a 76-year-old man missing since June 4.

Jefferson County Sheriff Richard Wells said the skeleton was that of Ada Shanklin of Wintersville. Coroner John Smarrella ruled death was due to natural causes.

The skeleton was found not far from the spot where the remains of the farm owner, Peter Delich, were found about a year ago. The coroner ruled that Delich died of exposure on the hilly and wooded terrain.

Australia's McClements Prevents U.S. Swim Sweep

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Russell 1st In 'Fly

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. basketball team, a pick-up squad spurned by many of the nation's top collegiate stars, faces perhaps its toughest Olympic test tonight against Brazil.

The Americans haven't lost a game since the sport was introduced into the Games in 1932, but Coach Henry Iba is worried —severely so—about his semifinal match.

"If we handle the ball the way we did against Puerto Rico, we will lose," Iba said.

"Brazil is a strong, fast team."

The Yankee team, lacking such stars as Lew Alcindor and Elvin Haues, just got by Tiny Puerto Rico 61-56 in its last outing.

And while Iba was worrying, tall Lynn McClements of Australia found out that America's swimmers are human after all.

"When I came to Mexico, I was very frightened of the American swimmers," said the 17-year-old secretary from Perth. "But when I saw them, I found they were human beings just like myself."

So she promptly broke the American stranglehold on swimming gold medals Monday, winning the women's 100-meter butterfly in 1:05.5. She was followed, naturally enough, by two Americans who, while human, continue to dominate these 19th Games.

The United States picked up 11 more medals, including four golds, and now leads the massive Russian forces by its widest margin so far.

The Americans have a total of 64 medals, 28 of them gold. The Russians have only 39, 13 of them gold. They picked up only two golds Monday, in team saber and Finn dinghy sailing.

Russia's track and field coach, Gabriel Korobkov, had some words to say about it:

"It is unfair to hold the Games at this altitude," he said of this 1½ mile high city. "Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Olympics upstairs. The Games are thrown out of balance."

Among the United States' 11 medals collected Monday were four gold, two in yachting and two in swimming, including a 1-2-3 sweep in the the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Doug Russell, from Midland, Tex., led that parade, scoring his first victory over Mark Spitz, the world record holder from Santa Clara, Calif. Ross Wales, Youngstown, Ohio, was third. The time was 55.9.

"I thought I could beat Mark, and I was determined to do it tonight," Russell said.

The defeat knocked Spitz out of a chance to tie or better teammate Don Schollander's record of four gold medals, set in Tokyo in 1964. "The 400-meter medley butterfly leg goes to the winner of the fly," Spitz said.

Spitz already has two golds for relays, a silver in the butterfly and a bronze for the 100 freestyle. He goes in the 200-meter butterfly, for which he holds the world record, Thursday.

Just 42 minutes after losing to Russell, he swam the third leg on the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team, giving Schollander a lead of about 2½ meters.

Schollander held most of it against an Australian challenge. Russia was a distant third. The winning time was 7:52.3.

Ellie Daniels, Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Shields, Louisville, Ky., were second and third behind Miss McClements' winning 1:05.5 in the women's butterfly.

Of the three finals on today's schedule, the United States, strangely is the underdog to take the gold—in the men's 100-meter backstroke and the men's 200-meter breatstroke, but figure to pick up some seconds and thirds.

In the other, Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., goes for her second gold in the 200-meter freestyle, in which she holds the world record. With Jane Barkman, Wayne, Pa., and Jan Henne, Oakland, Calif., also entered, it could be another American sweep.

Buddy Friedrichs of New Orleans, La., in the Dragon class in Willawaw, and Lowell North of San Diego, with crewman Peter Barrett of Seal Beach, Calif., in the Star class with North Star, confirmed their yachting victories that they had clinched the day before.

The United States also picked up a silver in shooting from Lt. John Writer, stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., in the small bore rifle, with 1,156 of a possible 1,200.

The event was won by Bernd Klinger of West Germany with 1,157, and Russian Vitaly Parkihiovich third.

Another silver came in team equestrian, won by Great Britain with Australia third.

There were a couple of controversies. The Russian equestrian team was found to be using walkie talkies and disqualified. But they were reinstated when they pointed out an interpreter was not present at the briefings.

But in team pursuit cycling, West Germany, first across the finish line, was disqualified when the jury ruled that Jurgen Kissner pushed teammate Karl-Heinz Henrichs, an illegal action.

Denmark, which finished second, was awarded the gold medal and Italy the bronze. A decision on the silver medal will be made later.

You don't realize how many good halfbacks there are in college today until you see a list of the All-America candidates.

Don Shanklin of Kansas, Bob Gladieux of Notre Dame, Charlie Pittman of Penn State, Dickie Lyons of Kentucky, Eddie Hinton of Oklahoma, Paul Gipson of Houston, and Eugene (Mercury) Morris of West Texas State are all worthy of All-America consideration. But the odds are none of them will make it. Despite the abundance of outstanding halfbacks, the clear-cut choices for All-American honors are Leory Keyes of Purdue and O. J. Simpson of Southern Cal.

The quarterback selection is even more difficult, for there are numerous deserving candidates, with none standing out from the rest. Mike Sherwood of West Virginia, who has rewritten the WVU record book, will not be likely to draw too much support, for he is only a sophomore, and has two more years to be considered. A sophomore who will draw more support is Chuck Hixson, of SMU, who has stood out even in the razzle-dazzle Southeast Conference.

OTHER OUTSTANDING candidates are Bobby Douglass of Kansas, Bobby Warmack of Oklahoma, Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame, Mike Phiips of Purdue, Harry Gonso of Indianna, Bill Feraco of Michigan State, Brian Dowling of Yale, Marty Domres of Columbia, Steve Sogge of Southern Cal, Larry Good of Georgia Tech, Ed Hargett of Texas A & M and Greg Cook of Cincinnati.

The fullback list is shorter, with Bill (Earthquake) Enyart of Oregon State and Larry Smith of Florida expected to draw most of the support. Perry Williams of Purdue is a possibility.

There are numerous deserving offensive ends. I voted for Ted Kwalick of Penn State and Jerry Levias of SMU, but Jim Seymour of Notre Dame, Al Brenner of Michigan State, Jade Butcher of Indiana and Ron Sellers of Florida State will draw support.

Conversely, the lists of interior lineman, football's unsung heroes, present practically no familiar names. Last year Oklahoma's Granville Liggins and Nebraska's Wayne Meylan were publicized middle guards, but this year no interior lineman seems to have caught a press agent's fancy.

Warren WR Only Fourth; Leetonia 15th In 'A' Poll

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Upper Arlington clung to first place in the weekly Associated Press high school football ratings today but onrushing Mentor crept within eight points of the leader.

The unbeaten Bears, boasting a 7-0 record, collected 150 points from the sports writers and sportscasters who vote in the poll. Mentor, which has allowed only one touchdown in seven victories, is applying the pressure.

And still in hot pursuit in third place on 123 points is once-beaten Massillon, 6-1.

Warren Western Reserve, which only broke into the elite circle last week, moved up a notch to fourth after an impressive 40-8 romp over tough Niles McKinley.

Elyria, despite a solid 27 - 6 triumph over Sandusky, slipped to fifth place.

Shelby is sixth, followed by Cincinnati St. Xavier, Struthers, Canton McKinley and Wintersville.

Canton McKinley, beaten only by Niles, is 6-1 and Struthers is 6-0 while all the others are 7-0. Canton and Wintersville replace Niles and Kettering Alter which dropped out after losing last weekend.

Newark Catholic tightened its grip on first place in the Class A rankings, piling up 125 points, 16 more than second - ranked Norwalk St. Paul.

Cory-Rawson is a close third on 105 points while West Jefferson is fourth. The Plains (Mount Sterling) jumped all the way from ninth to No. 5 and West Muskingum is in sixth place.

Portsmouth Notre Dame, the early poll leader slipped two notches to seventh despite a 60-0 whipping of Minford.

Mechanicsburg was eighth, Lorain St. Mary ninth and Newcomerstown, breaking into the charmed group for the first time, No. 10.

Meets Brazil Tonight

Spencer Haywood, 19, Leads U.S. Cage Team

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Spencer Haywood, towering center on the U.S. Olympic basketball team, aspires to be an actor but his future probably lies in trying to upstage Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain and Oscar "Big O" Robertson in the rich professional game.

"This boy is young but he has to be one of the greatest," Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, veteran coach of the American team, said today. "He has natural talent. I don't see how he can miss."

A few weeks ago, Haywood, a 6-foot-8 stringbean from Detroit, was virtually unknown. Today he is regarded as the spark that probably will ignite the American team to its eighth straight Olympic gold medal without loss of a game.

He has averaged more than 20 points a game. He is leading the team in rebounding. His clever ball-handling, Houdini-like faking and moves have made him the standout of the American ragamuffins.

The Americans begin the final round of the Olympic round robin tonight, playing the strong Brazilian team at 9:30 p.m., CST (11:30 p.m., EDT) in a game that will be televised in the United States by ABC. The Soviet Union, like the Americans unbeaten in the tournament, play Yugoslavia in an earlier game.

"Brazil is tough," said Iba. "We could lose if we don't handle the ball better than we did against Puerto Rico."

The United States edged Puerto Rico, coached by New York University's Lou Rossini, 61-56.

If both Russia and the United States win, they clash in the championship game Friday. The Russians, with three 7-footers, are favored.

Failure of Houston's Elvin "Big E" Hayes, UCLA's Lew Alcindor, Mike Warren and Lucius Allen and Wes Unseld of Louisville to come out for the team left the Americans with a patch-work outfit that entered the Olympics an underdog for the first time in history.

Haywood and his teammates, particularly Jo Jo White of Kansas, Bill Hosket of Ohio State and Ken Spain of Houston, have suddenly changed the tide.

Haywood settled his long, skinny legs on the steps of the American headquarters at the Olympic Village Monday, a day off, and told how he suddenly was projected into the limelight of his life.

"I was playing with Trinidad State Junior College and I decided I was going to make the Olympic team," he said. "I figured the man I had to beat out was Hayes.

"He had been getting a lot of publicity. I watched him on television. I studied his moves.

"I felt I was a better player. I believed I could dribble better and shoot better from the outside. First, I made the junior college squad at Hutchinson, Kan., and then I went to Albuquerque, N.M., for the main tryouts.

"Of course, Hayes didn't show up. Neither did Alcindor."

Alcindor preferred to stay in school. Others preferred not to risk lucrative pro contracts. Haywood made the team easily.

Haywood was born in Silver City, Miss., the son of a carpenter. His father died a month before he was born and his mother was put on relief, with eight childrens' mouths to feed.

As the children grew up, they took over more of the responsibility but Spencer was shuttled back and forth among brothers and sisters. Ht went to Detroit when he was 10½, later to Chicago. He always had to return to Silver City for school.

He got a scholarship to the University of Tennessee but failed to pass entrance examinations.

Haywood recently entered the University of Detroit.

"I am majoring in dramatics," he said. "I want to be an actor. I have three years more of college before I can sign with the pros.

"I am anxious to play pro ball and act on the side. I get impatient sometimes, but it looks like a nice future. I can wait."

Billy Haughton of Brookville, N. Y., led harness drivers in money won in 1967 with $1,305,773 in purses. Stanley Dancer and Del Insko also passed the $1 million mark.

Meyer Odds-On Gold Choice

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If they had betting on Olympic races, Debbie Meyer would have to be a 1 to 10 shot to breeze to her second swimming gold medal of the Olympics in the 200-meter freestyle tonight.

The 16-year-old water wizard from Sacramento, Calif., already winner of the 400 freestyle in Olympic record time, will shoot for the 200 gold after swimming a qualifying heat in the 800 freestyle in the early afternoon.

That's a gruelling task for anyone in this 7,347-foot altitude, but the cute 5-foor-7, 116-pound high school junior is not just anyone.

"She's a swimming marvel," her coach, Sherman Chavoor, said today. "There's never been anyone like her."

"Now that I've got my first gold medal, I'm more relaxed," said Debbie. "I should be faster."

The California blonde holds world freestyle records of 2:06.7 for 200 meters, 4:24.5 for 400 and 9:10.4 for 800. She won the 400 in Olympic record time of 4:31.8 and led the 200-meter qualifiers in 2:13.1, an Olympic record since this is a new event for the Games.

With Debbie the pace-setter, the Yanks could rack up their fifth 1-2-3 sweep in the Olympic pool. Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., (2:13.6) and Jan Henne of Oakland, Calif., (2:13.8) were second and third in the qualifying Monday.

There are two other finals on tonight's program. Although the U.S.A. is the underdog in both —the men's 100 backstroke and the men's 200 breaststroke—the talented Yanks could pick up another stack of medals.

Charliey Hickcox of Phoenix, Ariz., Larry Barbiere, of Medford Lakes, N.J., and Ronnie Mills of Fort Worth, Tex., are in the backstroke, and 16-year-old Brian Job of Cortland, Ohio, and Phil Long of Wayne, Pa., in the Breaststroke.

All posted fine qualifying times behind the leaders. East Germany's Roland Matthes (1:01.3) in the backstroke and Mexico's Felipe Munoz (2:31.1) in the Breaststroke.

U.S. swimmers finished 1-2-3 in the men's 100-meter butterfly, two-three in the women's 100 butterfly, won by 17-year-old Lynn McClements of Australia in an upset, and came within two-tenths of a second of the world record in taking the men's 800-meter freestyle relay in 7:52.3.

So far the United States has won 11 of the 14 championships, also collecting seven silver and nine bronze medals. With a chance for only one medal in relays, the U.S.A. has bagged 27 of 36 medal possibilities for both men and women.

The men have a 5-4-5 collection of gold, silver and bronze while the women stand 6-3-4. There have been seven finals in swimming and diving for each sex.

Ohio State Narrows Southern Cal Lead

Explosive Ohio State shaved Southern California's lead to 16 points today in The Associated Press' major college football poll.

The Trojans, who needed some last-quarter heroics by fabulous O. J. Simpson to subdue lowly Washington 14-7 over the weekend, held a 21-15 edge over Ohio State in first place votes.

But the Buckeyes, 4-0 after routing Northwestern 45-21, used strong second and third ballot strength to amass 784 points to Southern Cal's even 800.

Last week, when the defending national champs took over the top spot for the first time this season, they held a 46-point edge over Ohio State.

Meanwhile, the rest of the top 10 underwent some minor shuffling as Kansas moved into third place, trading spots with idle No. 4 Penn State.

The Jayhawks, 5-0 after trouncing Oklahoma State 49-14, were named first on five ballots, while Penn State, 4-0, drew one top vote.

Notre Dame, 4-1, advanced from sixth to fifth after humiliating Illinois 58-8. Tennessee, 4-0-1, moved from eighth to sixth after nipping Alabama 10-9.

Purdue, 4-1, which had to struggle for a 28-27 conquest of Wake Forest, continued its downslide, dropping from fifth to seventh. The Boilermakers had been ranked No. 1 until a loss to Ohio State Oct. 12.

Georgia jumped from 10th to eighth on the strength of a 32-6 coast past Vanderbilt. Miami, Fla., climbed from 12th to ninth following a 13-8 victory over Virginia Tech. Miami's only loss in five games has been to Southern Cal.

Indians Sell Davis To Padres

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have sold first baseman Bill Davis to the San Diego Padres of the National League, and shortstop Zoilo Versalles reportedly is on his way to Cleveland.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said it has learned that the Padres, who picked Versalles in the National League expansion draft last week, will sell the shortstop to the Indians after the inter-league trading period formally begins Nov. 20.

Davis has been on the roster of the Tribe's Portland farm club.

Versalles won the American League' Most Valuable Player award in 1965, when the Minnesota Twins won the pennant. The Twins traded him to the Los Angeles Dodgers after he slumped to a .200 batting average in 1967.

Bothered by back and arm troubles, he batted only .196 for the Dodgers this year.

E. Palestine Top Defensive Area Team

East Palestine took over the lead in team defense among area teams, lowering its yield to 10.0 points a game.

Midland and Beaver Local are close behind with a yield of 10.7 points a game. Southern Local continues to lead in offense with 26 points a game, while Leetonia is next at 29 points a game.

The only change in the individual scoring was that Nelson Clark replaced Dan Cunningham in the Top 10.

Australia's McClements Prevents U.S. Swim Sweep

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Russell 1st In 'Fly

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. basketball team, a pick-up squad spurned by many of the nation's top collegiate stars, faces perhaps its toughest Olympic test tonight against Brazil.

The Americans haven't lost a game since the sport was introduced into the Games in 1932, but Coach Henry Iba is worried —severely so—about his semifinal match.

"If we handle the ball the way we did against Puerto Rico, we will lose," Iba said.

"Brazil is a strong, fast team."

The Yankee team, lacking such stars as Lew Alcindor and Elvin Haues, just got by Tiny Puerto Rico 61-56 in its last outing.

And while Iba was worrying, tall Lynn McClements of Australia found out that America's swimmers are human after all.

"When I came to Mexico, I was very frightened of the American swimmers," said the 17-year-old secretary from Perth. "But when I saw them, I found they were human beings just like myself."

So she promptly broke the American stranglehold on swimming gold medals Monday, winning the women's 100-meter butterfly in 1:05.5. She was followed, naturally enough, by two Americans who, while human, continue to dominate these 19th Games.

The United States picked up 11 more medals, including four golds, and now leads the massive Russian forces by its widest margin so far.

The Americans have a total of 64 medals, 28 of them gold. The Russians have only 39, 13 of them gold. They picked up only two golds Monday, in team saber and Finn dinghy sailing.

Russia's track and field coach, Gabriel Korobkov, had some words to say about it:

"It is unfair to hold the Games at this altitude," he said of this 1½ mile high city. "Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Olympics upstairs. The Games are thrown out of balance."

Among the United States' 11 medals collected Monday were four gold, two in yachting and two in swimming, including a 1-2-3 sweep in the the men's 100-meter butterfly.

Doug Russell, from Midland, Tex., led that parade, scoring his first victory over Mark Spitz, the world record holder from Santa Clara, Calif. Ross Wales, Youngstown, Ohio, was third. The time was 55.9.

"I thought I could beat Mark, and I was determined to do it tonight," Russell said.

The defeat knocked Spitz out of a chance to tie or better teammate Don Schollander's record of four gold medals, set in Tokyo in 1964. "The 400-meter medley butterfly leg goes to the winner of the fly," Spitz said.

Spitz already has two golds for relays, a silver in the butterfly and a bronze for the 100 freestyle. He goes in the 200-meter butterfly, for which he holds the world record, Thursday.

Just 42 minutes after losing to Russell, he swam the third leg on the United States' victorious 800-meter freestyle relay team, giving Schollander a lead of about 2½ meters.

Schollander held most of it against an Australian challenge. Russia was a distant third. The winning time was 7:52.3.

Ellie Daniels, Elkins Park, Pa., and Sue Shields, Louisville, Ky., were second and third behind Miss McClements' winning 1:05.5 in the women's butterfly.

Of the three finals on today's schedule, the United States, strangely is the underdog to take the gold—in the men's 100-meter backstroke and the men's 200-meter breatstroke, but figure to pick up some seconds and thirds.

In the other, Debbie Meyer, Sacramento, Calif., goes for her second gold in the 200-meter freestyle, in which she holds the world record. With Jane Barkman, Wayne, Pa., and Jan Henne, Oakland, Calif., also entered, it could be another American sweep.

Buddy Friedrichs of New Orleans, La., in the Dragon class in Willawaw, and Lowell North of San Diego, with crewman Peter Barrett of Seal Beach, Calif., in the Star class with North Star, confirmed their yachting victories that they had clinched the day before.

The United States also picked up a silver in shooting from Lt. John Writer, stationed at Ft. Benning, Ga., in the small bore rifle, with 1,156 of a possible 1,200.

The event was won by Bernd Klinger of West Germany with 1,157, and Russian Vitaly Parkihiovich third.

Another silver came in team equestrian, won by Great Britain with Australia third.

There were a couple of controversies. The Russian equestrian team was found to be using walkie talkies and disqualified. But they were reinstated when they pointed out an interpreter was not present at the briefings.

But in team pursuit cycling, West Germany, first across the finish line, was disqualified when the jury ruled that Jurgen Kissner pushed teammate Karl-Heinz Henrichs, an illegal action.

Denmark, which finished second, was awarded the gold medal and Italy the bronze. A decision on the silver medal will be made later.

You don't realize how many good halfbacks there are in college today until you see a list of the All-America candidates.

Don Shanklin of Kansas, Bob Gladieux of Notre Dame, Charlie Pittman of Penn State, Dickie Lyons of Kentucky, Eddie Hinton of Oklahoma, Paul Gipson of Houston, and Eugene (Mercury) Morris of West Texas State are all worthy of All-America consideration. But the odds are none of them will make it. Despite the abundance of outstanding halfbacks, the clear-cut choices for All-American honors are Leory Keyes of Purdue and O. J. Simpson of Southern Cal.

The quarterback selection is even more difficult, for there are numerous deserving candidates, with none standing out from the rest. Mike Sherwood of West Virginia, who has rewritten the WVU record book, will not be likely to draw too much support, for he is only a sophomore, and has two more years to be considered. A sophomore who will draw more support is Chuck Hixson, of SMU, who has stood out even in the razzle-dazzle Southeast Conference.

OTHER OUTSTANDING candidates are Bobby Douglass of Kansas, Bobby Warmack of Oklahoma, Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame, Mike Phiips of Purdue, Harry Gonso of Indianna, Bill Feraco of Michigan State, Brian Dowling of Yale, Marty Domres of Columbia, Steve Sogge of Southern Cal, Larry Good of Georgia Tech, Ed Hargett of Texas A & M and Greg Cook of Cincinnati.

The fullback list is shorter, with Bill (Earthquake) Enyart of Oregon State and Larry Smith of Florida expected to draw most of the support. Perry Williams of Purdue is a possibility.

There are numerous deserving offensive ends. I voted for Ted Kwalick of Penn State and Jerry Levias of SMU, but Jim Seymour of Notre Dame, Al Brenner of Michigan State, Jade Butcher of Indiana and Ron Sellers of Florida State will draw support.

Conversely, the lists of interior lineman, football's unsung heroes, present practically no familiar names. Last year Oklahoma's Granville Liggins and Nebraska's Wayne Meylan were publicized middle guards, but this year no interior lineman seems to have caught a press agent's fancy.

Warren WR Only Fourth; Leetonia 15th In 'A' Poll

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Defending champion Upper Arlington clung to first place in the weekly Associated Press high school football ratings today but onrushing Mentor crept within eight points of the leader.

The unbeaten Bears, boasting a 7-0 record, collected 150 points from the sports writers and sportscasters who vote in the poll. Mentor, which has allowed only one touchdown in seven victories, is applying the pressure.

And still in hot pursuit in third place on 123 points is once-beaten Massillon, 6-1.

Warren Western Reserve, which only broke into the elite circle last week, moved up a notch to fourth after an impressive 40-8 romp over tough Niles McKinley.

Elyria, despite a solid 27 - 6 triumph over Sandusky, slipped to fifth place.

Shelby is sixth, followed by Cincinnati St. Xavier, Struthers, Canton McKinley and Wintersville.

Canton McKinley, beaten only by Niles, is 6-1 and Struthers is 6-0 while all the others are 7-0. Canton and Wintersville replace Niles and Kettering Alter which dropped out after losing last weekend.

Newark Catholic tightened its grip on first place in the Class A rankings, piling up 125 points, 16 more than second - ranked Norwalk St. Paul.

Cory-Rawson is a close third on 105 points while West Jefferson is fourth. The Plains (Mount Sterling) jumped all the way from ninth to No. 5 and West Muskingum is in sixth place.

Portsmouth Notre Dame, the early poll leader slipped two notches to seventh despite a 60-0 whipping of Minford.

Mechanicsburg was eighth, Lorain St. Mary ninth and Newcomerstown, breaking into the charmed group for the first time, No. 10.

Meets Brazil Tonight

Spencer Haywood, 19, Leads U.S. Cage Team

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Spencer Haywood, towering center on the U.S. Olympic basketball team, aspires to be an actor but his future probably lies in trying to upstage Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain and Oscar "Big O" Robertson in the rich professional game.

"This boy is young but he has to be one of the greatest," Hank Iba of Oklahoma State, veteran coach of the American team, said today. "He has natural talent. I don't see how he can miss."

A few weeks ago, Haywood, a 6-foot-8 stringbean from Detroit, was virtually unknown. Today he is regarded as the spark that probably will ignite the American team to its eighth straight Olympic gold medal without loss of a game.

He has averaged more than 20 points a game. He is leading the team in rebounding. His clever ball-handling, Houdini-like faking and moves have made him the standout of the American ragamuffins.

The Americans begin the final round of the Olympic round robin tonight, playing the strong Brazilian team at 9:30 p.m., CST (11:30 p.m., EDT) in a game that will be televised in the United States by ABC. The Soviet Union, like the Americans unbeaten in the tournament, play Yugoslavia in an earlier game.

"Brazil is tough," said Iba. "We could lose if we don't handle the ball better than we did against Puerto Rico."

The United States edged Puerto Rico, coached by New York University's Lou Rossini, 61-56.

If both Russia and the United States win, they clash in the championship game Friday. The Russians, with three 7-footers, are favored.

Failure of Houston's Elvin "Big E" Hayes, UCLA's Lew Alcindor, Mike Warren and Lucius Allen and Wes Unseld of Louisville to come out for the team left the Americans with a patch-work outfit that entered the Olympics an underdog for the first time in history.

Haywood and his teammates, particularly Jo Jo White of Kansas, Bill Hosket of Ohio State and Ken Spain of Houston, have suddenly changed the tide.

Haywood settled his long, skinny legs on the steps of the American headquarters at the Olympic Village Monday, a day off, and told how he suddenly was projected into the limelight of his life.

"I was playing with Trinidad State Junior College and I decided I was going to make the Olympic team," he said. "I figured the man I had to beat out was Hayes.

"He had been getting a lot of publicity. I watched him on television. I studied his moves.

"I felt I was a better player. I believed I could dribble better and shoot better from the outside. First, I made the junior college squad at Hutchinson, Kan., and then I went to Albuquerque, N.M., for the main tryouts.

"Of course, Hayes didn't show up. Neither did Alcindor."

Alcindor preferred to stay in school. Others preferred not to risk lucrative pro contracts. Haywood made the team easily.

Haywood was born in Silver City, Miss., the son of a carpenter. His father died a month before he was born and his mother was put on relief, with eight childrens' mouths to feed.

As the children grew up, they took over more of the responsibility but Spencer was shuttled back and forth among brothers and sisters. Ht went to Detroit when he was 10½, later to Chicago. He always had to return to Silver City for school.

He got a scholarship to the University of Tennessee but failed to pass entrance examinations.

Haywood recently entered the University of Detroit.

"I am majoring in dramatics," he said. "I want to be an actor. I have three years more of college before I can sign with the pros.

"I am anxious to play pro ball and act on the side. I get impatient sometimes, but it looks like a nice future. I can wait."

Billy Haughton of Brookville, N. Y., led harness drivers in money won in 1967 with $1,305,773 in purses. Stanley Dancer and Del Insko also passed the $1 million mark.

Meyer Odds-On Gold Choice

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If they had betting on Olympic races, Debbie Meyer would have to be a 1 to 10 shot to breeze to her second swimming gold medal of the Olympics in the 200-meter freestyle tonight.

The 16-year-old water wizard from Sacramento, Calif., already winner of the 400 freestyle in Olympic record time, will shoot for the 200 gold after swimming a qualifying heat in the 800 freestyle in the early afternoon.

That's a gruelling task for anyone in this 7,347-foot altitude, but the cute 5-foor-7, 116-pound high school junior is not just anyone.

"She's a swimming marvel," her coach, Sherman Chavoor, said today. "There's never been anyone like her."

"Now that I've got my first gold medal, I'm more relaxed," said Debbie. "I should be faster."

The California blonde holds world freestyle records of 2:06.7 for 200 meters, 4:24.5 for 400 and 9:10.4 for 800. She won the 400 in Olympic record time of 4:31.8 and led the 200-meter qualifiers in 2:13.1, an Olympic record since this is a new event for the Games.

With Debbie the pace-setter, the Yanks could rack up their fifth 1-2-3 sweep in the Olympic pool. Jane Barkman of Wayne, Pa., (2:13.6) and Jan Henne of Oakland, Calif., (2:13.8) were second and third in the qualifying Monday.

There are two other finals on tonight's program. Although the U.S.A. is the underdog in both —the men's 100 backstroke and the men's 200 breaststroke—the talented Yanks could pick up another stack of medals.

Charliey Hickcox of Phoenix, Ariz., Larry Barbiere, of Medford Lakes, N.J., and Ronnie Mills of Fort Worth, Tex., are in the backstroke, and 16-year-old Brian Job of Cortland, Ohio, and Phil Long of Wayne, Pa., in the Breaststroke.

All posted fine qualifying times behind the leaders. East Germany's Roland Matthes (1:01.3) in the backstroke and Mexico's Felipe Munoz (2:31.1) in the Breaststroke.

U.S. swimmers finished 1-2-3 in the men's 100-meter butterfly, two-three in the women's 100 butterfly, won by 17-year-old Lynn McClements of Australia in an upset, and came within two-tenths of a second of the world record in taking the men's 800-meter freestyle relay in 7:52.3.

So far the United States has won 11 of the 14 championships, also collecting seven silver and nine bronze medals. With a chance for only one medal in relays, the U.S.A. has bagged 27 of 36 medal possibilities for both men and women.

The men have a 5-4-5 collection of gold, silver and bronze while the women stand 6-3-4. There have been seven finals in swimming and diving for each sex.

Ohio State Narrows Southern Cal Lead

Explosive Ohio State shaved Southern California's lead to 16 points today in The Associated Press' major college football poll.

The Trojans, who needed some last-quarter heroics by fabulous O. J. Simpson to subdue lowly Washington 14-7 over the weekend, held a 21-15 edge over Ohio State in first place votes.

But the Buckeyes, 4-0 after routing Northwestern 45-21, used strong second and third ballot strength to amass 784 points to Southern Cal's even 800.

Last week, when the defending national champs took over the top spot for the first time this season, they held a 46-point edge over Ohio State.

Meanwhile, the rest of the top 10 underwent some minor shuffling as Kansas moved into third place, trading spots with idle No. 4 Penn State.

The Jayhawks, 5-0 after trouncing Oklahoma State 49-14, were named first on five ballots, while Penn State, 4-0, drew one top vote.

Notre Dame, 4-1, advanced from sixth to fifth after humiliating Illinois 58-8. Tennessee, 4-0-1, moved from eighth to sixth after nipping Alabama 10-9.

Purdue, 4-1, which had to struggle for a 28-27 conquest of Wake Forest, continued its downslide, dropping from fifth to seventh. The Boilermakers had been ranked No. 1 until a loss to Ohio State Oct. 12.

Georgia jumped from 10th to eighth on the strength of a 32-6 coast past Vanderbilt. Miami, Fla., climbed from 12th to ninth following a 13-8 victory over Virginia Tech. Miami's only loss in five games has been to Southern Cal.

Indians Sell Davis To Padres

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Cleveland Indians have sold first baseman Bill Davis to the San Diego Padres of the National League, and shortstop Zoilo Versalles reportedly is on his way to Cleveland.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer said it has learned that the Padres, who picked Versalles in the National League expansion draft last week, will sell the shortstop to the Indians after the inter-league trading period formally begins Nov. 20.

Davis has been on the roster of the Tribe's Portland farm club.

Versalles won the American League' Most Valuable Player award in 1965, when the Minnesota Twins won the pennant. The Twins traded him to the Los Angeles Dodgers after he slumped to a .200 batting average in 1967.

Bothered by back and arm troubles, he batted only .196 for the Dodgers this year.

E. Palestine Top Defensive Area Team

East Palestine took over the lead in team defense among area teams, lowering its yield to 10.0 points a game.

Midland and Beaver Local are close behind with a yield of 10.7 points a game. Southern Local continues to lead in offense with 26 points a game, while Leetonia is next at 29 points a game.

The only change in the individual scoring was that Nelson Clark replaced Dan Cunningham in the Top 10.

Hayes Complains Again About Injury To QB Kern

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No one could really guess that Woody Hayes was about to explode.

"It's another beautiful autumn day . . . great for practice. I wouldn't want to miss it," the Ohio State football coach told his weekly luncheon Monday.

But before the writers and sportscasters had digested their dessert, Hayes fired his second salvo of the year at linemen who go out of their way to rough up passers.

"I'm outright disgusted on what they do to passers. I'm not only talking about games here," Woody said.

"I'm fed up. Too many coaches think that the way to stop the option is to put the quarterback out of business. This has no place in football. There has got to be protection for the passers."

Two weeks ago, Hayes said it was "open season on quarterbacks" after Rex Kern suffered a jaw injury, first believed to be a fracture.

Kern was hurt again in Ohio State's 45-21 victory over Northwestern.

"He's got a sore jaw. He's been lucky, though. One of these days it's going to be shattered."

Hayes said he had protested to Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed and sent a film clip along to support his case.

"Nobody can tell me a man can't ease up. Kern has been decked every game. This is getting out of hand."

Hayes suggested some harsh consequences for a defensive player who deliberately hits a passer after he has released the ball.

"I'd kick him out of the game and if he committed the violation twice, he'd be out for the season. And I'd suspend the coach for a week."

Hayes singled out guard Alan Jack as the outstanding offensive lineman in the Northwestern game and Kern as the top back. He said there was no top lineman or back on defense.

"Our defense wasn't very sharp against Northwestern. We were a bit banged up from Purdue."

The No. 2 ranked Buckeyes finally hit the road after four straight victories at home and Illinois should be victim No. 5.

The Illini, 0-5, have lost to Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Minnesota and Notre Dame.

"We always feel Illinois does a much better job against Big Ten opponents," said assistant coach Esco Sarkkinen. The Illini lost to Indiana, 28-14, and to Minnesota, 17-10, but have beaten the Bucks two straight years.

Ohio, which has outscored its foes 114 - 41, should have too much of everything against the injury-riddled Illini, who have scored only 39 points and yielded 194.

KENYON CRUSHER. Don Herron of East Liverpool, a guard on the Kenyon College football team, was named outstanding lineman of the week for his outstanding trap blocking in the Lords' 13-0 win over Lake Forest (Ill.)

Oaks Win 4th Straight; Bullets Whip Supersonics

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks remain unbeaten in Arerican Basketball Association play today while the Seattle SuperSonics still are looking for their first National Basketball Associatios victory.

The Oaks whipped the host New Orleans Buccaneers 137-129 in the only ABA game scheduled Monday night for their third straight triumph.

The Sonics, meanwhile, absorbed their fourth consecutive setback, bowing to the Baltimore Bullets 111-104 in Vancouver, B.C., in the only NBA game played.

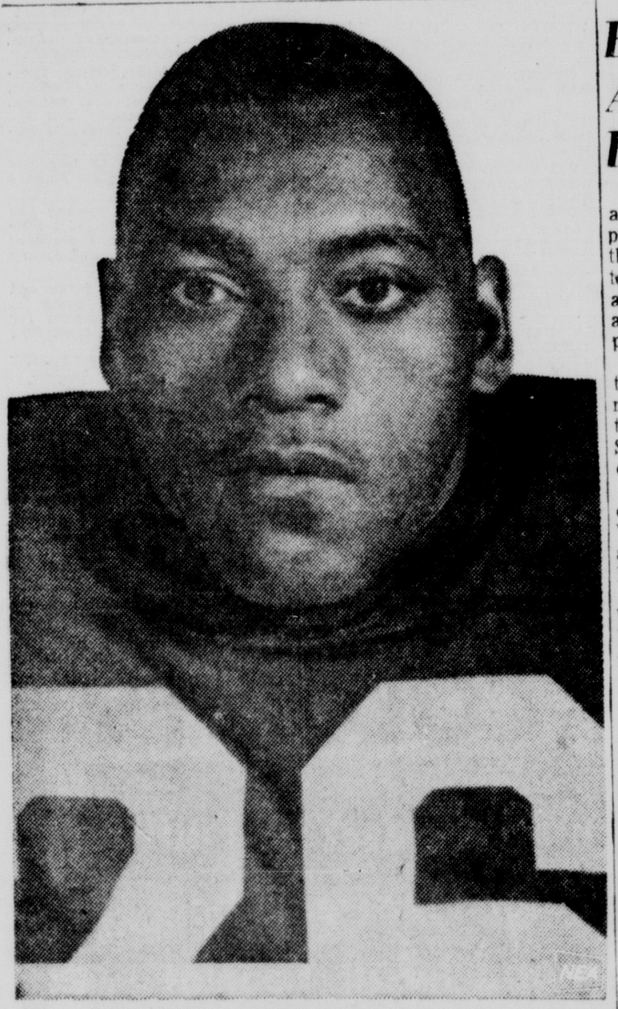

Oakland, behind Rick Barry, rallied in the fourth period to spoil New Orleans' league opener. The Bucs were leading 117-116 when Barry returned to action for the final 8½ minutes. The Oaks moved to a 124-118 lead and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Barry's 32 points—12 in the final six minutes—were high for the game. Steve Jones topped the Bucs with 28.

Baltimore, in gaining its third success in four outings, opened a 21-point advantage in the third period and then withstood a late Seattle comeback.

Tom Meschery of the Sonics captured scoring honors with 30 points while LeRoy Ellis and Earl Monroe paced the Bullets' balasced attack with 24 each.

Former Ohio State All-American Gary Bradds had 14 points for Oakland.

Charlie Leigh

". . . Without football, it's back to Arbor Hill."

Browns' Charlie Leigh Product Of Grid Sandlots

By MARTY RALBOVSKY

CLEVELAND — (NEA) Every major city has a section like it.

Los Angeles calls it Watts. Boston has its Roxbury, Pittsburgh its Hill District, Cleveland its Hough.

In Albany, N.Y., they call it Arbor Hill.

Large families, crowded into decaying tenements, are not uncommon on Arbor Hill. Fred and Anna Mae Leigh lived in one with their nine children (six girls and three boys). The kids grew up, got married and found a tenement for themselves.

None ever made it to college.

The fourth in line and the second son was Charles Irving, the expressionless introvert. As a kid, he'd run off every day to the nearest playground and shoot baskets, hustle up a game of football or wander over to the nearest poolroom and watch the older guys shoot a game of nine-ball.

By the time Charlie was 14, he was a football star in high school. At 19, he was a husband; at 20, a father. At 21, with a family to support, he faced the world without a job, a trade or a high degree of education.

The only thing Charlie Leigh knew how to do well was play football.

"I made up my mind right then and there," he recalls. "I was going to try and hook up with some kind of football team, any place in the country. I wanted to show what I could do. Somebody was bound to see me. Then I'd get a crack at making a pro club."

With suitcases under each arm, Charlie left Arbor Hill to seek his fortune. The odds against his making an NFL team were inclculable. But he did it.

By a bizarre route that took two years, he wound up as an offensive halfback with the Cleveland Browns and has been one of the few pleasant surprises for them this season. ("This kid," says one of the veteran Browns, "accelerates as fast as anyone I've ever seen.")

The rise of Leigh, however, started with indecision. He didn't know where to begin.

"I thought I'd try the Pittsburgh Steelers first," he recalls. "They answered a letter I sent them. They said I could have a tryout. I jumped on a bus and figured I had it made."

He didn't; the Steelers cut him.

"Then I tried the Continental League. I got a tryout with the Pennsylvania Mustangs. I made the team. But that was only the beginning. Soon I started shuffling all over the country."

After a stint with the Mustangs, Charlie played for teams in Washington, Pa., Orlando, Fla., Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va. "I was beginning to wonder if it was all worth it," he said. "But I couldn't quit, I needed the money."

The Browns noticed him in Norfolk. They invited him for a tryout, and he made the team.

"At first I felt funny because I never went to college and the other guys did," he says. "Then I said to myself, "What the hell. I'm here to play football. So are they. What's the difference?' Then I stopped thinking about it."

He started against the Steelers, the team that cut him loose, and scored a touchdown on a 25-yard run.

E. Howard Announces Retirement

BOSTON (AP) — Elston Howard, who played on 10 championship clubs in 14 seasons in the American League, was set to rejoin the New York Yankees as a coach today after formally announcing his retirement as a player.

"As of today, I've retired," the 39-year-old catcher told a hurriedly called news conference is the offices of the Boston Red Sox Monday. "There's no chance I will change my mind."

The Yankees called a news conference for today in New York and it appeared that Howard would be named coach on Manager Ralph Houk's staff.

Howard, the league's Most Valuable player while with the Yankees in 1963, became the first Negro to wear a Yankee uniform.

He divided his time among catching, first base and the outfield until old age caught up with catcher Yogi Berra. Then he settled down ot full - time catching.

He was sent to Boston for cash and minor league players in August, 1967, just in time to help the Red Sox in a dramatic surge to their first pennant in 21 years.

Pitt Expects Great Things From New Coach Ridl

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — A new chapter in Pitt basketball history, 'The Buzz Ridl Era', went into the books last Tuesday.

The man who conquered nearly everything there was to conquer in small college basketball, Charles 'Buzz' Ridl, move to the limelight of big - time college basketball, Ridl welcomed 14 candidates to his opening practice session as Pitt's head coach.

Selected this past March as Pitt's ninth head coach, Ridl brings with him to Pitt a record that is nearly unmatched in small college basketball. During his 12-year span at Westminster College, Ridl's teams won 216 games, lost only 91 (winning percentage of .704) and captured seven West Penn Conference titles in nine years.

In addition, he guided Westminster to six appearances in the NAIA tournament, twice reaching the finals. Ridl's 1961-62 squad was voted the number one small college team in the nation, and he was subsequently named NAIA coach of the year.

Now long-suffering Pitt basketball fans are hoping he can transfer that magic to the Panther Field House. It doesn't promise to be an easy job. In the last four years, Pitt has lost 67 of 92 games.

"It's like starting all over again, but I'm looking forward to the challenge," Ridl noted as he made his final plans for the opening of practice sessions. "It's hard for me to say how I feel we're going to do. I haven't had enough opportunity to look at the boys, and besides, I never make pre-season predictions. I always set a goal for winning season, but beyond that, I don't like to make predictions. I like to let the boys do that on the court."

Ridl had an opportunity to coach the present squad for one week after he was named in March, and it was enough time to convince him the Panthers will need plenty of hard work on their quickness and shooting.

"We don't have much height, so we're going to be stressing quickness and good shooting during our first few weeks," Ridl says. "We need to find some quick boys who like to play hard-nosed defense and who can move and shoot well."

A firm believer in a planned, deliberate offense, Ridl will be taking over a team that has been a notoriously bad shooting club the past several years. As a team last year, Pitt shot a little under 39 per cent from the field, and Ridl says it is necessary to shoot 45-47 per cent to win.

Although he won't find much height, Ridl will be greeted by a veteran squad. Eight lettermen return, including the top four scorers and two rebounders, from last year's 7 - 15 squad. Top scoring returnees are senior guard Tony DeLisio, 266 points (12.1); junior guard Bob McFarland, 229 points (10.4); junior foward Mike Parcher, 175 points (7.9); and junior guard Bob Petrini, 170 points (8.5). Patcher and McFarland also led the team in rebounding with 111 and 105 respectively.

The tallest man on the team will be junior center Charles Hunt, who checks in at 6-7.

Seven sophomores, up from a 7-5 freshman team last season, are expected to give Ridl some help. The biggest lift here is expected to come from Mike Caldwell, a 5-10 guard from Lebanon, Ind.; Mike Riggle, a 6-4 forward from Logansport, Ind., and Tom Withers, a 6-4 forward from Anderson, Ind.

Another new face to Panther fans will be Jerry Causer, a 6-5 junior transfer from Pitt's Johnstown campus center. Causer averaged 21 points a game last season for Pitt - Johnstown. Two other later additions to the squad will be foot- Paul Naponick. Lettermen last season, the pair is expected to join the basketball squad following the football season.

Pitt will be faced with a 24-game schedule this season that includes two tournament appearances. Besides the annual Steel Bowl, Pitt will participate in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla. The Panthers will play only eight home contests.

Scott Elliott Advances In Competition

CANTON — Scott Elliott of 615 Broadway, Wellsville, advanced in the zone Punt, Pass and Kick competition at Scott Field here Saturday.

Elliott won the eight - year-old division by 28 feet, combining his efforts for a 148-foot total.

Elliott will return to Canton for the district competition, which includes all of Northeastern Ohio, Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Bill Allen of Irondale placed third in the 12-year-old division. Frank DeSarro of Wellsville fourth in the nine-year-old division.

The competition is sponsored by area Ford dealers.

Alfred Cockran Wins Club's Championship

Alfred Cochran was named the high, over - all winner during a championship trapshoot held Sunday by the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association.

Ray Thompson was runner-up. The 16-yard champion was Paul Saling and Harold Rardon was second.

Thompson was the handicap champ, with Gary Tolson as runnerup. Cochran also won the doubles shootoff and Lanford Blevins took second.

All winners were presented trophies. The club will hold a regular shoot Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Early man believed that if he drew a likeness of game animals he would possess their souls and thus control them.

Curtis Cokes Listless In Title Defense

By JOHN S. LANG

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes isn't completely happy with his successful title defense against Argentina's Ramon La Cruz—and that just about makes it unanimous.

Neither is the challenger, of course, who blames a pulled arm muscle for losing the match, nor are the fans who catcalled and booed the lack of action Monday night.

"I just wasn't sharp," Cokes explained in his dressing room afterward. "I don't know if I was overtrained or undertrained, but I wasn't sharp."

Wratever it was, the mostly hitless sparring had the crowd stomping on the floor impatiently and the referee, during early rounds, urging the two fighters to mix it up.

A precision puncher who packs a solid right, Cokes gave a boxing lesson to La Cruz, stringing him repeatedly with long jabs and sudden crosses when the Argentine boxer lunged in to attack.

La Cruz, who weighed a half pound more at 147, ducked, weaved and bobbed so low trying to get under the champion's guard at times that his knees almost touched the canvas.

The victory for the 31-year-old champ from Dallas was judged unanimous. Referee Lucien Joubert and judge Maxie Ducosen scored the fight 11-3-1. Judge Pete Giarrusso had it 11-3.

The Associated Press card had the fight 9-3-3 in favor of Cokes.

Simballa Wins P.O. Golf Title

George Simballa won the championship of the East Liverpool Post Office Golf League Sunday at Highland Golf Course.

Simballa edged David Jackson on the 18th hole, shooting a 74 to Jackson's 75. Earl Davis took third place. Simballa had won the first half of play and Jackson the second half. Trophies and prizes were awarded to the winners.

The East Liverpool league was one of the first in Ohio to affiliate with the National Post Office Golf Association. Jackson is a regional director for the NPOGA.

Cincinnati Entertains Los Angeles

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals go after their third straight National Basketball Association victory tonight against the Los Angeles Lakers, now 1-1 for the season.

Oscar Robertson, with a 24-point average, is leading scorer for the Royals, who knocked off Atlanta and Detroit last week. Behind Robertson in the scoring is center Conni Dierking with a 23.5 average.

Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 center whom the Lakers acquired in a trade last year with Philadelphia, will team up with Elgin Baylor and Jerry West — considered by many as two of the NBA's finest—to try to spoil Cincinnati's victory bid.

Warren WR Tops EL Reserves 12-6

The East Liverpool reserve football taem dropped its third game in seven starts at Warren Western Reserve yesterday, 12-6.

The Potters scored on a Kim Kemple to Jim Moore pass. Warren got one score on a blocked punt.

Jim (EL) Parson suffered a neck strain in the contest.

Hayes Complains Again About Injury To QB Kern

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — No one could really guess that Woody Hayes was about to explode.

"It's another beautiful autumn day . . . great for practice. I wouldn't want to miss it," the Ohio State football coach told his weekly luncheon Monday.

But before the writers and sportscasters had digested their dessert, Hayes fired his second salvo of the year at linemen who go out of their way to rough up passers.

"I'm outright disgusted on what they do to passers. I'm not only talking about games here," Woody said.

"I'm fed up. Too many coaches think that the way to stop the option is to put the quarterback out of business. This has no place in football. There has got to be protection for the passers."

Two weeks ago, Hayes said it was "open season on quarterbacks" after Rex Kern suffered a jaw injury, first believed to be a fracture.

Kern was hurt again in Ohio State's 45-21 victory over Northwestern.

"He's got a sore jaw. He's been lucky, though. One of these days it's going to be shattered."

Hayes said he had protested to Big Ten Commissioner Bill Reed and sent a film clip along to support his case.

"Nobody can tell me a man can't ease up. Kern has been decked every game. This is getting out of hand."

Hayes suggested some harsh consequences for a defensive player who deliberately hits a passer after he has released the ball.

"I'd kick him out of the game and if he committed the violation twice, he'd be out for the season. And I'd suspend the coach for a week."

Hayes singled out guard Alan Jack as the outstanding offensive lineman in the Northwestern game and Kern as the top back. He said there was no top lineman or back on defense.

"Our defense wasn't very sharp against Northwestern. We were a bit banged up from Purdue."

The No. 2 ranked Buckeyes finally hit the road after four straight victories at home and Illinois should be victim No. 5.

The Illini, 0-5, have lost to Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Minnesota and Notre Dame.

"We always feel Illinois does a much better job against Big Ten opponents," said assistant coach Esco Sarkkinen. The Illini lost to Indiana, 28-14, and to Minnesota, 17-10, but have beaten the Bucks two straight years.

Ohio, which has outscored its foes 114 - 41, should have too much of everything against the injury-riddled Illini, who have scored only 39 points and yielded 194.

KENYON CRUSHER. Don Herron of East Liverpool, a guard on the Kenyon College football team, was named outstanding lineman of the week for his outstanding trap blocking in the Lords' 13-0 win over Lake Forest (Ill.)

Oaks Win 4th Straight; Bullets Whip Supersonics

By The Associated Press

The Oakland Oaks remain unbeaten in Arerican Basketball Association play today while the Seattle SuperSonics still are looking for their first National Basketball Associatios victory.

The Oaks whipped the host New Orleans Buccaneers 137-129 in the only ABA game scheduled Monday night for their third straight triumph.

The Sonics, meanwhile, absorbed their fourth consecutive setback, bowing to the Baltimore Bullets 111-104 in Vancouver, B.C., in the only NBA game played.

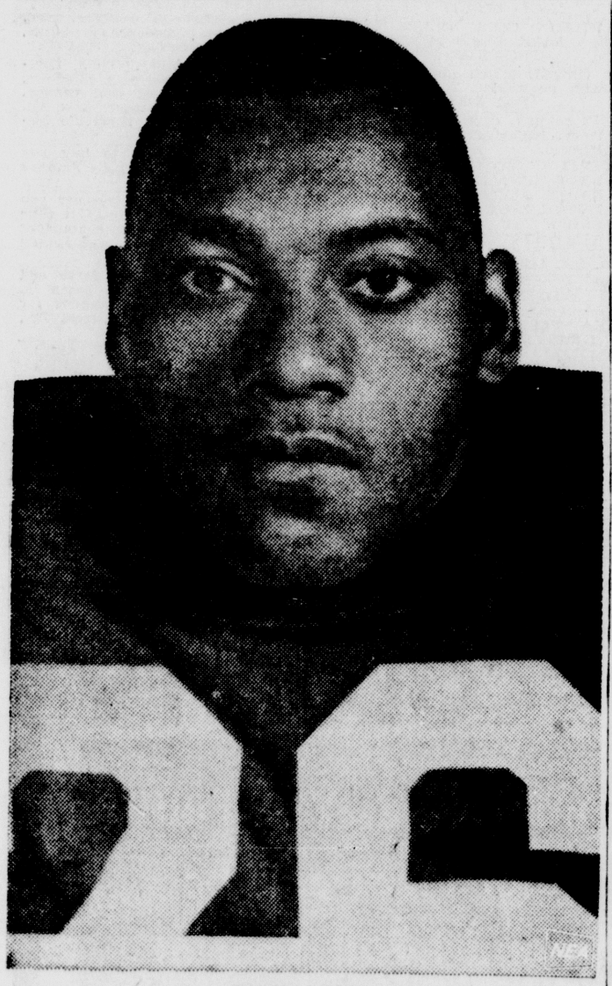

Oakland, behind Rick Barry, rallied in the fourth period to spoil New Orleans' league opener. The Bucs were leading 117-116 when Barry returned to action for the final 8½ minutes. The Oaks moved to a 124-118 lead and stayed ahead the rest of the way.

Barry's 32 points—12 in the final six minutes—were high for the game. Steve Jones topped the Bucs with 28.

Baltimore, in gaining its third success in four outings, opened a 21-point advantage in the third period and then withstood a late Seattle comeback.

Tom Meschery of the Sonics captured scoring honors with 30 points while LeRoy Ellis and Earl Monroe paced the Bullets' balasced attack with 24 each.

Former Ohio State All-American Gary Bradds had 14 points for Oakland.

Charlie Leigh

". . . Without football, it's back to Arbor Hill."

Browns' Charlie Leigh Product Of Grid Sandlots

By MARTY RALBOVSKY

CLEVELAND — (NEA) Every major city has a section like it.

Los Angeles calls it Watts. Boston has its Roxbury, Pittsburgh its Hill District, Cleveland its Hough.

In Albany, N.Y., they call it Arbor Hill.

Large families, crowded into decaying tenements, are not uncommon on Arbor Hill. Fred and Anna Mae Leigh lived in one with their nine children (six girls and three boys). The kids grew up, got married and found a tenement for themselves.

None ever made it to college.

The fourth in line and the second son was Charles Irving, the expressionless introvert. As a kid, he'd run off every day to the nearest playground and shoot baskets, hustle up a game of football or wander over to the nearest poolroom and watch the older guys shoot a game of nine-ball.

By the time Charlie was 14, he was a football star in high school. At 19, he was a husband; at 20, a father. At 21, with a family to support, he faced the world without a job, a trade or a high degree of education.

The only thing Charlie Leigh knew how to do well was play football.

"I made up my mind right then and there," he recalls. "I was going to try and hook up with some kind of football team, any place in the country. I wanted to show what I could do. Somebody was bound to see me. Then I'd get a crack at making a pro club."

With suitcases under each arm, Charlie left Arbor Hill to seek his fortune. The odds against his making an NFL team were incleulable. But he did it.

By a bizarre route that took two years, he wound up as an offensive halfback with the Cleveland Browns and has been one of the few pleasant surprises for them this season. ("This kid," says one of the veteran Browns, "accelerates as fast as anyone I've ever seen.")

The rise of Leigh, however, started with indecision. He didn't know where to begin.

"I thought I'd try the Pittsburgh Steelers first," he recalls. "They answered a letter I sent them. They said I could have a tryout. I jumped on a bus and figured I had it made."

He didn't; the Steelers cut him.

"Then I tried the Continental League. I got a tryout with the Pennsylvania Mustangs. I made the team. But that was only the beginning. Soon I started shuffling all over the country."

After a stint with the Mustangs, Charlie played for teams in Washington, Pa., Orlando, Fla., Philadelphia and Norfolk, Va. "I was beginning to wonder if it was all worth it," he said. "But I couldn't quit, I needed the money."

The Browns noticed him in Norfolk. They invited him for a tryout, and he made the team.

"At first I felt funny because I never went to college and the other guys did," he says. "Then I said to myself, "What the hell. I'm here to play football. So are they. What's the difference?" Then I stopped thinking about it."

He started against the Steelers, the team that cut him loose, and scored a touchdown on a 25-yard run.

E. Howard Announces Retirement

BOSTON (AP) — Elston Howard, who played on 10 championship clubs in 14 seasons in the American League, was set to rejoin the New York Yankees as a coach today after formally announcing his retirement as a player.

"As of today, I've retired," the 39-year-old catcher told a hurriedly called news conference is the offices of the Boston Red Sox Monday. "There's no chance I will change my mind."

The Yankees called a news conference for today in New York and it appeared that Howard would be named coach on Manager Ralph Houk's staff.

Howard, the league's Most Valuable player while with the Yankees in 1963, became the first Negro to wear a Yankee uniform.

He divided his time among catching, first base and the outfield until old age caught up with catcher Yogi Berra. Then he settled down ot full - time catching.

He was sent to Boston for cash and minor league players in August, 1967, just in time to help the Red Sox in a dramatic surge to their first pennant in 21 years.

Pitt Expects Great Things From New Coach Ridl

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — A new chapter in Pitt basketball history, 'The Buzz Ridl Era', went into the books last Tuesday.

The man who conquered nearly everything there was to conquer in small college basketball, Charles 'Buzz' Ridl, move to the limelight of big - time college basketball, Ridl welcomed 14 candidates to his opening practice session as Pitt's head coach.

Selected this past March as Pitt's ninth head coach, Ridl brings with him to Pitt a record that is nearly unmatched in small college basketball. During his 12-year span at Westminster College, Ridl's teams won 216 games, lost only 91 (winning percentage of .704) and captured seven West Penn Conference titles in nine years.

In addition, he guided Westminster to six appearances in the NAIA tournament, twice reaching the finals. Ridl's 1961-62 squad was voted the number one small college team in the nation, and he was subsequently named NAIA coach of the year.

Now long-suffering Pitt basketball fans are hoping he can transfer that magic to the Panther Field House. It doesn't promise to be an easy job. In the last four years, Pitt has lost 67 of 92 games.

"It's like starting all over again, but I'm looking forward to the challenge," Ridl noted as he made his final plans for the opening of practice sessions. "It's hard for me to say how I feel we're going to do. I haven't had enough opportunity to look at the boys, and besides, I never make pre-season predictions. I always set a goal for winning season, but beyond that, I don't like to make predictions. I like to let the boys do that on the court."

Ridl had an opportunity to coach the present squad for one week after he was named in March, and it was enough time to convince him the Panthers will need plenty of hard work on their quickness and shooting.

"We don't have much height, so we're going to be stressing quickness and good shooting during our first few weeks," Ridl says. "We need to find some quick boys who like to play hard-nosed defense and who can move and shoot well."

A firm believer in a planned, deliberate offense, Ridl will be taking over a team that has been a notoriously bad shooting club the past several years. As a team last year, Pitt shot a little under 39 per cent from the field, and Ridl says it is necessary to shoot 45-47 per cent to win.

Although he won't find much height, Ridl will be greeted by a veteran squad. Eight lettermen return, including the top four scorers and two rebounders, from last year's 7 - 15 squad. Top scoring returnees are senior guard Tony DeLisio, 266 points (12.1); junior guard Bob McFarland, 229 points (10.4); junior foward Mike Parcher, 175 points (7.9); and junior guard Bob Petrini, 170 points (8.5). Patcher and McFarland also led the team in rebounding with 111 and 105 respectively.

The tallest man on the team will be junior center Charles Hunt, who checks in at 6-7.

Seven sophomores, up from a 7-5 freshman team last season, are expected to give Ridl some help. The biggest lift here is expected to come from Mike Caldwell, a 5-10 guard from Lebanon, Ind.; Mike Riggle, a 6-4 forward from Logansport, Ind., and Tom Withers, a 6-4 forward from Anderson, Ind.

Another new face to Panther fans will be Jerry Causer, a 6-5 junior transfer from Pitt's Johnstown campus center. Causer averaged 21 points a game last season for Pitt - Johnstown. Two other later additions to the squad will be foot- Paul Naponick. Lettermen last season, the pair is expected to join the basketball squad following the football season.

Pitt will be faced with a 24-game schedule this season that includes two tournament appearances. Besides the annual Steel Bowl, Pitt will participate in the Hurricane Classic at Miami, Fla. The Panthers will play only eight home contests.

Scott Elliott Advances In Competition

CANTON — Scott Elliott of 615 Broadway, Wellsville, advanced in the zone Punt, Pass and Kick competition at Scott Field here Saturday.

Elliott won the eight - year-old division by 28 feet, combining his efforts for a 148-foot total.

Elliott will return to Canton for the district competition, which includes all of Northeastern Ohio, Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Bill Allen of Irondale placed third in the 12-year-old division. Frank DeSarro of Wellsville fourth in the nine-year-old division.

The competition is sponsored by area Ford dealers.

Alfred Cockran Wins Club's Championship

Alfred Cochran was named the high, over - all winner during a championship trapshoot held Sunday by the Columbiana County Fish and Game Protective Association.

Ray Thompson was runner-up. The 16-yard champion was Paul Saling and Harold Rardon was second.

Thompson was the handicap champ, with Gary Tolson as runnerup. Cochran also won the doubles shootoff and Lanford Blevins took second.

All winners were presented trophies. The club will hold a regular shoot Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Early man believed that if he drew a likeness of game animals he would possess their souls and thus control them.

Curtis Cokes Listless In Title Defense

By JOHN S. LANG

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Welterweight champion Curtis Cokes isn't completely happy with his successful title defense against Argentina's Ramon La Cruz—and that just about makes it unanimous.

Neither is the challenger, of course, who blames a pulled arm muscle for losing the match, nor are the fans who catcalled and booed the lack of action Monday night.

"I just wasn't sharp," Cokes explained in his dressing room afterward. "I don't know if I was overtrained or undertrained, but I wasn't sharp."

Wratever it was, the mostly hitless sparring had the crowd stomping on the floor impatiently and the referee, during early rounds, urging the two fighters to mix it up.

A precision puncher who packs a solid right, Cokes gave a boxing lesson to La Cruz, stringing him repeatedly with long jabs and sudden crosses when the Argentine boxer lunged in to attack.

La Cruz, who weighed a half pound more at 147, ducked, weaved and bobbed so low trying to get under the champion's guard at times that his knees almost touched the canvas.

The victory for the 31-year-old champ from Dallas was judged unanimous. Referee Lucien Joubert and judge Maxie Ducosen scored the fight 11-3-1. Judge Pete Giarrusso had it 11-1-3.

The Associated Press card had the fight 9-3-3 in favor of Cokes.

Simballa edged David Jackson on the 18th hole, shooting a 74 to Jackson's 75. Earl Davis took third place. Simballa had won the first half of play and Jackson the second half. Trophies and prizes were awarded to the winners.

The East Liverpool league was one of the first in Ohio to affiliate with the National Post Office Golf Association. Jackson is a regional director for the NPOGA.

Cincinnati Entertains Los Angeles

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Royals go after their third straight National Basketball Association victory tonight against the Los Angeles Lakers, now 1-1 for the season.

Oscar Robertson, with a 24-point average, is leading scorer for the Royals, who knocked off Atlanta and Detroit last week. Behind Robertson in the scoring is center Conni Dierking with a 23.5 average.

Wilt Chamberlain, the 7-foot-2 center whom the Lakers acquired in a trade last year with Philadelphia, will team up with Elgin Baylor and Jerry West — considered by many as two of the NBA's finest—to try to spoil Cincinnati's victory bid.

Warren WR Tops EL Reserves 12-6

The East Liverpool reserve football taem dropped its third game in seven starts at Warren Western Reserve yesterday, 12-6.

The Potters scored on a Kim Kemple to Jim Moore pass. Warren got one score on a blocked punt.

Jim (EL) Parson suffered a neck strain in the contest.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Anti - Masonic party, America's first "third party," was also the first party to hold a presidential nominating convention and the first to announce a platform. On Sept. 26, 1831, the anti-Masons nominated William Wirt for president and Amos Ellmaker for vice - president. Formed in New York in 1828, the party declined after the elections of 1836.

Girl Scout News Items

Officers were elected when Girl Scout Troop 176 met at the Midland Heights Community Building.

They are Parrot Patrol—Diane Ferraro, leader, and Mary Vassalo, assistant. Oriole — Diane Lozzi, leader, and Theresa Castelli, assistant. Rita Coryell is the scribe.

The girls are working on drama and cooking badges.

The girls camped last weekend at Brady's Run Park. Work was completed on the outdoors badge.

A "Scout's Own" was held with members of Chippewa Girl Scouts as guests.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Casmir Vassalo and Mrs. Anthony Lozzi, leaders, and Mrs. Frank Dapollonia and Mrs. George Zetz.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at the community building. A Halloween costume party will be held.

Union Threatens To Continue Its Sick-Call Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Union leaders have threatened that Summit County workers will continue a sick-call strike until a dispite over hospitalization insurance payments is settled.

More than 250 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes' Union were off the job Monday.

The union says the county commissioners promised paid hospitalization for all county employes but County Auditor C. L. Bower has refused to approve the method of payment.

Bower says funds are not available for the payments next year, even though the county could afford the new expenditure this year.

Bishop's Mother Claimed At 81

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. William Cosgrove, 81, mother of Bishop William M Cosgrove, who was consecrated auxiliary bishop of the Cleveland Roman Catholic Diocese last month, died Monday.

Mrs. Cosgrove, the former Margaret Leahy, was born at Canal Fulton and lived in Canton for a number of years. Her husband, who died in 1918, was in the real estate and investments business.

Mrs. Cosgrove was associated with an insurance agency here for several years before retiring in 1960.

She died in the rectory of St. Henry Church, where her son has been pastor since 1966.

Bishop Cosgrove will be the main celebrant of the concelebrated mass at St. Henry Church Friday at 10:30 a.m. Interment will be in Canton.

Children, Cops Join In Chasing Wild Goat

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — What a sight—a wild 85-pound goat scurrying down the street with 200 excited children and police in hot pursuit.

The children finally chased the animal into Vista Park. Police borrowed a tranquilizer gun from a game warden and put billy to sleep.

Just before he dozed off Sunday, the youngsters fed him potato chips and sandwiches. The billygoat was then taken home to the high country.

Animal Health Plan

VIENNA (AP) — An Austrian insurance company plans to introduce a health insurance for domestic animals. A 40 Schilling ($1.60) monthly premium would ensure free veterinarian treatment and cover expenses for a stay in an animal hospital.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 63, 1968

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 145.01 OF THE CODIFIED ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, AS AMENDED, WHICH ESTABLISHES THE COMPOSITION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT, TO GRANT CERTAIN EMERGENCY POWERS TO THE MAYOR OF SAID CITY.

WHEREAS, the Codified Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, does contain the following section, as amended by Ordinance Number 13, 1968, which is herein expressly set forth, to-wit:

SECTION 145.01 COMPOSITION

The regular Police Department of the City shall be composed of: one Chief, two Captains, three Lieutenants and twenty Patrolmen.

AND, WHEREAS, City Council is of the opinion that it has become necessary, in order to preserve and promote the peace and good order of said City, to provide certain emergency powers for the Mayor. Said powers will permit the Mayor to provide additional temporary Patrolmen for Police service in the case of an emergency.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That Section 145.01 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, as amended by Ordinance Number 13, 1968, be hereby amended, and which amended section is hereby ordained to read as follows:

SECTION 145.01 COMPOSITION

(a) The regular Police Department of the City shall be composed of: one Chief, two Captains, three Lieutenants and twenty Patrolmen.

(b) In case of an emergency, the Mayor may appoint additional patrolmen, who need not be in the classified list of such department, for temporary service in the Police Department. Such additional patrolmen shall be employed only for the time, not in excess of 120 days, during which the emergency exists.

SECTION 2. That Section 145.01, as amended, be hereby repealed.

SECTION 3. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, welfare and safety, the emergency being the necessity for

ORDINANCE NUMBER 61, 1968

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE ZONING MAP BY CHANGING THE ZONING CLASSIFICATION OF PROPERTY KNOWN AS LOT NUMBER 11 OF McKINNON'S ADDITION TO THE EAST END.

WHEREAS, an application for a change in the Zoning Map by changing the zoning classification of certain property hereinafter described was submitted to the Planning Commission, and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on the proposed application, due notice of which was given by publication thirty days prior to said hearing and in addition thereto written notice was mailed to owners of all properties lying within 200 feet of the property described below, and

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission has recommended to this Council that the application be granted and has certified such to this Council and this Council has held a public hearing after due notice given of the proposed amendment and has considered the recommendations of the Planning Commission;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the zoning classification of the following described property be changed, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio and known as and being a part of Lot number 11 of McKinnon's Ohio City Addition to East End in said City, and described by beginning at a point on the Southerly line of Lot number 11 and on the Northerly line of Mulberry Street, said point being in a Southeasterly direction along the Northerly line of Mulberry Street 40.5 feet from the Southwesterly corner of Lot number 11, said point being the place of beginning of the herein described tract; thence in a Southeasterly direction 19.7 feet, more or less, to a point, which point is at the intersection of the Northerly line of Mulberry Street with the Westerly line of an alley; thence in a Northeasterly direction along the Easterly line of Lot number 11, and the Westerly line of the above mentioned alley, a distance of 175.52 feet, more or less, to a point, which point is the Northeasterly corner of Lot number 11, and is also in the Southerly line of Lot number 1141; thence in a Westerly direction along the Northerly line of Lot number 11, 100 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Southwesterly direction 40.45 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Northwesterly direction 34.2 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Southwesterly direction 92.00 feet, more or less, to the place of beginning of the within described part of Lot number 11.

The change will be from its present classification of "R-3" to the new classification of "M-3".

SECTION 2. That the Zoning Map be amended to show the change in classification above.

SECTION 3. That this Ordinance is hereby declared by Council to be an emergency measure and shall be in force immediately upon passage. Said emergency lies in the fact that it will be beneficial to the economic well being of the city for the commercial construction upon the described premises above and said construction may not now take place under the present zoning classification and it is therefore necessary to protect the health, public peace and safety of the citizens of the City of East Liverpool.

Passed this 12th day of Oct., 1968.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The Anti - Masonic party, America's first "third party," was also the first party to hold a presidential nominating convention and the first to announce a platform. On Sept. 26, 1831, the anti-Masons nominated William Wirt for president and Amos Ellmaker for vice - president. Formed in New York in 1828, the party declined after the elections of 1836.

Girl Scout News Items

Officers were elected when Girl Scout Troop 176 met at the Midland Heights Community Building.

They are Parrot Patrol—Diane Ferraro, leader, and Mary Vassalo, assistant. Oriole — Diane Lozzi, leader, and Theresa Castelli, assistant. Rita Coryell is the scribe.

The girls are working on drama and cooking badges.

The girls camped last weekend at Brady's Run Park. Work was completed on the outdoors badge.

A "Scout's Own" was held with members of Chippewa Girl Scouts as guests.

The girls were accompanied by Mrs. Casmir Vassalo and Mrs. Anthony Lozzi, leaders, and Mrs. Frank Dapollonia and Mrs. George Zetz.

The next meeting will be Nov. 1 at the community building. A Halloween costume party will be held.

Union Threatens To Continue Its Sick-Call Strike

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Union leaders have threatened that Summit County workers will continue a sick-call strike until a dispite over hospitalization insurance payments is settled.

More than 250 members of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes' Union were off the job Monday.

The union says the county commissioners promised paid hospitalization for all county employes but County Auditor C. L. Bower has refused to approve the method of payment.

Bower says funds are not available for the payments next year, even though the county could afford the new expenditure this year.

Bishop's Mother Claimed At 81

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. William Cosgrove, 81, mother of Bishop William M Cosgrove, who was consecrated auxiliary bishop of the Cleveland Roman Catholic Diocese last month, died Monday.

Mrs. Cosgrove, the former Margaret Leahy, was born at Canal Fulton and lived in Canton for a number of years. Her husband, who died in 1918, was in the real estate and investments business.

Mrs. Cosgrove was associated with an insurance agency here for several years before retiring in 1960.

She died in the rectory of St. Henry Church, where her son has been pastor since 1966.

Bishop Cosgrove will be the main celebrant of the concelebrated mass at St. Henry Church Friday at 10:30 a.m. Interment will be in Canton.

Children, Cops Join In Chasing Wild Goat

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — What a sight—a wild 85-pound goat scurrying down the street with 200 excited children and police in hot pursuit.

The children finally chased the animal into Vista Park. Police borrowed a tranquilizer gun from a game warden and put billy to sleep.

Just before he dozed off Sunday, the youngsters fed him potato chips and sandwiches. The billygoat was then taken home to the high country.

Animal Health Plan

VIENNA (AP) — An Austrian insurance company plans to introduce a health insurance for domestic animals. A 40 Schilling ($1.60) monthly premium would ensure free veterinarian treatment and cover expenses for a stay in an animal hospital.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 63, 1968

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING SECTION 145.01 OF THE CODIFIED ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, OHIO, AS AMENDED, WHICH ESTABLISHES THE COMPOSITION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT, TO GRANT CERTAIN EMERGENCY POWERS TO THE MAYOR OF SAID CITY.

WHEREAS, the Codified Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, does contain the following section, as amended by Ordinance Number 13, 1968, which is herein expressly set forth, to-wit:

SECTION 145.01 COMPOSITION

The regular Police Department of the City shall be composed of: one Chief, two Captains, three Lieutenants and twenty Patrolmen.

AND, WHEREAS, City Council is of the opinion that it has become necessary, in order to preserve and promote the peace and good order of said City, to provide certain emergency powers for the Mayor. Said powers will permit the Mayor to provide additional temporary Patrolmen for Police service in the case of an emergency.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That Section 145.01 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of East Liverpool, Ohio, as amended by Ordinance Number 13, 1968, be hereby amended, and which amended section is hereby ordained to read as follows:

SECTION 145.01 COMPOSITION

(a) The regular Police Department of the City shall be composed of: one Chief, two Captains, three Lieutenants and twenty Patrolmen.

(b) In case of an emergency, the Mayor may appoint additional patrolmen, who need not be in the classified list of such department, for temporary service in the Police Department. Such additional patrolmen shall be employed only for the time, not in excess of 120 days, during which the emergency exists.

SECTION 2. That Section 145.01, as amended, be hereby repealed.

SECTION 3. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, welfare and safety, the emergency being the necessity for granting to the Mayor certain powers to provide for any emergency contingencies that may arise in the province on preserving the peace and protecting persons and property. This ordinance shall thereby take effect and be in force immediately upon its passage and approval.

ORDINANCE NUMBER 61, 1968

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE ZONING MAP BY CHANGING THE ZONING CLASSIFICATION OF PROPERTY KNOWN AS LOT NUMBER 11 OF McKINNON'S ADDITION TO THE EAST END.

WHEREAS, an application for a change in the Zoning Map by changing the zoning classification of certain property hereinafter described was submitted to the Planning Commission, and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on the proposed application, due notice of which was given by publication thirty days prior to said hearing and in addition thereto written notice was mailed to owners of all properties lying within 200 feet of the property described below, and

WHEREAS, the Planning Commission has recommended to this Council that the application be granted and has certified such to this Council and this Council has held a public hearing after due notice given of the proposed amendment and has considered the recommendations of the Planning Commission;

NOW, THEREFORE,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF EAST LIVERPOOL, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION 1. That the zoning classification of the following described property be changed, to-wit:

Situated in the City of East Liverpool, County of Columbiana and State of Ohio and known as and being a part of Lot number 11 of McKinnon's Ohio City Addition to East End in said City, and more particularly bounded and described by beginning at a point on the Southerly line of Lot number 11 and on the Northerly line of Mulberry Street, said point being in a Southeasterly direction along the Northerly line of Mulberry Street 40.5 feet from the Southwesterly corner of Lot number 11, said point being the place of beginning of the herein described tract; thence in a Southeasterly direction 19.7 feet, more or less, to a point, which point is at the intersection of the Northerly line of Mulberry Street with the Westerly line of an alley; thence in a Northeasterly direction along the Easterly line of Lot number 11, and the Westerly line of the above mentioned alley, a distance of 175.52 feet, more or less, to a point, which point is the Northeasterly corner of Lot number 11, and is also in the Southerly line of Lot number 1141; thence in a Westerly direction along the Northerly line of Lot number 11, 100 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Southwesterly direction 40.45 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Northwesterly direction 34.2 feet, more or less, to a point; thence at right angles in a Southwesterly direction 92.06 feet, more or less, to the place of beginning of the within described part of Lot number 11.

The change will be from its present classification of "R-3" to the new classification of "M-3".

SECTION 2. That the Zoning Map be amended to show the change in classification above.

SECTION 3. That this Ordinance is hereby declared by Council to be an emergency measure and shall be in force immediately upon passage. Said emergency lies in the fact that it will be beneficial to the economic well being of the city for the commercial construction upon the described premises above and said construction may not now take place under the present zoning classification and it is therefore necessary to protect the health, public peace and safety of the citizens of the City of East Liverpool.

COMPACT TRACTOR

When the snow begins to pile up, attach the big, trip-type snowblade to the front of your Gravely-424 compact tractor. That 42" blade will clear a path in seconds . . . with you setting the angle from your command seat behind the wheel. The rugged, easy-steering 424 is a year-round performer with all-gear drive, and the engine in the rear for super-traction.

Let us demonstrate the GRAVELY-424. Come in for a test ride. It'll be love at first sight.

GRAVELY-424
COMPACT TRACTOR

When the snow begins to pile up, attach the big, trip-type snowblade to the front of your Gravely-424 compact tractor. That 42" blade will clear a path in seconds . . . with you setting the angle from your command seat behind the wheel. The rugged, easy-steering 424 is a year-round performer with all-gear drive, and the engine in the rear for super-traction.

Let us demonstrate the GRAVELY-424. Come in for a test ride. It'll be love at first sight.

Put a Tornado to Work For You
The 38" Snowblower

a 2-stage blower that blows the snow where you want it . . . from one foot to 50 feet away. Non-clogging, open-throat with directional chute.

Junior Editors Quiz on SEA WATER

QUESTION: What makes sea water so salty?

* * * *

ANSWER: The earth's rivers run ceaselessly toward the sea. As they go, they bear minerals which have been taken by erosion from the rocks of the land. Among these are the mineral compounds called salts, such as sodium chloride — the very familiar table salt. It is because so much of this has been washed into the sea that sea water tastes salty. Other salts are also brought seaward by the rivers; calcium salts are an example of this. Calcium is extremely important to us, because it enters into the composition of our bones. In sea water, enormous amounts of the calcium brought in are taken out to provide hard shells and skeletons for various sea creatures and plants. We illustrate some groups of these. The foraminifera (1) are minute animals which build exquisite calcium shells around themselves. The corals, (2) much larger, encase themselves in hard forms, beautifully colored. Many mollusks, (3), like oysters and clams, make handsome shells of calcium. The diatoms (4) are very minute sea plants also enclosed in calcium shells.

(Russ Dunavan of Fort Collins, Colo., wins a prize for this question. You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 22, the 296th day of 1968. There are 70 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1962, President John F. Kennedy ordered U.S. air and naval forces to establish a quarantine of Cuba after concluding that the Soviet Union was building missile bases on the island.

In 1721, Peter the Great took the title of Czar of all Russia.

In 1746, Princeton University was chartered.

In 1836, General Sam Houston was sworn into office as the first president of the Republic of Texas.

In 1907, a run on a New York bank set off a financial crisis known as the panic of 1907.

In 1941, 50 men in occupied France were put to death in reprisal for the assassinatin of a Nazi officer.

Five years ago — The United States flew its second armored division to West Germany to test the nation's ability to rapidly deploy fighting forces overseas.

Ten years ago — U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was in Formosa conferring with Nationalist Chinese officials about Communist China's threats against Quemoy and other offshore islands.

THE BORN LOSER

East Liverpool Review Readers: Special INTRODUCTORY OFFER brings you as much as

$10,000.00 EXTRA INCOME WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

—Only 25¢ enrolls your entire family for the first month

★ Pays in addition to all other coverage you have—including Medicare

★ Pays up to $10,000.00 tax free cash for each hospital stay

★ Pays $100.00-A-WEEK cash each time you go to the hospital...even up to 100 weeks

★ Pays you cash benefits that increase each year...to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK...at no extra cost to you!

★ Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital)

★ No age limit—no medical examination required

★ No salesman will call

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., OCT. 26, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that

...Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year—at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments...at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and—best of all...

...The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost.

You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan (#HP 18L-1067)...

...Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week—for as long as you need the nurse—even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential...

...Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits—up to 100 weeks for each hospital stay!

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home...you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefits: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefits: Choose either Family Plan...and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital...for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week—for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

As a special consideration to you—if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force—you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee.

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment Form NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time—direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

PAYS up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital. PAYS up to $7,000.00 CASH at the rate of $70.00-A-WEEK if you are 65 or over... in addition to Medicare.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH—if you need a full-time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital—up to 50 weeks.

PAYS $1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.

PAYS up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.

PAYS $100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.

PAYS up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.

PAYS you cash benefits that increase each year... to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK...at no extra cost to you.

PAYS you cash benefits for hospitalization for any accident immediately. Any sickness is covered beginning 30 days after Effective Date of policy.

NO age limit—no medical examination required—no salesman will call.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT $70.00-A-WEEK IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week...EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

(Source: U.S. Dept. of Health, Education & Welfare)

Social Security Bulletin, July 1967

Govt. figures reveal your present health protection... may no longer protect you against today's rising medical costs! Don't leave your loved ones defenseless! Act at once to add up to $10,000.00 to your health protection for only 25¢ for entire family.

Make your decision carefully.

Think how costly a hospital confinement will be. Imagine paying for those indispensible x-rays, doctor bills, medicines and drugs that are not covered by your present insurance.

Would you be able to afford the quiet and privacy of a private room and a private nurse, should you so desire? Or a telephone to keep in touch with loved ones? Or the rental of a TV set to help pass the lonely hours? Who would pay your bills that keep on coming in at home? Many folks have lost their life savings, their cars, even their homes trying to meet such expenses. And no one knows whose turn it will be next.

Why you must act before the deadline date shown on your enrollment form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to apply for your insurance policy—only a few days? Because, as mentioned above, we must receive your Enrollment Form the same time as all the others in order to pass on to you the savings that come from processing many policies at one time.

We mail you the policy as soon as we receive your Enrollment Form. When the policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. Take all the time you need. It's a very short document, and you'll be pleasantly surprised to discover there is NO FINE PRINT. Then—show it, if you wish, to someone you trust. Perhaps your lawyer, accountant, or banker. Better still—show it to your own insurance man...even though he may very well be working for another company! If he is a personal friend, he has your best interests in mind. So you can believe him when he tells you there is no better bargain available anywhere—at any price!

Money back guarantee—in case you change your mind.

Even after you mail your Enrollment Form below...even after you examine the policy in your own home and talk it over with anyone you wish...even after all this you are still free to return the policy within 15 days and your quarter will be refunded at once. There will be no obligation whatever.

Meanwhile, all during the 15 days you are making up your mind—you'll be protected by $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash benefits just as if you had already said "yes." That's right, you will be fully covered all this time for any accident which puts you in the hospital, even if you finally decide to return the policy.

However, after you've seen the policy for yourself, you will surely agree that this is a tremendous value and you'll want to continue this $100.00-A-WEEK extra cash protection under the Plan that's best for you.

PLAN I — INDIVIDUAL(S) ONLY PLAN:

If you want to cover yourself—or yourself and one or more adult dependents (including your spouse)—then this is the Plan for you. Each person must be 18 or over, and shall pay (per person) the rate applicable to his or her age. NOTE: Where there are no dependents, PLAN I is the most economical to choose for a husband or wife (or both).

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
18-39	only $3.95
40-49	only $4.95
50-59	only $5.95
60-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $8.95

PLAN II — FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is still growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $5. This entitles you to all maternity benefits. It also covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home. Future dependent children will be covered when they reach 3 months of age and without any additional charge.

PLAN III — FAMILY PLAN WITHOUT MATERNITY

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. With the exception of children yet-to-be-born, PLAN III covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now — "later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your enrollment form, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive. You are paid $50.00 a week up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
You certainly will...regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day...or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does the Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
$100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits...at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes...when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for as long as 100 weeks for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members 65 or over are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan (excluding Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?
Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements to enroll in one of the Presidential Plans?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?
Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief enrollment form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join?

ACT NOW—YOUR ENROLLMENT FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT SAT., OCT. 26, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

One out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have tripled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in the famous Presidential Extra Cash Plan that

...Pays you $100.00 a week tax-free cash when you go to the hospital.

What a blessing it is when you know you have an extra $100.00 cash coming in every week—beginning the very first day you enter the hospital.

Now, Presidential's economy plan enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Because it will NOT cost you $20.00. It will NOT cost you $10.00—or even $5.00. Your special low price is just 25¢ for the first month's coverage for your entire family. Then continue at low Presidential rates.

Your cash benefits increase each year—at no extra cost to you!

And what peace of mind not to worry about rising costs. Your protection automatically increases $3.00 a week each year. The first year you get $100.00 a week. You get $103.00 a week in the second year. $106.00 a week in the third year. $109.00 a week in the fourth year. By the eleventh year, your policy will be worth a full $130.00 a week in benefit payments...at no increase in cost to you! This generous cash reserve protection will belong to you for as long as you keep the policy. You can see that your insurance will be worth much more than the present "face value" of the policy. Certainly, our increased payments to you will help keep pace with rising costs and—best of all...

...The increasing benefits come to you at no extra cost.

You still pay the regular low Presidential premium!

What other Plan protects you like this today? What other Plan keeps protecting you against rising living costs in the years ahead without increasing your premiums? And that's not all. This special Presidential Extra Cash Plan (#HP 18L-1067)...

...Pays you $100.00 a week CASH for a registered nurse at home.

Yes, in addition to the $100.00 weekly checks we send you during your hospital stay, we pay you an extra $100.00 a week if the doctor says you need a full-time registered nurse to take care of you at home.

How comforting it is to know that—after your stay in the hospital, if you've been there three days or more, you can return home to recuperate and yet not be a burden to your loved ones. Yes, if your doctor says you need a registered nurse full time within 5 days after you come home, we'll send you checks for $100.00 a week—for as long as you need the nurse—even up to 50 weeks. It's like having a reserve of $5,000.00 cash to draw on when you need it. These benefits also increase each year by $3.00 a week. Another exceptional feature you have with Presidential...

PAYS	up to $10,000.00 CASH for each accident or illness, starting the very first day in the hospital. PAYS up to $7,000.00 CASH at the rate of $70.00-A-WEEK if you are 65 or over... in addition to Medicare.
PAYS	$100.00 A WEEK CASH—if you need a full-time registered nurse when you come home from the hospital—up to 50 weeks.
PAYS	$1,000.00 EXTRA CASH for accidental death.
PAYS	up to $2,000.00 CASH for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight.
PAYS	$100.00 A WEEK CASH for each pregnancy, when you go to the hospital, assuming both husband and wife have been enrolled in the Family Plan With Maternity.
PAYS	up to $5,000.00 at the rate of $50.00 A WEEK when a child goes to the hospital for any accident or illness when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
PAYS	you cash benefits that increase each year... to a maximum of $130.00-A-WEEK...at no extra cost to you.
PAYS	you cash benefits for hospitalization for any accident immediately. Any sickness is covered beginning 30 days after Effective Date of policy.
NO	age limit—no medical examination required—no salesman will call.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT $70.00-A-WEEK IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with the Presidential Extra Cash Plan in addition to what Medicare will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have. Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you (not to the doctor or hospital), to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most. Use the tax-free cash any way you see fit. And you will be glad to know the checks will be big ones! In addition to what you receive from Medicare, Presidential pays you $70.00 a week...EVEN FOR 100 WEEKS if necessary! You can receive as much as $7,000.00 for each illness or injury when hospitalized!

...Pays you $100.00 a week cash maternity benefits—up to 100 weeks for each hospital stay!

Ordinary hospital insurance may take care of part of your expenses when you go to the hospital to have a baby. But what policy can you think of that gives you cash to buy all the things you need for the new baby? Now, if both husband and wife are insured in the wonderful Family Plan With Maternity for the entire period of the pregnancy, you get extra cash to use any way you want. If a pregnancy, childbirth or even miscarriage puts you in the hospital for one day, five days, 10 days—as long as necessary—you get $100.00 a week for every day of your confinement, up to 100 weeks.

All these added cash benefits.

Yes, in addition to $100.00 a week for hospitalization or $100.00 a week maternity benefits and $100.00 a week for a registered nurse at home...you get all this:

Added cash benefits: $1,000.00 cash to your family if death occurs within 90 days from any accidental injury. Think of how handy the cash can be in time of loss. It can take care of burial expenses without burdening your loved ones.

Added cash benefits: Up to $2,000.00 cash for accidental loss of limbs or eyesight, when the loss occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident. The loss of a limb or eyesight is a terrible thing. Nothing can replace the loss, but a check for $1,000.00 or $2,000.00 brings peace of mind during the period of adjustment.

Added cash benefits: Choose either Family Plan...and your children will be covered too! Presidential pays up to $5,000.00 any time your youngster goes to the hospital...for tonsils, appendicitis, or any other illness or injury! Yes, you will receive $50.00 cash, week after week—for as many as 100 weeks, if necessary.

We pay your premiums when you are not able.

As a special consideration to you—if you are hospitalized just 6 weeks or more, all premiums that come due while you are still in the hospital after this period will be paid by Presidential. And your protection continues as if you were paying the premiums yourself! Then if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, Presidential will again PAY ANY PREMIUMS WHILE YOU ARE IN THE HOSPITAL—TO A MAXIMUM OF 100 WEEKS per confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force—you collect up to $10,000.00 for each confinement!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only 25¢ for First Month — Money-Back Guarantee.

You can now have your first month's protection for your entire family for only twenty five cents! But you must act immediately. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection Plan must be mailed on the convenient Enrollment Form NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT of the date shown.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY exclusions!

Your Presidential policy covers every conceivable kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by war or any act of war; mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; pregnancy except as provided under the maternity benefit provision; and expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy...during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will still be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile every new condition is covered.

How can 25¢ buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But Presidential can now provide you and your entire family with tax-free Income Protection for just 25¢ the first month only because we enroll a large number of people at one time—direct by mail! This highly efficient "Mass Enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone—and the savings are passed on to you!

This plan is for the family that is no longer growing. To the total of the monthly premium for the adults to be insured, just add $3. With the exception of children yet-to-be-born, PLAN III covers all your unmarried, dependent children between the ages of 3 months and 19 years who live at home.

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

Act now — "later" may be too late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. The sooner you mail your enrollment form, the sooner your protection starts. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 23 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how Presidential's COST OF LIVING INCOME REPLACEMENT HEALTH AND ACCIDENT PLAN gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

1. How much will my policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
   You are paid $100.00-A-WEEK cash every single week. And it starts the very first day you are in the hospital. If you are over 65, you are paid $70.00 a week, in addition to any Medicare benefits you receive. You are paid $50.00 a week up to 100 weeks every time your children go to the hospital when you are enrolled in the Family Plan.
2. Will I be paid if I am hospitalized for less than a full week?
   You certainly will...regardless of whether you are in the hospital for as short a time as one day...or as long a time as a week, month, year or more.
3. Does the Plan pay you from the first day of hospitalization?
   Yes! You receive full cash benefits of $100.00 a week starting the very first day you enter the hospital. The coverage begins when we accept your completed Form and 25¢—that is the day you and your loved ones are covered for any accidents. Sickness coverage begins 30 days after the effective date of the policy.
4. How much do I receive for a Registered Nurse at Home?
   $100.00-A-WEEK for up to $5,000.00 after you have been hospitalized for 3 days or more, and your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within 5 days after you leave the hospital. Ten years from now it will have increased to $130.00 a week in benefits...at no extra cost to you!
5. Are there any accidental death benefits?
   Yes. $1,000.00 cash is paid to your estate when death occurs any time within 90 days of an accident.
6. Will I be paid extra if I lose a limb or eyesight?
   Yes. Presidential pays $1,000.00 for complete accidental loss of one hand or one foot or sight of one eye; $2,000.00 for loss of both hands or both feet or sight of both eyes...when dismemberment occurs anytime within 90 days of the accident.
7. How much do we receive for pregnancies?
   If you have the Family Plan With Maternity, you receive $100.00-A-WEEK for as long as 100 weeks for each pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in hospital confinement when both husband and wife are enrolled under this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.
8. Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
   Don't worry. You still collect $100.00-A-WEEK for a total of 100 weeks. And if you have already resumed full normal activities for just 90 days, it's considered a new confinement, and you can collect for an additional 100 weeks. Of course, any new condition is covered immediately for a full 100 weeks.
9. How may I use these benefit payments?
   You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you.
10. May I apply if I am over 65?
    Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit! Members 65 or over are paid $70.00 a week plus all Medicare benefits.
11. Can I collect from Presidential even if I carry other insurance?
    Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare for folks over 65.
12. Why do I need this Presidential Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
    While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your Presidential checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit.
13. What benefits do my eligible, dependent children get?
    If you choose a Family Type Plan, your dependent eligible children, ages 3 months to 19 years, would receive 50% of all the cash benefits of the basic Plan (excluding Waiver of Premium).
14. May I add future dependent children to my policy after it is in force?
    Yes, indeed, if you have the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY. Just notify us when they are 3 months old and they will be covered without evidence of insurability and any additional charge.
15. Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
    No, definitely not! Presidential guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the 31-day grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
16. Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
    No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. Presidential guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state.
17. What is not covered by this policy?
    The only conditions not covered are those caused by: mental disorders; intoxicants and narcotics; where care is in a Government hospital; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 2 years only); act of war. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED—including pregnancy when both husband and wife have been enrolled in the FAMILY PLAN WITH MATERNITY for the entire period of pregnancy.
18. What are the requirements to enroll in one of the Presidential Plans?
    You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must enroll before midnight of the date in the coupon.
19. Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
    Because, by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
20. Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining Presidential during this enrollment period?
    Yes, there certainly are. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief enrollment form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
21. Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
    Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 18.
22. How does the money-back guarantee work?
    Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 15 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
23. How do I join?
    Fill out your brief enrollment form and mail it, with just 25¢ for the first month's protection for your entire family. Mail to: The Presidential Life Insurance Company of America, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.
